EDUCATION BOARD ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF GRAND JURY CHARGES AGAINST RITCHIE

Prohibition Backers Attack Arguments of Wets

DRYS TAKE STAND IN PROHI HEARING AT WASHINGTON

Henry Ford and Thomas Edison Support Prohibition in Telegrams Read by Witness.

ROOM IS CROWDED FOR DRYS' INNING

Supporters of Eighteenth Amendment Begin Seven-Day Defense of Most Discussed Law.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—Advocates of prohibition today vigorously assailed the arguments of anti-prohibitionists for repeal of the eighteenth amendment before the house judiciary committee.

In the first day of their alloted time of seven days the drys presented four witnesses who attributed to prohibition general prosperity, improved conditions among working classes and a better environment for the growing generation.

They insisted that evils attributed to prohibition by its opponents before the committee had been exaggerated and that isolated instances had been taken as indications of general conditions.

Two of the outstanding American drys the prohibitionists hoped to present—Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison—expressed to the committee in the form of telegrams to Samuel Crowther, of Bayside, Long Island, the first witness, their unalterable opposition to repeal of the dry laws.

Ford expressed a conviction that the "sane people of the nation" would never see the eighteenth amendment repealed, while Edison said he felt that "prohibition is the greatest experiment yet made to benefit man," and that it was strange to him that some men of great ability and standing "do not help to remove the curse of alcohol."

Although the drys, headed by Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost, legislative director of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, planned to present six witnesses today, the cross-examination of the four was continued at such length that testimony of the others was put off until tomorrow.

After Crowther, who is an author on economic subjects, the committee heard Edward Keating, editor of Labor and a former representative from Colorado; Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of New York, general director of the J. C. Penny Foundation and president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, and Henry M. Johnson, lawyer and businessman of Louisville, Ky.

Crowther explained that he had made a survey of industrial conditions under prohibition for the Ladies' Home Journal and said he had found that the laboring classes had increased their bank accounts, improved their home conditions and purchased automobiles, radios and other luxuries of life out of money which formerly they spent for alcoholic beverages in the corner saloon.

He presented statements from industrialists to show they felt conditions had improved greatly but under cross-examination he conceded some unemployment and uncertainty as to whether prohibition would eliminate future economic crises. He insisted, however, that any future depressions would, in all likelihood, be less serious than in the past. The writer specified he was not discussing prohibition from

OFFICE OF TARIFF LOBBY LOCATED IN SENATE ROOMS

Grundy Organization Discovered at Work in Building Held for Senators' Offices.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(Special.)—The tariff lobby directed by Senator Joseph R. Grundy before he was appointed to the senate has now been installed in a room in the senate office building, the New York World News service learned today.

Revelation of this fact shocked senators who were informed of it today and is expected to result in an investigation by the lobby investigating committee. There was a disposition to regard it as the possible counterpart of the Bingham Evanson affair disclosed early in the investigation.

Officials of the American Traffic league, of which Grundy was vice president, at the time he was named to the senate, are included in the corps of tariff workers who have been using this base of operations within the building supposed to be reserved for the offices of senators themselves.

Room 322 is the headquarters assigned to the lobbyists, although officially it is listed on the senate records as having been assigned to Senator Grundy. However, Grundy's regular office, where his official secretarial staff holds forth, is in Room 333, on the same corridor but at the opposite end of the building from 322.

Among those who utilize Room 322 as a headquarters are Arthur L. Faubel, of New York, secretary of the American Tariff league; John Loch, of the New York firm of Lamb and Loch, attorney for the league, and Warren F. Doane, of Philadelphia, long Grundy's right hand man in Pennsylvania affairs and editor of "The Manufacturer," organization of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, formerly headed by Grundy. There are also clerical and stenographic assistants, and the office presents the appearance of being busy.

Before he was appointed to the senate, Grundy maintained an office in a downtown building under the name of the American Tariff League News bureau. He told the senate lobby committee that this office had cost him about $2,000 a month since January, 1929. Now he has approximately the same force installed rent free in a government building with the government paying the bills for light, heat and such incidentals. The downtown office is closed and inquiry elicited from the superintendent's office the information that it has "moved to the capitol."

At the office of the American Tariff league in another room of the same office building formerly occupied by Grundy's news bureau, it was said that Mr. Doane could be reached at Senator Grundy's office in the capitol.

Telephone callers to Room 322 were greeted with the announcement, "Senator Grundy's office" inquiries for Faubel and Doane brought the response that they were out at present but that any messages would be received for them. At the time these inquiries were made Doane and Faubel were seated in the senate galleries observing the tariff debate. It was suggested at Room 322 that perhaps Faubel and Doane could be reached at Room 333—Grundy's official office.

Just what Faubel, Doane and Loch have been doing from their base in the senate office building has not been ascertained, but they have been observed flitting actively about the senate corridors and reception rooms for several weeks.

Five Year Highway Program Opposed

TAYLOR TO FACE TRIAL MARCH 25

Howard Fixes Date on Which City Clerk Will Face Jury.

The trial of Walter C. Taylor, veteran city clerk indicted by the graft investigating grand jury last Saturday on 16 counts charging bribery, is scheduled to begin before a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of the Fulton superior court on Tuesday, March 25.

Special Prosecutor William Schley Howard, who is directing the graft inquiry in the absence of Solicitor General John A. Boykin, Wednesday ordered the trial of Taylor set for the week beginning March 24. The major trial of the week in which it is scheduled always begins on Tuesday, following a well-established custom, giving the prosecution and defense an opportunity to go over its plans thoroughly on the Monday preceding.

The trial of Taylor will follow that of Councilman Harry York, his business associate, Jack White, and City Purchasing Agent William P. Price, on a joint indictment which is scheduled for March 18 in Judge Humphries' court.

"It is our plan to try at least one of the graft cases each week beginning with the week of March 17," Mr. Howard said in announcing the date for the Taylor trial. "In that manner we hope to dispose of them all smoothly and in such a way that they will not at all affect the grand jury's investigation which still will be going on at that time."

The special prosecutor added that it had not been determined who would follow Taylor to trial, stating that he would confer with Solicitor-General Boykin immediately upon the latter's return from a 10-day vacation in Florida, which started Monday, before taking a definite step.

The new grand jury, fully organized for the first time since its induction Monday, went into the graft inquiry for the first time Wednesday afternoon, with 10 or 12 witnesses heard during the single session which was concluded shortly after 5 o'clock.

It could not be learned definitely what phase of the investigation was taken up, but from various sources came information that the inquisitorial body went into "odds and ends" left by the January grand jury in its whirlwind exit Saturday, when indictments against 20 persons were returned and a 65-page special presentment dealing in detail with the alleged graft were handed to Superior Court Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

One change was made in the grand jury personnel Wednesday after H. A. Brockman, a merchant, and Lucien Harris, former tax collector, had been sworn in to complete the body early in the day. E. M. Gates, a federal employe at Fort McPherson, was excused on the ground that he could not be present each day the sessions are held. A. R. Wright, 1017 Atlanta Trust building, was sworn in to replace the excused Mr. Gates.

Roy D. Warren, former member of the school board, indicted for bribery by the January grand jury, through his attorney, Len B. Guillebeau, Wednesday filed in Fulton superior court a writ of demand for immediate trial, accompanying the writ with a protest of innocence. No action was taken on the writ, which was filed with Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy.

In connection with his indictment on a charge of perjury, Ben J. Massell, prominent real estate man, Thursday issued this statement:

"I regret very much that the grand jury has seen fit to indict me for perjury. I am entirely innocent and welcome an opportunity to prove it. The occasion referred to in the indictment occurred about eight years ago, and I do not see how the grand jury could have expected me to remember clearly and definitely all the details of the transaction. I had, and have, no desire to shield anyone, and I testified as fully and frankly as I truthfully could.

"With reference to the criticisms of my company and me made in the grand jury special presentment I want to say that we have never obtained any special favors from the city."

With the selection of Lucian Harris, former tax collector, as a member of the new graft investigating grand jury Wednesday, that inquisitorial body's inquiry into alleged municipal corruption took on what might be considered the aspects of a family affair.

Mr. Harris is a brother-in-law of W. Rawson Collier, foreman of the January grand jury, which indicted 20 persons Saturday as a result of its investigations. He is a son of the late Joel Chandler Harris.

A member of another noted Georgia family became a grand juror Wednesday with the selection of A. R. Wright. Mr. Wright is a son of the late General William A. Wright, for more than half a century comptroller of the state. He is an investment broker with offices in the Atlanta Trust building.

Vereen and Phillips Are Said To Object to Plans Proposed by Chairman Sam Tate.

Probable failure of the projected five-year building program to meet the approval of the state highway board was injected Wednesday to complicate the already uncertain future of road building in Georgia.

A definite report became known during the day that neither W. C. Vereen or J. R. Phillips, associate members of the board, had endorsed the program. Mr. Vereen, it was said, favors a one-year program, while Mr. Phillips believes that each project should be considered as it comes up and contracts let as they become feasible.

The five-year building program was proposed by Colonel Tate the latter part of last year with the intention of giving the state a rational and systematic network of roads. Maps were prepared showing the highway which would be constructed in each of the included years, and were submitted to the board in January, after Mr. Vereen took office.

The plan was advocated by Colonel Tate on the premise that it would enable the department to take the public completely into its confidence, and by showing each section of the state definitely when they could expect the construction of roads in their neighborhood, eliminate much of the contention revolving about the construction of highways.

It was also said that the plan would greatly relieve the members of the board in the constant appearance of delegations before them.

Colonel Tate stated at the time the plan was submitted to the board that it would mean the more rapid construction of a complete highway system.

Governor L. G. Hardman declined to discuss the reported intention of Colonel Sam Tate, chairman of the board to resign. At the close of business Wednesday, no official report of the resignation had reached the governor's office.

In unofficial circles it was thought that much would hinge about a meeting of the state highway board today. Definite announcements with regard to the board's situation are expected to be made following the meeting.

$500,000 Due County Board, Attorney Says

An offer to collect for Fulton county more than $500,000 said to be due the county from a source which he declined to name publicly until a contract is signed was made Wednesday by Attorney William G. McRae at the regular meeting of the Fulton county commission. The matter was referred to Charles Shelton, county attorney, who is to confer with Mr. McRae.

The offer of Mr. McRae is to collect from persons, corporations or associations money said to be due other than by express contract, tax levy, failure to return property, taxes, fines, forfeitures, insolvent costs or questionable appropriations.

Members of the board declared that they were at a loss to know just who owes that much money to the county other than through the channels eliminated in the contract. Paul S. Etheridge, former chairman of the board, asked Mr. McRae if the county was heir to some unexpected legacy from a long-forgotten relative. Mr. McRae said that the contract he offered to the county contains a clause for the county to test the legality in the supreme court of any fee he might receive for the collection, the naming of a reasonable fee to be left up to a judge of superior court.

Need of the Community Home for Girls, for money with which to keep the institution from being closed was met Wednesday by the commission with an appropriation of $200 a month in addition to the $83 a month already given the home. The home has been cut off from the city's appropriations, and faced a shut-down unless more money was found, according to Mrs. Irving Thomas, president.

W. S. Richardson, county tax collector, was given authority to have new registration lists printed for the special election of a clerk of superior court after the lists are purged by the board of registrars.

The board took the necessary formal action to obtain a loan of $2,300,000 through Robinson-Humphrey Company. A resolution to provide the necessary authority for the loan was passed by the commissioners. The money will be available within a few days, as arrangements already have been made, it was said. Authority to borrow this sum of money, in anticipation of tax receipts, was given the county by a recent act of the legislature.

Edgewood district is no more, following formal action of the commission Wednesday. Under an act of the board, Edgewood district has been consolidated with South Bend district. Edgewood district had only half a dozen registered voters, and caused unnecessary expense at every election, it was pointed out.

TARDIEU CABINET SURVIVES INITIAL TEST IN CHAMBER

Victory Assures Resumption of London Naval Sessions Interrupted by Earlier Defeat.

PARIS, March 5.—(AP)—Andre Tardieu's second cabinet ran the gauntlet of the chamber of deputies today and, although roundly thumped by the parties of the left, it emerged with a favorable majority of 53. The rectified ballot was announced as 316 to 263.

The winning margin of confidence was almost twice as great as political forecasters had been ready to grant the cabinet in advance of the voting. Most of them agreed that a margin of 30 votes would be a sign of strength for Tardieu and as the bitter debate on the ministerial declaration of policy progressed, some of the prognosticators began to believe the cabinet would be lucky to win at all.

As a consequence the government will go back to the London naval conference and will face the chamber on the question of ratifying the Young plan, revising taxes and passing a budget with enhanced prestige.

Advices from London indicated that delegations of the other four powers represented at naval conference without exception received with approval the word that the Tardieu government had been established in power since it means that the conference sessions, interrupted two weeks ago by the fall of the Tardieu ministry, may now continue.

The declaration of policy reaffirmed the French naval demand for a fleet of 724,000 tons by 1936 which M. Tardieu made at London several years ago. There was, however, a well-defined impression in authoritative circles tonight that the program would be given some flexibility at London in order to relieve tension there and aid in the success of the five-power parley.

The new delegation will start for London at noon tomorrow. It consists of Premier Tardieu, Aristide Briand, foreign minister; J. L. Dumesnil, minister of marine; Francois de Fleuriau and Senator Gustave de Kerguezec. Of these, Tardieu, Briand, Pietri and De Fleiriau were members of the original delegation.

The naval conference has been proceeding without the French officially represented, but its progress has necessarily been slow and the reappearance of the French will be the signal for resuming the negotiations at full speed.

First Wife of Man Ruled 'Legally Dead'

If Mrs. Fannie Mangum Benns, last heard of as living in California, is still alive, she is legally dead in so far as Z. S. Benns, whom she married in 1903, is concerned, a jury in Fulton superior court decided Wednesday.

Benns applied to superior court to have his first wife declared legally dead, stating that they were married in April of 1903 and that she left him in October of that year, going to Birmingham, without cause or reason. He was advised in 1906 that she had moved to California, and in 1908 an aunt of the woman advised him that she had died, but inquiries to ascertain the truth of the report failed to obtain verification, Benns said in his petition.

Benns married again several years ago, in the belief that his first wife was deceased, and, since 1920, he has accumulated personal and realty property which he desires to leave to his second wife, he said. Apprehension that the first wife, if still living, or that her relatives might contest the legality of the will and dissipate the estate in litigation led to the filing of the petition, it was said. The defendant was served by publication. A. R. Dorsey represented Benns as attorney.

Taft 'Unchanged,' Physicians Report

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—William Howard Taft was reported by physicians at 7 p. m. to have remained in the same condition through the day.

The evening bulletin issued through the White House read:

"There is nothing new to report concerning the former chief justice. His condition is unchanged since this morning."

Girls' High Runaway Comes Back as Star of Stage

:: ROMANTIC STORY OF "MARY ADAMS'" CAREER ::

"Mary Adams," stage star, formerly Annie Pearl Ivey, student at Girls' High school of Atlanta.

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Eight years ago, on March 3, 1922, Miss Jessie Muse, principal of the Girls' High school in Atlanta, felt that one of her pupils, a girl named Annie Pearl Ivey, hadn't won enough credits to warrant her promotion from sophomore to junior. The young lady differed with Miss Muse on the matter, but was unable to change her teacher's opinion.

Miss Ivey therefore abandoned her course at Girls' High and likewise decided that Atlanta could get along without her. She went to New York.

This morning at the new Girls' High school Miss Mary Adams, famous star of the musical stage in New York and now leading lady of "A Connecticut Yankee" company playing at the Erlanger theater, will meet Miss Muse. Miss Adams will meet all the girls and will sing a song or do a dance or something for their amusement.

And the point of the story is that Miss Adams and the Annie Pearl Ivey who ran away eight years ago are one and the same person. Though it is doubtful if the Miss Adams of today is much concerned about the disputed credits which seemed so important to the Miss Ivey of eight years ago.

The little Atlanta girl went from here to New York after shaking the dust of Girls' High from her feet, and secured a job. It was an humble sort of a job but it paid her living expenses and a little over. She took that small surplus and used it for dancing lessons to add the art of Terpsichore to the training in music, voice and elocution that her mother had given her.

Then about five years ago Annie Pearl Ivey secured another and a better job. This was as a showgirl in the famous "Scandals" of George White's. In the ranks of that same chorus were many girls destined to become famous stars of the stage and screen in later years.

Of them all, however, the little girl from Atlanta was judged the prettiest and she had been behind the footlights less than a year when she won the title of "the most beautiful showgirl on Broadway."

Then came the chance for advancement. "A Connecticut Yankee" was to be put in rehearsal. She was offered, and accepted, the leading role.

She is receiving a salary—never mind how much. Only know it isn't far short of the four-figure mark per week. She has to work a very few weeks to earn as much as her former principal earns in a year.

She is using a fair proportion of that salary to give her young brothers the best possible chance in the world. She is putting one through Georgia Tech and another through Emory. She is ambitious for them and ambitions for herself. She hopes, some day soon, to make the name of Mary Adams as famous in the talking pictures as it is today on Broadway and on Peachtree street. She'll probably do it, too, for that's the kind of a worker she is.

And the name Mary Adams, by the way, was simply adopted as easier to remember and better looking on a theater program or in electric lights than the original Annie Pearl Ivey.

SENATE ADVANCES TARIFF ON SUGAR

47-to-39 Vote Assures Increase in Duty on Foodstuff.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—An increase in the sugar tariff was assured today with approval by the senate of a raise in the duty on Cuban raws from 1.76 to 2 cents a pound. The vote was 47 to 39.

The house bill provides a rate of 2.40 cents and the senate and house conferees must decide between this and 2 cents before final congressional action is taken.

The final vote was taken on an amendment by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, affer one of the bitterest fights in the six months of tariff debate in the senate. It was a reversal of an action taken several weeks ago when the coalition of democrats and republican independents succeeded, 48 to 38, to retain the present levies.

Charges of "vote-trading" were made by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, chairman of the senate lobby investigating committee, and denied by Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, a member of the finance committee.

Prior to the final roll call taken after four hours of spirited discussion a substitute by Senator Howell, republican independent, Nebraska, providing for a direct federal bounty of 44-100ths of a cent a pound to domestic growers and refiners was turned down, 66 to 22. Five democrats and the block of republican independents favored it.

Another amendment to restrict importation of free-duty sugar from the Philippines to 600,000 tons annually was rejected without a record vote. This was proposed by Senator Broussard, democrat, Louisiana.

Thirty-eight republicans and nine democrats voted for the increase in tariff, while 26 democrats and 13 republicans joined in the opposition. Party and factional lines split and nine senators who voted previously to retain present rates cast their votes in favor of the Smoot amendment. They were Senators Ashurst, Dill, Hayden, Thomas, Oklahoma, and Trammell, democrat, and Jones, Metcalf, Pine and Schall, republicans.

Speculation as to the chances of votes being reversed on lumber, oil and other important commodities, in view of the break in coalition ranks on sugar, was indulged in by many after the vote. One senator was heard to say that duties on lumber and oil now were "a certainty."

PROBE TO INCLUDE ALL DEPARTMENTS, BURNS ANNOUNCES

Declares Inquiry Will Cover All Charges of Waste and Extravagance in Conduct of Schools.

COMMITTEE "FAIR," STATES PRESIDENT,

Defense Comes in Answer to Charges of "Stacked" Body by Commissioner W. C. Slate.

Fate of Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, Wednesday was placed in the hands of a committee of five members of the board of education at a special meeting of that body, following introduction of a compromise agreement between the two factions of the board. The action of the board in naming the committee balked a move to oust the school administrator.

At the same session, Mrs. A. E. Wilson, school commissioner from the twelfth ward, offered a paper calling on the Fulton county grand jury to furnish the board with the "formula" for operating the public schools within the appropriation made for that purpose. No action was taken on this paper, but Mrs. Wilson announced she would reintroduce it at the next meeting of the board slated for 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

John T. Hancock, commissioner from the eighth ward, will head the special investigating committee, which under the resolution establishing it, must report with ten days. Other members are Alderman Ed A. Gillam, W. W. Gaines, William Spratlin and Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, president of the board.

Commissioner William C. Slate, of the second ward, declared the committee was "stacked and that the board might as well whitewash Ritchie at once and not wait for the report."

Denying that the committee was attacked, Dr. Burns said that he would request that every phase of the administration be investigated and that if the committee was unable to make a complete report within the ten days stipulated in the resolution establishing it, he would ask that it be continued.

"I shall ask the committee to go even further than the grand jury did in its effort to ascertain whether there is any extravagance in administration of the public schools for the purpose of correcting it if it exists," Dr. Burns said.

"There was no effort on my part to name a biased committee and I do not think I did. The committee will be fair, impartial and fearless, in my opinion.

"We hope to anticipate anything which the jury may find in its consideration of school matters and will take steps to correct anything which we believe wrong."

Mr. Slate, with Mr. Spratlin, Ivan Cochran and E. R. Sweat, signed the petition for the special called session

Bank Bill Sent Back To House Committee

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(Special.)—After a three-hour debate in the house today the bill of Congressman Briand, of Georgia, was, at his request, referred back to the house committee on banking and currency, in order that the committee might study several amendments which were offered on the floor.

The bill would make punishable by fine or imprisonment or both the circulating of malicious rumors about a national bank which would result in a run on the bank or in other ways injure its business or good will.

BASCOM SLEMP NAMED IN STOCK FRAUD SUIT

Former Secretary to Coolidge Accused of Misrepresenting Stock.

BRISTOL, Tenn., March 5.—(AP) C. Bascom Slemp, former secretary to President Coolidge and now republican national committeeman from Virginia, and Congressman B. Carroll Reece, of the first Tennessee district, were among defendants named in a suit filed yesterday in chancery court here alleging misrepresentation in the sal. of stock.

W. M. Kay, the plaintiff, seeks to recover $2,700 which he alleged he paid for stock in the Aud Life Saving Suit Corporation of Virginia, which is named as the principal defendant. Others named in the bill of particulars are O. D. Hamrick, S. T. Copenhaver, A. L. Dykes, John G. Anderson and T. F. Aud.

Kay charges in the bill that one of the considerations of his purchase of the stock were statements by Slemp, Reece and the other defendants. He also alleges that the charter of the Aud corporation, issued by the state of Virginia, authorized issuance of only $400,000 worth of stock, that at the time he purchased the stock at least $800,000 worth had been sold, and that of this sum only $65,000 had been placed into the treasury of the Aud company, and that "even this small amount had been spent."

The plaintiff also alleges in the bill that representations were made to him by the defendants that the corporation had contracts with the United States government, held patents on the safety suit and that the suit had been adopted by various steamship companies. These representations, Kay charges, were unfounded.

"It was," it is set forth in the bill, "purely a scheme to defraud, cheat and otherwise procure large sums of money by the sale of this worthless stock."

SLEMP CALLS AFFAIR OUTRAGE.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—C. Bascom Slemp, former secretary to President Coolidge, said today that inclusion of his name as one of seven defendants in a suit filed in Bristol, Tenn., to recover $2,700 from the Aud Life Saving Suit Corporation of Virginia was "an outrage."

Slemp said he has never had any connection with the Aud Corporation. He added that a former partner of his, Judge John W. Davis, of Washington, at one time acted in a legal capacity for the concern but "there is not the slightest reason why I should have been named as a defendant."

Representative Reece, democrat, Tennessee, who was also named in the suit, was absent today but Judge Davis, who said he had no connection with the corporation save to draw up its charter, asserted Reece had no interests in the company or its affairs.

Atlanta Civic Music Drive Reaches Half-Way Point

The Atlanta Civic Music Association today enters the last half of the week's campaign for 1930-31 members, with the goal not quite half reached. Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore and J. L. McGriff, who are directing the campaign, stress the importance of the immediate renewals of old members as it will be impossible for anyone to obtain a membership or renewal after 10 o'clock Saturday night.

The association expects that the new membership will double the old at the close of the drive, which would bring to Atlanta a greater listing of artists. Last season the members enjoyed the world's best with the budget allotted by the subscribers, including Ethel Lnginska and the Boston women's orchestra, Mary McCormic, soprano; Paul Kochanski, violinist, and Josef Lhevinne, pianist.

Campaign headquarters are open daily from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. at Phillips & Crew Piano Company, 235 Peachtree street. The following application blank is given for the convenience of those who do not care to come to headquarters. Clip, attach check and mail.

County Historians Meet Here Saturday

Miss Ruth Blair, director of the state department of archives and history, Wednesday announced the following county historians have accepted an invitation to attend a conference of these officials here Saturday:

Mrs. Willie Stubbs Winter, Fairburn, Campbell county; John H. McIntosh, Elberton, Elbert county; John L. Harris, Rome, Floyd county; Rush Burton, Lavonia, Franklin county; Walter G. Cooper, Fulton county; William H. Hosch and Miss Alline Johnson, Gainesville, Hall county; Judge J. B. Clements, Irwinville, Irwin county; Mrs. Augusta Lambdin and Mrs. E. A. Fish, Barnesville, Lamar county; G. C. Adams, Covington, Newton county; G. W. Crumbley, Conyers, Rockdale county; Judge L. P. Goodrich, Griffin, Spalding county; Judge R. Eve, Tifton, Tift county; Mrs. E. T. Nottingham, Thomaston, Upson county; J. A. Sartain, LaFayette, Walker county; Mrs. J. Y. Walker, Waycross, Ware county; Victor Davidson, Irwinton, Wilkinson county; Mrs. Clifford Grubbs, Sylvester, Worth county.

The conference of county historians is for the purpose of discussing problems to arise in the work of compiling complete and accurate histories of the counties of the state, Miss Blair said. The services and advice of Miss Blair's department will be offered the county officials. The meeting will be at the Rhodes memorial hall.

70th Birthday Observed By 'Uncle Dan' Cook

Retired Patrolman Daniel F. Cook, affectionately known at headquarters and in the pressroom as "Uncle Dan," Wednesday celebrated his seventieth birthday by "reporting" at headquarters. This reporting consists of dropping by to see all of the "boys" daily. He was a patrolman for 30 years, being put on the retired list eight years ago. He is always to be found at headquarters during the day, sitting in the captain's office or in the press room with the reporters. He went on record Wednesday by saying that he was opposed to the prohibition law. "It is the worst piece of legislation ever enacted," he declared.

Police Chief Issues Amber Light Warning

Advised by the Atlanta traffic committee that motorists in this city are making a practice of driving their machines across street intersections while the amber signal lights are showing, Chief of Police James L. Beavers Wednesday ordered that cases shall be made against all such violators. The amber light, he explained, is never to be used as an excuse to cross the intersections but solely as a warning that the light is about to change and that in this way to hold all traffic about to cross until the machines already in the intersection have a chance to get clear.

Victim of Meningitis Expected To Recover

The first patient in the United States to recover from the ravages of the staphylococcic form of meningitis will be Leland Woodward, 15-year-old Hapeville Boy Scout, it was stated by physicians at Grady hospital Wednesday. The boy has been for some time critically ill and prayers were offered for him over radio. For several days he had shown marked improvement, but it was not until Wednesday that physicians reached the decision definitely that he would recover. There has been only one such recovery reported in medical annals, that one in Europe.

Receivers Appointed For Cytron Company

Receivers were appointed for the Cytron Mortgage Company of St. Louis, which owns equities in two Atlanta apartments, as the result of action in federal court here Wednesday when an order was filed after it had been signed by Judge Bascomb Deaver in Columbus, Ga., in the absence of Judge Samuel H. Sibley.

It was explained that the company is in financial difficulties and has been placed in the hands of receivers in St. Louis while the local action had solely to do with the administration of the company's property here.

Gerald M. Goodman, of Atlanta, and M. H. Myer, of St. Louis, were named in the order. Attorneys are Granger Hansell and Anderson, Rountree and Crenshaw.

MEDALS ARE AWARDED FOR FRANKLIN ESSAYS

Medals for four essays on "Benjamin Franklin as a Diplomat and a Statesman" have been awarded by the Atlanta chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who sponsor an annual essay contest here, it was announced Wednesday. The winners were: Mary Redmond Shields, of O'Keefe Junior High; Martha Digby, of Joel Brown Junior High; Emmanuel Kulbersch, of Hoke Smith Junior High, and Leslie Sibley, of William Bass Junior High. The medals will be presented March 15 at the chapter headquarters on Piedmont aven

Two Win February 'Perfect Man' Test

Mack L. Smith and I. R. Calman were named Wednesday as winners of the February elimination contest to select Atlanta's most perfect man when doctors and officials of the local Y. M. C. A. found it impossible to decide which of the two was the better physical specimen even after most searching examinations.

The contest will be continued through October of this year, when the monthly winners will enter the "finals" and the winner for the entire year selected after still more examinations and searching of records, which are being kept regularly.

L. H. Cunningham, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., is in charge of the contest and has a corps of expert doctors and dentists assisting him.

Smith is 32 years of age and is an oil company employe. Calman is 20 years old and is employed by the telephone company. Both were found perfect after searching tests of lungs, blood pressure, skin, teeth, heart, throat and posture.

Others who will enter the finals as the winners of previous eliminations are H. E. Rubley, Gordon Keith, E. C. Lowry and O. E. Hall.

Griffin Lawyer Talks Before Masonic Club

W. H. Beck, Jr., prominent Griffin attorney, addressed the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Masonic Club Wednesday. He spoke on "Service and Friendship as Exemplified by Masonry."

Short talks were made by Claude Hughes and Joel Reed, and an entertainment program of magic provided by Julian Boehm. J. B. Broyles, president of the club, presided over the program, which was arranged by Raymund Daniel, past grand master. Officers of the newly organized Daylight lodge of Masons were guests at the luncheon.

Gillette announces a NEW BLADE... a NEW RAZOR

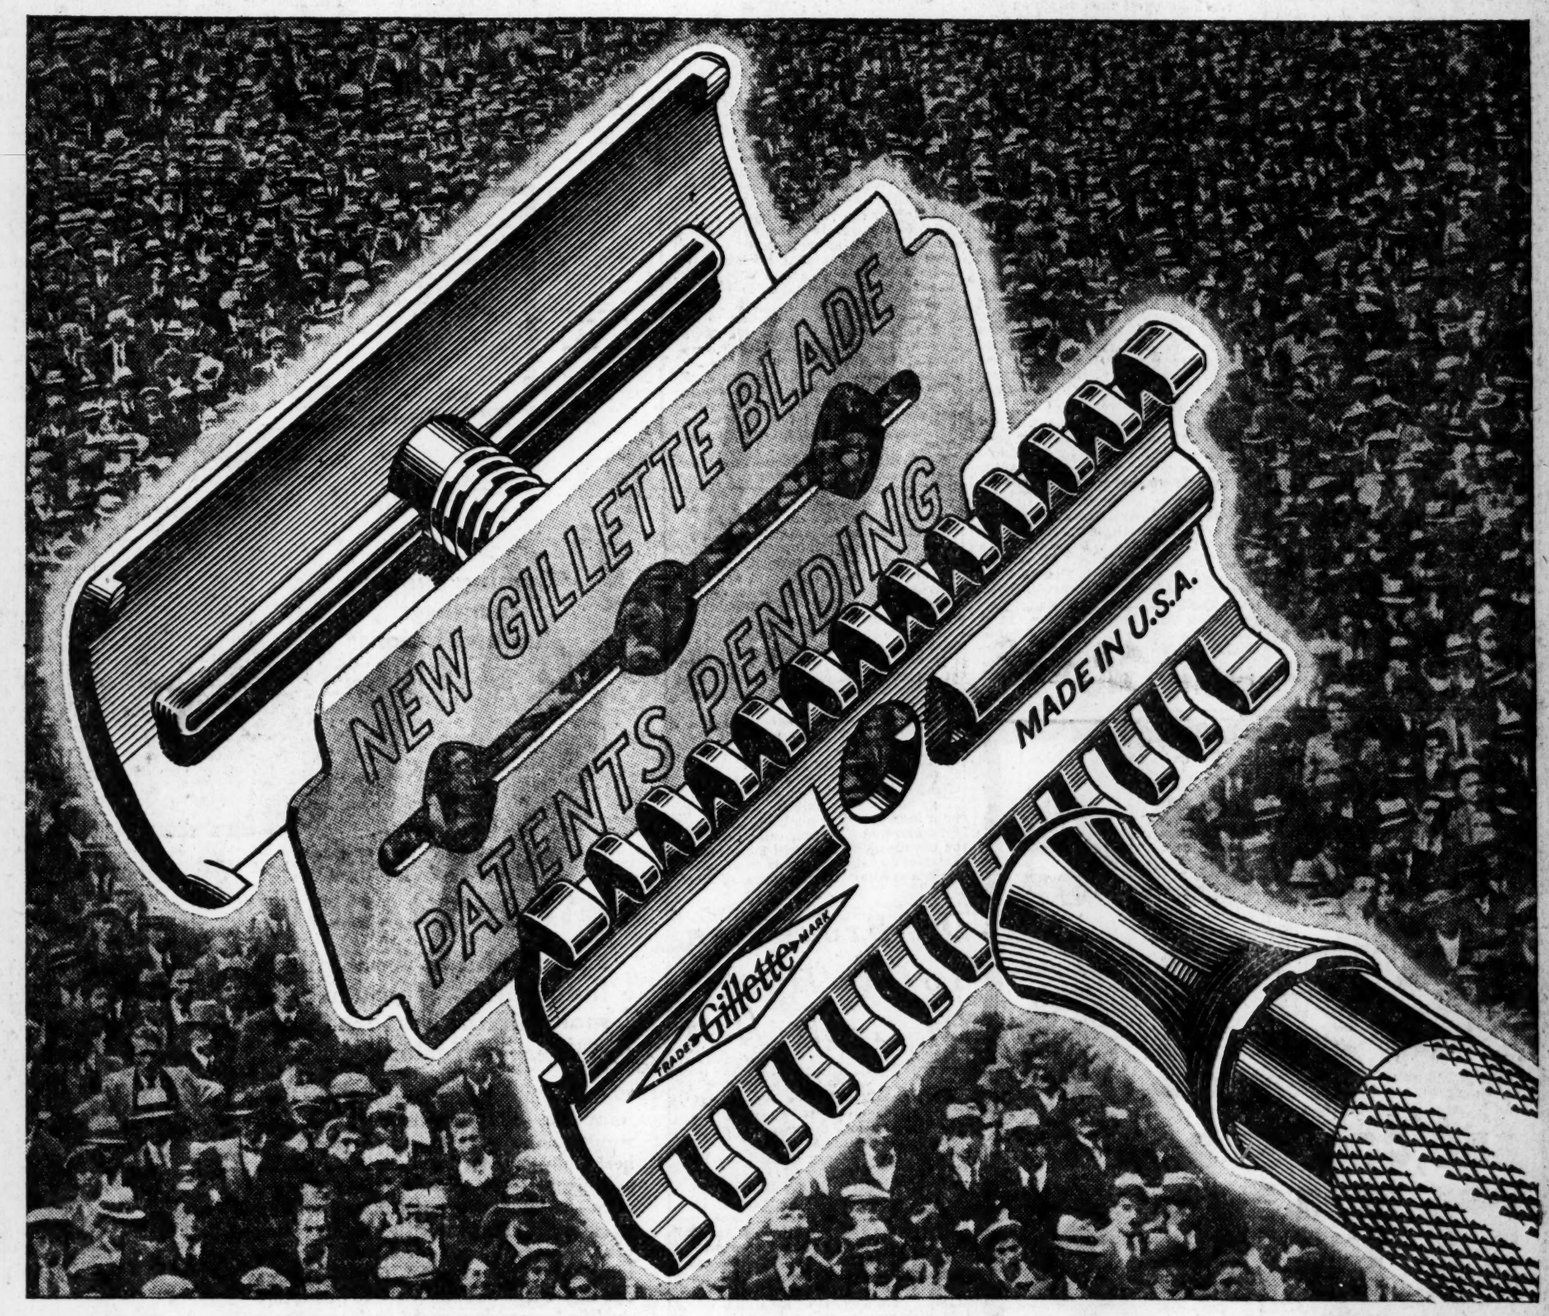
No more "razor pull"... No more wiping... with this new blade of processed steel



TWENTY-EIGHT years ago Gillette changed the shaving habits of the world by creating a safety razor with double-edged replaceable blade—an improvement so far-reaching that it has maintained leadership for more than a quarter of a century without essential change.

Today Gillette offers another great contribution to man's shaving comfort—a New Gillette Blade and a New Gillette Razor (patents pending).

The New Gillette Blade can be used in your present Gillette Razor. But the New Gillette Razor has so many points of superiority that any man or woman who has tried it once will gladly discard the faithful instrument of the past.

Used together, the New Gillette Blade and the New Gillette Razor abolish forever the two unpleasant factors in shaving—"razor pull," and the tedious drying of razor parts. Imagine a shave so smooth and cool that you hardly feel the razor on your skin. Think of not having to take the razor apart for cleaning—merely rinse it off and shake it dry. These are only two of the advantages of the new razor and the new blade. Read the other advantages summed up under "Quick Facts."

Back of these great improvements lies a fascinating story of research.

Twenty-seven thousand men have been interviewed. Tens of thousands of used razors were examined. In these studies a discovery of far-reaching importance was made:

Cause of "razor pull" found

In almost every case when a man complains that his razor "pulls," an expert examination shows that the razor has been nicked.

Why should a little nick—even a microscopic nick—spoil your shave? Here is the reason: The parts of a Gillette Razor are machined to a fine precision. The slightest dent at one of the corners causes an unequal tension on the blade, throwing it out of perfect alignment. The blade may even crack under the unequal tension. Perhaps you have had this happen for no apparent reason. Perhaps you have blamed the blade.

Gillette finds the answer

We could not keep men from dropping their razors. But we could offset the harmful effect. To do so required a change in both the razor and the blade. In the razor we reinforced all four corners of the cap with sturdy lugs made to withstand nearly any kind of abuse.

The blade was treated even more ingeniously. All four corners were cut out; when the cap and guard of the razor clamp together, the blade is not held at the corners. Even if you drop the New Gillette, you probably will not dent it. Even if you dent it, you do not, cannot spoil your shave.

New processed steel . . . Rust-resisting. Just rinse . . . shake dry

When you see the new blade, you'll notice immediately a different, finer finish . . . the result of a new process of treating the hard special steel.

How many tedious minutes you have had to waste in unscrewing your razor, washing it off, and carefully wiping it dry! How many towels have been cut! Now the nuisance of unscrewing your razor, washing it off, carefully wiping it dry—and risking a cut towel—all this is abolished forever; the new blade resists rust. A single twist of the fingers turns the guard at right angles. Then re-tighten. Hold the razor under hot running water. Shake thoroughly. Lay on the shelf. That's all.

Shaves closer in corners

The ends of the blade are square—the old blades were rounded. A square end is much easier and safer to handle with wet fingers . . . no fishing down the drain pipe for a slippery blade. But even more important, the ends of the blade are much more nearly flush with the ends of the razor cap and guard . . . much easier now to reach those tough little corners around the mouth, the ears, the nose.

Notice the longer, bent-back teeth

You'll see, too, that the teeth of the New Gillette are a bit longer—rounded a little farther back.

A little improvement? Yes. But notice how smoothly the new razor slides over your skin. A shave so perfect that not a sign of a whisker remains. Yet so comfortable that you have hardly felt the razor.

The old posts that stuck through the blade and so often stubbed the edges are gone too.

Blade edge is clear but protected

Still another improvement. The guard of the New Gillette has the famous channel beneath the blade edge. This channel allows the blade to meet the beard full and clear, yet with perfect safety. Until now this feature has been available only in Gillette Razors selling at $5.00 to $75.00.

And the price is only $1.00

The New Gillette Razor, with all its improvements, is now offered to you, 24K. gold-plated and packed in a neat case, with one new blade, for only $1.00. And the new blades of steel processed to resist rust, come to you at the old price . . . $1.00 for ten.

To men who want the greatest bargain in shaving comfort that $1.00 has ever bought, we say, see your dealer today!

DEMAND FOR SARGON RAPIDLY SMASHING ALL WORLD'S RECORDS

Overwhelming Demand for Sargon Throughout America Is Outstanding Proof of Its Genuine Merit—24 Carloads in 25 Days in 27 States Is Amazing Record Recently Made by Celebrated Medicine.

NEW AND MODERN PLANT ESTABLISHED IN CANADA

Big New York Firm, With Wholesale Branches in Leading Cities, Selling at Rate of Million and a Quarter Bottles Yearly—State of California Requires 27 Carloads in Less Than Year.

THE extraordinary success of Sargon and the remarkable results it has been accomplishing have become a subject of much comment throughout the United States and Canada. In fact, Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have become the sensation of the drug trade wherever introduced, and if it were not for the unquestionable facts and figures given out by some of the largest and best known drug firms of America, to say nothing of the thousands of indorsements from well known representative men and women from all sections of the country, the story of the success of Sargon would be hard to believe.

Most proprietary medicines are sold by the dozen or by the gross. Only a very few are sold by the carload, and then only to the largest jobbers covering extensive territories. The fact, therefore, that scores of jobbers in the United States and Canada have a demand sufficient to justify them in ordering almost exclusively in solid carload lots and at the rate of ten to twelve carloads each per year, makes Sargon's preeminence in the field of proprietary medicines all the more noteworthy.

Twenty-four carloads in 25 days in 27 states, is the amazing record recently made by these celebrated medicines.

In the State of California alone, where Sargon was introduced in April of last year, it has required 27 carloads, each car containing an average of 22,500 bottles of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, to supply the ever-increasing demand in this one state alone.

Texas dealers required nine carloads in only four months.

A single New York firm, with wholesale branches in leading cities, is selling at the rate of over a Million and a Quarter bottles per year.

Kansas City wholesale and retail firms have sold over 300,000 bottles, or an average of almost one bottle for every family in the whole State of Kansas. In the Northwest, the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul have been selling at the rate of over 100,000 bottles per year, to say nothing of the large wholesale distribution. Sales in other sections have been correspondingly large.

"We have never seen anything like it," is the way one of the big drug jobbers of the country describes the marvelous demand for Sargon.

"It's the greatest seller within the memory of the oldest members of our organization," said another.

"We are selling more Sargon than any other five medicines put together," said still another.

And so it is everywhere Sargon has been introduced. Its enormous and ever increasing popularity is the one great outstanding proof of its merit. No medicine, no matter how extensively advertised, could sell and continue to sell if it did not produce positive and actual results.

As an evidence of its rapid growth and expansion a new and modernly equipped laboratory has recently been established in Canada, and the Sargon Laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, occupying more than 60,000 square feet of floor space, has recently increased its capacity to take care of an output of 45,000 bottles daily.

Millions have used Sargon and are telling other millions what it has done for them. That is why this new and modern compound is rapidly becoming a household word throughout America.

Sargon may be obtained in Greater Atlanta and vicinity from the following well-known firms: Atlanta, all Jacobs' Drug Stores; Decatur, Elkin Drug Co.; East Point, Christian's Pharmacy; College Park, College Park Pharmacy; Hapeville, Hapeville Drug Co.; Oakhurst, Redding Drug Co.; Lakewood Heights, Lockhart Drug Co.; East Atlanta, East Atlanta Pharmacy; Avondale Estates, Avondale Pharmacy; Marietta, Collins Bros.; Roswell, Roswell Drug Co.—(adv.)

CRISP BILL RECEIVES FAVORABLE REPORT

Representative Lankford, of Georgia Supports Measure.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(Special.)—The bill introduced in the house yesterday by Congressman Crisp, of Georgia, seeking the reclamation and settlement of rural lands, was favorably reported today by the irrigation and reclamation committee, upon motion of Representative Lankford, also of Georgia. Mr. Lankford is the ranking democrat on the committee and has warmly supported the suggestion for a program of reclamation of swamp, low and cut-over lands.

In discussing the Crisp bill before the committee, Mr. Lankford said:

"I am whole-heartedly supporting the Crisp bill which does not provide for the reclamation legislation desired by me. However, I am hopeful of securing the passage of my bill to protect the swamp and cut-over lands of my district and the southeastern states. I feel that under the arrangement just made I can vigorously support the Crisp bill and not jeopardize, but really advance the cause for which I am fighting."

The bill of Representative Crisp is the same bill as he introduced in the last congress and for which he secured a favorable report, notwithstanding that President Coolidge and the budget board both opposed the measure. He reintroduced the bill yesterday at the urgent request of organizations in the south that have urged such legislation and of members of congress who are interested in it.

State Speed Law Signs at Border Urged by Robeson

A suggestion that the state highway board put up speed limit and traffic law signs at the state line, so that tourists entering Georgia will know the laws of Georgia, was made Thursday in a letter from L. B. Robeson, of Marietta, southeastern manager of Ginn and Company, to Charlie Cook, secretary of the Atlanta Motor Club.

Mr. Cook recently wrote Mr. Robeson about an alleged Cobb county speed trap, stating that he has affidavits from men of prominence from all parts of America that "they were trapped in your county." Mr. Robeson asked Mr. Cook to use his influence to have the Georgia highways properly marked so that tourists from other states will know what the Georgia speed limit is. "To put up such signs all along the highways would be not only expensive, but unnecessary for people who intend to observe the laws," Mr. Robeson said in his letter.

Referring to a clipping from The Chattanooga News showing a facsimile of a receipt given to a motorist for $30 he was required to post as bond for appearance in Cobb county court, Mr. Robeson said that the sheriff of Cobb county informed him that the motorist passed through Kennesaw at 40 miles an hour in spite of signs giving the speed limit as 20 miles an hour, and that when the motorist discovered he was being followed he opened up to 60 and then 70 miles an hour. The only excuse he gave was that he did not think the car in which the officers were riding could overtake his machine, Mr. Robeson said.

"In other words," Mr. Robeson said, "this party cared nothing about the speed laws or the safety of other people who might be on the road. When he found he was being followed he sought only to escape. They let him off as easily as possible. The court could have forfeited his bond, and had him rearrested if he ever came through the county again, required more bond, sent him to jail, and made him stand trial, according to the laws of the state."

Dr. Broughton To Give 'History' Of Graft Here

That he will tell when alleged graft in Atlanta's city government began, why it began and the way out of the situation, regardless of what "self-interested parties may think," was the statement Wednesday of Dr. Len J. Broughton, pastor of the Baptist tabernacle, in discussing his subject for Sunday night: "Atlanta in the Grip of Robbers and Grafters—Does It Mean a Change of City Government?"

Dr. Broughton said that since notice of his sermon subject was announced he has had the "usual reaction." He was called by a man who told him that he had better keep his "mouth out of city politics," that his business was to preach the gospel and leave the city to run its affairs, Dr. Broughton said.

Dr. Broughton said that his reply was that he thought he was able to take care of himself, and if he thought a preacher had nothing to do with creating the moral atmosphere of the community in which "we are trying to grow men and women, he was far from being able to give advice to the preachers as to the scope of their ministry and preaching." Dr. Broughton said that he does not propose to allow his mouth to be shut by anybody; that he has watched carefully the situation here in Atlanta and has concluded "beyond a shadow of doubt to my own mind that we are not in the grip of grafters but straight-out, downright robbers."

"The only answer I got was: 'Well, go on your way, but you do so at your own peril. We are not going to stand any brow-beating from the pulpit. We have had enough.' The conversation then closed by my saying I would look after myself, but that I did not propose to be held up in one way or another with threats. They do not work with me. What we want is to get rid of robbers, and plan against them for the future."

YOUNG REPUBLICANS ASK DRY ACT REPEAL

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—The committee on party reorganization and policies of the New York Young Republican Club, in a report signed by ten of its thirteen members made public today, urged that the club recommend to the republican party and party leaders in the city and state that the state legislature petition congress for immediate repeal of the Volstead act. Members of congress from New York state were petitioned to introduce and support a bill for the act's repeal.

The crying need for fire protection at Candler field, apparent for several years, but brought out much too vividly with the disastrous fire of Tuesday night, when Beeler Blevins and the Davis Airlines suffered heavy losses and every privately owned plane on the field save two was destroyed, is a want that council should take immediate steps to supply, particularly in view of the fact that the necessary fire-fighting equipment can be acquired at comparatively small cost. Water is of little or no protection in airport conflagrations, due to the presence of gasoline in large quantities, and chemicals must be provided in tanks of sufficient capacity to afford adequate protection. This chemical equipment, mounted on a motor truck, could be transported to any part of the field in short order and the fire-fighting facilities brought into instant use, even by an inexperienced operator.

Providing of this protection not only would aid in preserving hangar and airplane property, but would serve to reduce fire insurance rates at the airport, now practically prohibitive for the private operator and private owner. Fires are damaging not only to the operators and plane owners most directly concerned with the blaze, but to the entire industry as a whole, as every hangar loss tends to increase the already extremely heavy cost of coverage. T. M. Smith, chairman of the aviation committee of council, Wednesday night expressed himself as thoroughly in accord with any plan which would serve to protect the operators at the airport, one of the city's most valuable assets, and stated that he would bring the matter of supplying chemical equipment before the entire committee this afternoon. Candler field folk are hoping that the committee recommends the purchase of such facilities and that council concurs in the suggestion.

The first glider to fly in Atlanta or hereabouts will take the air Sunday afternoon at the new "port" of the Atlanta Glider Club, it was announced Wednesday night by Professor T. M. Moodie, of Georgia Tech, organizer of the club and its instructor. The club's new machine, a primary type Cessna, has arrived in Atlanta, Mr. Moodie stated, and will be assembled Saturday in preparation for its maiden flight. The new organization, which now has approximately 60 members, has taken a three-year lease on a 30-acre tract of rolling, treeless land, located in the "triangle" about 200 yards beyond the junction of Campbellton and Utoy roads, which spot, according to Mr. Moodie, who has inspected about 300 fields during the last few weeks, is the only suitable location for the operation of gliders in this vicinity. He said that the property permits a 1,400-foot run into the prevailing wind, which blows from the northwest.

While Mr. Moodie invites all and sundry to visit the initial glider exhibition Sunday, even promising parking space for everybody—he cautions the visitors against expecting too much in the way of "thrills," inasmuch as glider students at the outset rarely are taken more than a foot or so above the ground. As a special attraction, however, Mr. Moodie, who is an experienced glider operator, stated that he would make a "real" flight of some 35 or 40 feet from the ground, just to show the visitors what gliding means. He is planning to add a second glider as soon as the membership of the club warrants and, eventually, to build hangars for the ships at the new port.

R. H. Schryber, president, and Thomas E. Halpin, vice president of Mason & Dixon Airlines, soon to start passenger service between Detroit and Atlanta, will leave for Cincinnati via Knoxville today after stopping at the Southern Air Transport hanger since Tuesday afternoon. The two officials are passengers in an eight-place Hornet-powered Flamingo, one of the fast and sturdy all-metal ships which will be put into regular service on the new line. The route is expected to be put into operation within 30 days.

Major E. H. Brainard, vice president in charge of operations of the Curtis-Wright Flying Service, took off for New York Wednesday morning in a J-6 "300" Cessna monoplane, with his wife as a passenger. Major Brainard arrived at Candler field Tuesday afternoon from Miami and stored his ship in the S. A. T. hangar. Lieutenant J. A. Willis, Jr., army air corps, made a brief visit to Candler field Wednesday, arriving during the morning, visiting fourth corps area headquarters at Fort McPherson and taking off on the return trip to Bolling field during the early afternoon.

Having at various times been mentioned as Candler field's "latest plane owner," Mrs. Floyd McRae now apparently has definitely entered her name on the growing list of ship purchasers. Mrs. McRae, one of our newest feminine aviation enthusiasts, has bought, it was stated Wednesday, a DH Gipsy Moth which was exhibited on the floor of the St. Louis air show. The new plane, which is said to be standard throughout except that it is furbished up a bit with a special paint job, is scheduled to arrive at Candler field some time today. The purchase was made through Doug Davis, southern manager for the Curtiss-Wright Sales Corporation.

Eastern Air Transport, Inc., operators of the Atlanta-New York and the Atlanta-Miami air mail routes, is rapidly getting settled in its commodious new hangar, which is the "last word" in airport structures in this part of the country. Fred Schwaemmle, field manager, succeeding J. Ben Faulkner in that capacity, said Wednesday that the transfer of planes from the company's old hangar to the new building probably would be effected Monday or soon thereafter. The hangar now has a dirt floor, which the company soon expects to replace with concrete.

3 Bodies, Plane Found on Ranch Of Will Rogers

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 5.—(AP)—The bodies of three aviators and the wreckage of their small biplane were found today on the ranch of Will Rogers, the comedian, in the Santa Monica mountains near here.

The plane apparently crashed into a hillside last night during a heavy rainstorm. Two caretakers of the ranch came upon the wreckage and the bodies.

The fliers were Morey Johnson, 26, a tailor and former airplane instructor; Eugene Lavoie, 28, airplane pilot and Milton Hogge, 35, also a pilot.

Johnson who owned the plane left an airport here late yesterday on a "10-minute ride" inviting Lavoie and Hogge to accompany him. R. B. Curtis, manager of the airport, said that soon after the takeoff a heavy rain began. Johnson failed to return and Curtis said he presumed the flier had landed at another field.

The ship had not burned. It had struck the knob of a hill apparently at high speed as the wreckage was scattered widely. The crash, investigators said, indicated that Johnson either was blinded by rain or was skimming the hill tops to get beneath the clouds and obtain visibility.

"FIRST A SHADOW, then a sorrow"

[Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1807-1882]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"It's Toasted." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

GORDIAN WORSTED SUITS FOR SPRING WILL DEFEAT THOSE SCOURING BOARDS

$50

No matter how hard that old office desk tries to defeat you, you still have to keep looking fit and prosperous. The upkeep is pretty high—unless you wear Gordian Worsted suits at $50.

Hart Schaffner & Marx spent years developing this fabric to meet such strenuous service.

The worsted threads are heavier—yet pliable; the weave is tighter—yet elastic. It's a real achievement.

Gordian Worsted suits are here in the new 2 and 3 button models; in Pewter grey, Tamarack brown, Vellum tan, Grenadier blue—and you pay only $50.

Utilities Rate Association Is Scored by James A. Perry

Remarks Made at Macon Meeting Branded as False by State Commission Head.

James A. Perry, chairman of the Georgia public service commission, Wednesday issued a statement in which he styled remarks made at a meeting of the Municipal Utilities Rate Association in Macon Tuesday as "false statements."

"The association referred to is selling under the guise of protecting the public from unreasonable utility rates," Mr. Perry said, "due to the alleged failure of the Georgia public service commission to do its duty.

"It is claimed that rates are prescribed for returns on watered stock. This commission has never, at any time, considered capitalization in any manner, stocks or bonds, in fixing rates. We have never given consideration to anything but the actual 'bare bones' physical value of the property under consideration.

"In doing this we have prescribed rates just as low as we felt could be defended in the courts if attacked. Indeed, in some instances they have been attacked in the courts and set aside."

Revision of Rates.

He said recent revision of gas rates in Augusta and Atlanta reduced revenues of the gas companies $40,000 in the former and $80,000 in the latter. In respect to Augusta, he said, "We have the ridiculous statement that there has been no reduction in this company's revenue. The same nonsense has been applied in reference to the recent revision of gas rates in Atlanta for natural gas.

Mr. Perry gave his reason for issuing Wednesday's statement by saying: "I regret exceedingly the necessity of dignifying the nonsense characterizing these meetings, but for myself, whether the result of ignorance or wilful misrepresentations, I shall no longer allow such false statements to go unchallenged."

Continuing, he said:

"I realize that in being forced to countenance these libelous statements it tends to jeopardize certain rate adjustments recently made by our commission, if attacked in the courts. If this results, then my answer is that so long as the public will countenance and contribute to organizations of this sort, the responsibility will not be ours.

Little Return on Value.

"The truth is, for a period of two very trying years during the high prices incident to the war period, the majority of the commission felt that in the stereotype phrase 'just around the corner' we would realize a state of normalcy in prices reasonably near a cost basis as existed prior to the war. During this time we prescribed rates less than should have been prescribed, with the result that utility properties in Georgia had been forced to defer maintenance with scant and in some instances no return on any value.

"It was during this period that former Chairman C. M. Candler made the public statement from the bench, 'the policy of the commission was to keep the utility property in Georgia about two blocks ahead of the sheriff'; and the truth, but for the fact of two and as much as three different utility services of the same company, one being helped by another stronger property, different properties in the state would have been forced into bankruptcy.

"Thus it was when prices began to decline we were forced to the necessity of increasing rates for a short period of time in 1921, due to a short-sighted policy in previous years, as just related. Therefore, the chief reduction in utility rates by our commission was delayed until some three years ago since which time we have ordered reductions in electric rates in Georgia of approximately $2,000,000 and about $1,200,000 in cost reductions to the gas consuming public in Georgia.

"In various territory, particularly the southern half of the state, unlimited light and power service has been made possible in greatly reduced rates. In some instances the rates have been reduced from 20c to 5c per k. w. h. Yet, we have the astounding declaration that there has been no reduction in utility rates in Georgia."

Dayton Scale Forces To Meet Here Friday

The Dayton Scale Company will hold its annual convention for the southern states in Atlanta at the Ansley hotel on Friday and Saturday, with P. Bontecou, secretary and treasurer of the company, presiding. He will be assisted by C. W. Green, chain store manager, and Walter Scott, zone manager. Introduction of the new model scales and choppers will be one of the features of the meeting.

Among those attending the convention will be the following: S. B. Puckett and I. Freedman, Knoxville, Tenn.; C. Skipworth and T. Humphreys, Johnson City, Tenn.; H. D. Parker, Chattanooga, Tenn.; W. H. Dean, Montgomery, Ala.; L. D. Stodghill, Auburn, Ala.; C. A. Robertson, Birmingham, Ala.; H. T. Evans and A. D. Deas, Augusta, Ga., and the following who work out of the Atlanta office: C. T. Christian, Newnan; W. J. Wilkerson, Rome; D. G. Hammerschlag, Savannah; F. M. Martin and W. J. Robinson, Macon; R. L. Duggan, office manager, and W. J. Vickery, Jr., service manager.

New Ginger Ale Plant Will Be Ready Soon

The Bamboo Ginger Ale Company will move into its new plant at 308 Whitehall street within the next few days, it is announced by J. C. Madden, president of the company, and J. R. Stevenson, secretary and treasurer.

Constructed entirely of steel, brick and concrete, the new plant is fireproof and modern in every respect. It is considered one of the most attractive and complete plants of its kind in Atlanta. The floors are laid to drain from all directions.

The building is large and spacious, providing 15,686 feet of floor space. The equipment to be employed is of the latest design, including liquid carbonic bottling machines.

The company's old plant is located at 661 Whitehall.

Kellogg Announces All-Bran Biscuit

M. E. Hopkins, manager of the Kellogg Sales Company, announces that the Atlanta sales crew is busy marketing the new all-bran biscuit, a new product of the company, and reports that it is meeting with unusual success.

All-bran biscuit has been developed after years of experiment, Mr. Hopkins says, and gives the company an opportunity of offering its customers a product in the style best suited to their wishes.

Two packages in each case have open cellophane front, or window, which enables the customer to view the product before purchasing. This also enables customers to become acquainted with the new cereal more quickly.

Furniture Dealers Will Meet Tonight

Furniture dealers of Atlanta affiliated with the Retail Merchants' Association will meet tonight at Haverty's, it is announced by C. V. Hohenstein, executive secretary. W. H. Slater, newly elected president of the association, will deliver an address on "Successful Collection Methods."

Mr. Slater announces the appointment of the following committees: Advisory, Grady Duffee, chairman and J. C. Kennedy, vice chairman; attendance, J. E. Dodgen and C. A. Swift; entertainment, W. M. Hicks; finance, R. S. Mather and H. W. Mason; membership, W. J. Wood and G. B. Kornegay; public relations, A. L. Meyers and I. G. Cochran; publicity, T. C. Dickson and A. O. Holder; service, F. J. Graham and J. Lawson.

The furniture dealers' president was recently appointed manager of Haverty's store at Pryor and Edgewood.

Judge Moore Mourns Loss of 10 Chickens

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton superior court, found Wednesday morning that a broken lock is an invitation to thieves regardless, no matter whose home it is. A lock on his chicken house was broken Tuesday and he decided to wait until Wednesday to replace it. Wednesday it was found that 10 hens and a rooster had disappeared. Now police are seeking the chicken thief and the chickens.

A LOSING ALLIANCE.

The most perilous thing to democratic party prospects at this juncture is the inexplicable way in which democratic members of the senate have lent themselves to the desires and political designs of the western republican insurgents.

If they have given their strength and votes to the western bloc wholly for the purpose of helping to put the regular republicans in a minority and the republican president "in a hole," the abnormal cooperation could be partisanly approved. But when it has had the effect of confusing and inordinately delaying the most critical legislation affecting the people's common interests in times of peace—no war impending or in action—the policy is not patriotic and admirable.

The democrats should have realized from the start that the western insurgency was wholly republican factionalism, instituted for interparty reprisal and power, and intended to wrest republican party control from one section and exercise it in the great west. The insurgents have never had a thought to advantage the democrats by their rebellion against their own president and their own stand-patters. Under the skin individually and in their political plans for the future they are as intensely and irredeemably republican as Joe Grundy or George Moses. The coming congressional elections will prove that emphatically.

What the democrats can hope to gain by putting brush on the bonfires of the insurgent republicans and helping the republican west to overthrow the party dominance of the eastern republicans, is a baffling political puzzle. It would profit democrats more to win the electoral vote of New York state with certainty than to get those of Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas and Colorado, or than those of Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada and Washington. The first group has 41 electoral votes and the latter 44—both combined have 85, while New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut have 89. Those eastern states have been democratic time and again in the past and could be made so again.

Most of those western states have seldom been democratic; if ever, it was during the Bryan free silver dementia or when the republicans were hopelessly divided, as in 1912. They wouldn't even vote for La Follette in 1924.

And why democrats in congress should harbor a hope to win any of them in 1932 by an alliance with the insurgent republican bloc puts an ordinary political observer up a tree.

The only real hope for a democratic victory in 1932 lies in winning those eastern states we have listed.

THE TARIFF DOG-FIGHT.

A pompous old bishop arose ponderously before the Sunday school of a church and said "My children, what shall I say to you?" A kinky-headed urchin on the front row replied: "Say amen!"

The country at large seems to be feeling that way toward the present congress. They want that moiling outfit to say "amen" and come home to whatever fate awaits them individually. Neither the republicans nor the democrats in either chamber are making any worthwhile contributions to the public welfare, or any valuable campaign capital for their respective parties.

They have furnished a conclusive proof that much derided General Hancock was pluperfectly right in 1880 when he said "the tariff is a local issue." Every new tariff revampment since then has more clearly demonstrated that truth, plus the always known fact that tariff making in this country has been from the beginning a struggle for sectional preferences and profits.

Easily understood factors of climate, raw material supply, power availability, transportation, labor and living costs have necessarily sectionalized many forms of industry, both agricultural and manufacturing. So that it is to be expected that sectional representatives will contest with each other in congressional tariff framing to obtain special protections regardless of their effect upon the consumers and industries of other sections.

They are those sorts of contentions that are balling up tariff action in congress now, especially in the senate, and causing widespread and aggravating business depressions in all parts of the country. The people are tired of the "dog-fighting in the meat house" and pleading with congress to lay off and "let well enough alone!"

STARVING THE STATE.

In state legislatures that are now in session there is a notable presentation of measures to simplify and set up uniformities in municipal and county governments. It is shown by many glaring examples that towns, cities and counties are so administered as to show burdensome inequalities in cases of practically equal population, resources and dependence upon government services.

Towns and counties are agencies of the state and have inseparable relations to state administration. Usually the property assessments made for local taxation must be taken as the basis for state taxation also, and where the local authorities comply with the urge for very low assessments the state revenues suffer unjustly. Where the local assessment is higher than the average for the state it results that the residents must pay a higher rate of state taxes than they should ordinarily.

The efforts making, and to which we here refer, are designed to achieve uniform property assessments throughout the state in towns and counties so that the state may have a commonwealth-wide basis for the imposition of property taxes. The measures mooted do not undertake to fix town and county rates of taxes for local needs, but are designed to stabilize a uniform basis for both state and local rates, whatever they may be. In the states thus moving there is no maximum limitation of the state rate such as the 5 mill rate fixed by the Georgia constitution.

The defect in our Georgia system which works to the detriment of the state's revenues is stated in a report to the general assembly by the late comptroller-general, who said:

"While the state tax rate is limited to five mills there is no limitation on the rate which may be levied by counties. Thus when additional revenue is required by a county the tax rate is increased instead of the assessment of property. By this method the county raises additional revenue without giving the state the benefit of any increase. Under this system the state is starved while the counties can raise what they desire."

The average county rate over the state was 5.65 mills in 1900, but was 16 mills in 1928 and is higher now, in some counties reaching as high as 35 mills. The state rate in 1900 was 5.26 mills, but in 1904 was constitutionally nailed down at 5 mills. From these facts and figures any man with a business head can see the injustice of the system and understand why it is that in this progressive state the revenues from ad valorem taxes to the state increase on the average only $100,000 annually.

All appeals that have been made to the general assembly to adjust county to state tax rates upon a more equitable basis have fallen upon stony ground, and the state revenues continue to suffer from the rank injustice the comptroller-general has repeatedly appealed against, but vainly.

The New York communists wanted to demand of the people "equal pay for no work." They should be loaded on a scow and sent to Moscow.

The Saharans are next to be heard by the house judiciary committee and they will assure that body that this country is enjoying prohibition!

The Chicago yeggmen are the latest persons to "discover the south" and that Florida is a rich tourist resort. They are now touring it.

Criminals stay shy of Baltimore because in that city the people punish most of the lawbreakers of the community. Crime knows where it is well off and stays there.

The Washington city people want to be represented in the congress in spite of seeing daily what the outfit looks like.

President Hoover seems to justify his hands-off congress policy with the suggestion: "I didn't elect 'em!" Verdict for the defendant!

The shoe-makers of Massachusetts look upon the coalition tariff tinkers in the senate as free-booters who want foot-gear on the free list.

Congress wants to adjourn in June—but why wait so long to render that national relief?

The tariff bill, like the pelican's, is a catch-as-catch-can contraption.

Wolves in France.

There are still differences of opinion as to whether there are any wolves left in France or not. Officially there are declared to be none, though there were certainly enough in the district of the Perigord, northeast of Bordeaux, as late as 1890, sometimes to follow travelers on the roads. They were believed to have become extinct before the war; but only last year sheep are reported to have been killed by them in certain places. The allied troops are said to have been responsible for these latest examples, of which in any case, there are only a very few, according to an investigator. There is no suggestion that they were brought from England or even from the United States, but it is suggested that they may have accompanied Serbian wounded, who were brought to France, though whether the Serbians are accused of having smuggled them in as pets is not quite clear. In any case, there are certainly very few of them, as few, probably as there are bears in the Pyrenees, though occasionally some hunter for izzard, or chamois, reports that he has found tracks of the latter in the mountains.

Alarm-Clock Gas.

An effort is being made in Vienna to produce gas with a special smell, so that, in case of an escape, there shall be adequate warning. Professor Grassberger, manager of the University Institute of Hygiene, has been entrusted with the task. A number of experiments have been made. Twenty-five chemicals, including camphor and musk, have been tried with a view to waking up persons asleep by some specially penetrating smell. In a laboratory, with doors and windows closed, experiments were made on mice. Only two kinds of gas with a satisfactory smell were found. Experiments are now being made to find a mixture suitable for "perfuming" the gas. The new chemical is being kept secret. During the past few years a very large number of persons in Vienna used gas for committing suicide. Perhaps the new discovery will make it more difficult for the intending suicide to brace himself to the deed.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

THE DOCTOR ATTENDS A MEETING OF THE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

So far as questions of opinion are concerned, I make no bones of thinking that my opinion is as good as the opinion of any other doctor, living or dead, that is, on any general medical or health matter. Of course, I defer to the opinion of a specialist about something in his field.

If it is a question of fact, then opinions do not matter.

Sometimes it is impossible to learn what the consensus of medical opinion may be about a given subject. For instance, is it the consensus of medical opinion today that wet feet, insufficient clothing, drafts, sudden changes and the like, tend to lower "resistance" or to render an individual more susceptible to respiratory infections? Many laymen think so, because they have had only the teachings of certain health officers to judge by. I have long thought that a substantial part of the medical profession still holds some such view. But I was surprised and delighted the other day when I brought the question up in a medical meeting, to find that most of the physicians present were inclined to consider such factors insignificant, and all who expressed definite ideas about it remarked that certainly young women, with their scanty clothing, are apparently less susceptible to respirator diseases today than ever before. So you see, the consensus of medical opinion is a difficult thing to ascertain, and as a rule the doctor who pretends to say what it is merely voices his own opinion, after all.

In this same medical meeting I did not find any aid or comfort in my attitude on skin absorption. Every good doctor who expressed his views about that seemed to believe certain things, such as mercury, may be absorbed through the unbroken skin. That belief, I fancy, comes as nearly being the consensus of medical opinion as anything one could mention. Well, as the argument waxed warm, one of the good doctors fairly took the wind out of my sails by remarking that it requires a temperature of approximately 400 degrees to volatize mercury—and it was not till next day that I asked Professor Witthaus about that and he informed me that mercury is volatile at all temperatures—but you see how the consensus of medical opinion gets that way, don't you?

The Tenant Farmer Is the "Forgotten Man"

(From the New York World.)

Governor Gardner, of North Carolina, has already distinguished himself by the championship of the rights of the factory workers of his state. He is now giving his attention to the needs of another group which is in even worse economic plight, but which rarely gets much notice. The governor is trying to do something to improve the condition of the tenant farmers. For a number of years, on account of poor crops and low prices, their lot has been growing steadily harder. Perhaps the majority of them are deep in debt to local merchants and landowners, who in turn are also heavily involved with their banks.

Similar conditions are to be found in most of the southern states. The tenant farmer is the forgotten man. We read much of the long hours of labor and the low wages paid to workers in southern cotton mills, but compared with the tenant cropper, the mill worker lives in a bed of clover. Like the factory hand, the cropper supplies nothing but his labor, but he is also forced to assume most of the risks. The landlord furnishes him with farm, cabin, work animal and equipment and advances him food and other necessities on credit while the crop is being made. Half the crop goes to the landlord. If the yield for any reason is poor, the tenant cannot pay for what has been advanced to him and must start off the next year in debt. If there are several bad years in succession his plight becomes desperate.

It is to the improvement of this condition that Governor Gardner has addressed himself. He is urging the tenant farmers as a first step to undertake to raise as much of their own foodstuffs as they can. This is good advice. The tenant system does not lend itself readily to crop diversification, as the landlords are naturally interested in getting a crop which can be disposed of for cash with the lest effort, and merchants and bankers who supply credit are likewise insistent on the production of money crops. Governor Gardner's campaign calls to mind the "hog and hominy" slogan of the early nineties, when cotton dropped to 5 cents a pound. Other governors might well follow his example.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

The Nation Caught in the Tariff Barbed-Wire Entanglements.

Passing the buck has begun in Washington in earnest and somewhat angrily. The senators who have been playing golf with the tariff bill for six months threw hand grenades at President Hoover for lack of leadership and sitting mum concerning his opinions of what they were doing, and now the president, evidently pricked to the bleeding point, has had Secretary of Labor Davis to plant the blame squarely at the door of the senate itself.

On the face of the facts the president is justified in accusing the senate and directing the attention of the people strongly to the manner in which that body has been lengthily debating and delaying the enactment of a vital revenue measure.

* * * * *

All Parties Are Alarmed.

Senators and congressmen, hearing from "back home," reading the newspapers, and looking upon the business reports from all over the nation, are undoubtedly alarmed by the general indignation over the mess in which business and industry has become submerged by failure of prompt action on the tariff.

In this country where practically all the industries of the people are dependent upon the tariff rates it is inevitable that when those rates are kept stewing in the legislative pot the people must hesitate and mark time. Uncertainty as to what is to happen and how future plans may be made results in slowing down business transactions to the minimum of necessities. There is no way to accurately calculate the billions of dollars of lost labor and trade that this tariff scuffle in congress has cost the people in the past year.

The President's Ear Is Cocked.

President Hoover has one of the most efficient press bureaus ever seen in the White House and through it he has had his ear cocked to learn what the people are thinking and saying.

He is not at all satisfied with their thoughts and their comments. He is wise enough to know that the people are of one mind in awarding blame upon the government for their present business semi-stagnation, and are only divided as to which end of the government is entitled to the largest and hottest blame—the president or the congress?

He doesn't want any of it on himself. He holds that tariff mongering is the business of the congress and if that mongering produces wrongs and losses to the people they should pour their indignation and punishments upon the guilty congressmen. He claims a complete alibi!

His Alibi Has Holes in It.

But the people in general are not experts on alibis. They have the long-enduring habit of looking to their chief executive to be the leader and champion of their interests. They retain memories of a Washington who "damned" a stubborn senate to its teeth; and a Jefferson who fought another to a standstill and surrender; and a Jackson who used the whip of the people's scorpion tongues to compel a recalcitrant congress to do the people's will; and a Cleveland who pilloried his own party majority before the people for "perfidious action" on a tariff bill; and a Roosevelt who bludgeoned his way through congress on more than one occasion.

They expected Hoover to be a great leader, to have a will of his own, to have guts to stand by his policy, and to summon the people to his support when congress proved derelict.

* * * * *

His Failures Can't Be Covered.

The testimony comes from all parts of the country at the end of his first year in office that as president he has signally failed to meet all those expectations of the people who pushed him over the heads of the politicians into the executive chair.

He called congress to redeem his pledges to the people and told them plainly and tersely the sort of tariff revision that would redeem those pledges. But when his own party congress played "hoss" with him and put the jacks under the tariff schedules and raised them in a wholesale robber way, he did not have the backbone to hop on their backs and twist their necks.

It would have served him for present comfort and presidential fame in all the future to have appealed to the people against the Hawley bill as soon as it emerged from the house committee. He could have killed it then and there.

* * * * *

The Biggest Bet on the Board.

Right now the biggest betting proposition in all America is what is going to happen on the tariff problem.

It is anybody's guess. Nobody can possibly predict what the conference committee of the two houses will make of it.

Nobody knows what President Hoover thinks about it, with the strong suspicion that he is refusing to think about it until he sees it before him in its final shape.

In the meanwhile business is suffering intensifying depressions and labor is accumulating a larger army of unemployed men and women. The 3,000,000 of them now idle have reduced retail trade by $50,000,000 weekly and are suffering for necessaries of life. Somebody must be penalized for all that. Is it the congress, or President Hoover?

DRYS TAKE STAND IN PROHI HEARING

a moral standpoint but merely was presenting his observations.

Keating followed Crowther and testified "the brewer, the distiller and the dive keeper" were responsible for prohibition because they had refused to comply with regulation of the liquor traffic.

Now after a decade, he said, the liquor men were "back here boasting of their contempt for law and trying to bluff the American people with threats of civil war if they are not permitted to have their way."

The former representative said the anti-prohibitionists could not muster 100 votes in the house for repeal of the 18th amendment and challenged the wets to place a candidate on the ticket in every congressional district next November to determine whether the country wanted prohibition.

Presenting the results of a telegraphic poll he had just conducted on prohibition questions among presidents of leading colleges and Christian Endeavor unions in 43 states, Dr. Poling said he had reached the conclusion that there was "decidedly less drinking now among college and high school students and among youth generally than before prohibition. He maintained that in every economic level the youth of the country was better off now than under pre-prohibition status. He stressed particularly an improvement which he said had been observed during the last two years.

He declared it was time to stop "slandering our own sons and daughters" for "after a full account has been taken of all the moral delinquents, America's youth are intrinsically sound and generally worthy as youth ever have been."

Johnson's testimony dealt with conditions before and after prohibition in his home town, Louisville, Ky., which he described as the former center of America's fine whisky industry. He presented figures obtained from Roy W. Easley, director of safety of Louisville, a former prohibition agent, and Thomas B. Duncan, president of the Louisville Board of Trade; E. S. Jouett, vice president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, to show that there had been rapid economic progress in the city since prohibition due to the closing down of most of the 60 distilleries there.

The drys plan to continue their attack tomorrow with Representative Burtness, republican, North Dakota, as the first witness. He will present a statement signed by a large number of state officials and prominent citizens of his state taking issue with Pierce Blewett, a farmer, who testified before the committee that prohibition had been largely responsible for many of the hardships of farmers in that state because of the curtailed demand for barley.

Other Witnesses.

P. H. Callahan, of Louisville, Ky., a businessman; Louis H. Taber, of Columbus, Ohio, master of the National Grange; Mrs. Ruth K. S. Strawbridge, of Philadelphia, who is to present a poll of the social register, and C. P. Connally, of East Orange, N. J., are the other witnesses scheduled.

The drys plan to present witnesses for the full seven days.

Throughout the day the committee room was jammed with people, several women becoming so tired from hours of standing that they sat on the floor. Every speaker was applauded from time to time.

Crowther said he had surveyed the country and concluded that prohibition had diverted in 10 years between two and six billions of dollars into the purchase of goods or into savings among the wage earners that would have gone over the saloon bars in pre-prohibition days. He asserted production had increased between 25 and 30 per cent in the past 10 years compared to the normal rate of 15 per cent, and under cross-examination by Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, said the World War industrial era in this country resulted in no actual benefit.

Vigorous Attack.

The most vigorous attack upon the testimony of witnesses seeking repeal of the 18th amendment came from former Representative Keating. Asserting that the liquormen were responsible for prohibition because the American people decided that they could not regulate it, Keating said "they are corrupting enforcement officers, bribing prosecuting officials and 'fixing' courts."

The Colorado man said the point he wanted to make before the committee was that the liquormen were doing the same thing on a more extensive scale for 40 years before prohibition.

"No other amendment to the constitution," he said, "was so thoroughly debated over a long period of years as the 18th amendment. The liquormen, backed by most of the political machines, defended by the most widely circulated newspapers, financed by apparently bottomless slush funds, fought to the last ditch and were finally crushed by the weight of their own iniquities rather than by the skill and strength of the opposition.

"Now, ten years after the decision was rendered, they are back here boasting of their contempt for law and trying to bluff the American people with threats of civil war if they are not permitted to have their way."

Defends Youth.

Dr. Poling declared that experience in this and in foreign countries had demonstrated conclusively "that no substitute for prohibition has ever eliminated illicit sale of liquor.

"Under the Canadian plan," he added, "which has been strongly recommended here, bootlegging has increased."

In defending the youth of the land of the charges made by wet witnesses that more and more hard liquor was being consumed at tender ages, Dr. Poling said:

"Admittedly the young criminal is a greater menace now than formerly because of the speed with which he moves and the congestion through which he moves. But generalization is not fair to youth and is not good for the country.

"In spite of the anti-prohibition propaganda, and what is even more suggestive, in spite of the failure of those who favor prohibition to provide an adequate educational program for the country since the eighteenth amendment, this great body of young people is practically unanimous for prohibition and for enforcement," he said, referring to a poll of the Christian Endeavor Unions.

The last witness of the day, Johnson, of Louisville, when questioned by Representative LaGuardia, said he did not known how many speakeasies were in his city, but that previous to prohibition there had been 438 saloons.

Hits "Derby Day."

During pre-prohibition days, he said that the banks had tied up much of their money in whisky certificates, and that there were few home owners among minor railroad employes, some of them living in houses rented at $10 a month.

The Kentuckian, under questioning by LaGuardia, said that "touts and toughs" from "every corner of the earth" caused conditions on Kentucky Derby Day at Louisville that could not be controlled. He attacked the pari-mutual betting law in his state, and said he would be willing to do away with Derby Day if it were possible.

He was asked by Representative Celler, democrat, New York, whether he had seen any drinking in the Standard and Pendennis Clubs and he answered in the negative, although he said he had been in those places. He also was asked whether he had seen any liquor drinking in the Brown and Sealbach hotels, but he said he had not.

Celler also asked him if the recent granting of permits by the government to distilleries in Louisville would not help the city industrially since about 40,000 barrels of Bourbon liquor was to be manufactured, and the witness said that he was not inclined to believe so.

'Everybody's Business'

Penney Talks of Factors Contributing to His Success—Fox at Logger heads With Associates — Advertising Must Be Simple.

J. C. Penney, successful merchandiser, attributes his success almost entirely to the leadership set up within his own organization. He says:

"To develop a successful organization three factors in the personnel must always be included: First, every manager must have a pleasing personality. I can tell when I meet a person whether that person is the type, for without it we can do nothing. But if one has it, then the second thing is to give that person responsibility. Most corporations stop here. I think a third element, however, must be added to maintain and strengthen an organization. That third factor is to allow the individual to share liberally in the profits which he himself helps to create.

This policy has enabled J. C. Penney in 28 years to build up one of the largest institutions of its kind in the history of business. It is known as an organization full of aggressive leaders, each particularly loyal to the group.

For good-will in business personnel is indispensable to success.

This is the unfortunate part of the Fox Film Corporation dispute. No matter how the financial tangle is met, Mr. Fox and his former associates are at loggerheads today. William Fox advocates a certain plan which his associates of former days violently opposed. The plan offered by the Bancamerica-Blair Corporation is opposed by four of Fox's vice presidents—Winfield R. Sheehan, Saul E. Rogers, C. P. Sheehan and John Zanft, as well as by James R. Granger, general sales manager.

These men hold that the plan submitted by Halsey, Stuart & Company, is more advantageous by $31,850,000 in cash. Mr. Fox disputes this.

Naturally feeling has been aroused. The old spirit that has built the organization to what it is—a leader in its field—has gone. Mr. Fox or his former close associates must give way. It is doubtful if they can ever work together again in friendly business co-operation.

Money is very important to Mr. Fox now, but not any more important than men. This is the sad part of the present struggle in Wall Street for the control of this vast enterprise.

Peter A. Bogdanov, the new chairman of the board of directors of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, speaking at a luncheon of the American Russian Chamber of Commerce in New York, presided over by Reeve Schley, vice president of the Chase National bank, made this statement:

"If the door to the soviet market is to be opened wide to American manufacturers, the American money market must be opened to the soviet union and the question of credits and loans must be approached with a realistic understanding of existing conditions."

This new soviet business leader, with headquarters in New York, took a rap at a type of reactionary thinking in Russia which holds to the belief that if the plans of the soviet government are carried out that government will not have to resort to imports in the future.

Listen to his answer:

"I need hardly suggest to this assemblage that such a view is not in accord with economic experience. A country buys more and its needs increase as its material well-being rises. Besides, the soviet union is only beginning to develop its resources. Then, demands of our rapidly increasing population are expanding steadily and the five-year plan provides for continuously increasing exports."

Many of America's most important business leaders were among the 300 who attended the luncheon.

The Federation of British Industries wants an imperial trade conference, including all the dominions as well as the British Isles, called immediately.

British industry sees the growing power of the United States exports, coupled with the fact that the dominions are now securing a large part of the export trade which the British Isles formerly had.

"At present the United States exports only 8 per cent of her total production," says the federation's report to British businessmen. "If she were to increase this by only 1 per cent, this would represent an increased export of $350,000,000—equivalent approximately to 10 per cent of the total British exports, which would mean additional heavy competition for British industry in the world markets."

While the federation looks at Lord Beaverbrook's empire free trade campaign as an ideal to look forward to, the federation thinks it cannot for many years be more than a vision.

"But the next 10 years will see a much closer business unification of the British empire than the last 50," says a British businessman sojourning in the United States at the present time.

In a letter written to a friend more than 10 years ago the late George L. Dyer, of New York, referred to the power of under-statement in advertising.

"To get the right impression across in advertising, one must have the courage to be simple and to shun the apparent effort to sell or to impress," said Mr. Dyer. "You will never create the presumption of quality by proclaiming it or shouting it. A man does not build financial credit by boasting and over-statement. He does not get it even by asserting his claim to it. He gets it by talking simply and then letting what he is shine through what he says."

Mr. Dyer, who died about seven or eight years ago, was a master of the written word. He believed in saying very simply what was important.

"Truth has a way of sticking and taking care of itself, if it isn't forced too much. Some day the world will understand the tremendous power of under-statement."

These 10-year-old excerpts contain a prophecy only now being fully realized.

The Theories of Men Will Work When the Men Do

By Robert Quillen

For ages men have dreamed of a land in which all shall work for the common good and every man's reward shall be equal to his neighbor's.

Experimental Utopias of that kind have failed for want of authority.

In each instance the dreamers pooled their resources and energies and fared well until one of them lost interest and decided to eat his share of the bread without doing his share of the labor.

And because no one had authority or power to punish his disloyalty or require his co-operation, his bad example was the beginning of a contagion that ended in disaster.

The Russian experiment will fail for an opposite reason—because power alone maintains a semblance of co-operation and the majority would rebel if it dared.

Yet there is a golden mean between these two extremes of Utopian anarchy and brutal autocracy, and in that golden mean is the ultimate hope of the world.

Given the will to co-operate and an established authority sufficient to require co-operation of the occasional spoil-sport, nothing could prevent the success of an economic brotherhood.

More and more the very rich are learning that surplus wealth is enjoyable only when it is used to benefit mankind.

Picture the civilization that can result when all men learn that lesson.

Every man, whether physician or carpenter, artist or cook, will work for the state—for the whole people—and not one will receive money in return.

Instead of a money reward, there will be community dining rooms, clothing and furniture depots, hospitals, doctors, dentists—a service to supply every human need without cost.

There will be no need of money, for a man with none can obtain as much as he could obtain with thousands.

There will be no competition in making a show, for there is no food for vanity in a possession the humblest neighbor can duplicate.

There will be no theft or trickery, for men will not steal if they are free to take.

There will be no crimes against property, for there will be no property.

Each man will labor a few hours each day, doing the thing he is best qualified to do, and each can take as reward anything that he needs.

The able will direct; the unfit will share in the community abundance; the rebels and the indolent will be confined and fed sparingly until they see the beauty of good sportsmanship.

That is ultimate civilization; but unfair and greedy men won't build it, nor will firing squads establish it before the time is ripe.

City May Be Forced To Sell Fi Fas To Meet Money Crisis

Ileana's Engagement Said Formally Broken

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 5. (AP)—Reports reached Bucharest today that the father of Count Alexander Von Hochberg had been officially notified of the cancellation of his son's engagement to Princess Ileana and that the count had acquiesced to the princess' decision.

M. Grigorcea, a cabinet minister, had been sent to Berlin and Pless to convey the information and was reported to have completed his mission successfully today.

PROBE OF RITCHIE'S OFFICE ORDERED

of the board, thus forcing the meeting. Rules provide that if as many as three members request a special session, the president must call it.

Text of the resolution, which was offered by Alderman Gilliam and which provided that the affairs of the business administration department should be investigated by the committee follows:

"Whereas, Fulton county grand jury has requested that the school department take steps to correct alleged extravagances in the administration of the Atlanta public schools, and Vote Unanimous.

"Whereas, these recommendations should receive the careful and painstaking considering of this body for the good of Atlantans,

"Therefore, be it resolved, that a committee of five members, including the president of this body, be appointed by the president to make a thorough probe of the department and report back to the board not later than ten days from the date of this meeting."

The paper was adopted by unanimous vote of the board, having the sanction of proponents and opponents of the move to oust Ritchie.

Mrs. E. A. Wilson, school commissioner of the twelfth ward, is author of the resolution which called on the grand jury to furnish the board with the information and "that they not deal in glittering generalities but present definite, concrete facts that we may know how to take advantage of the information."

No action was taken on the measure because the board declined to give unanimous consent for its consideration, a prerequisite in acting on any matter not included in the call for a special session.

Mrs. Wilson declared, however, that she will offer it again at the regular meeting of the board slated for 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Text of the measure follows:

Wilson Resolution.

"Whereas, the Fulton county grand jury, in its presentments, as published March 2, makes the unequivocal statement that the appropriation made by the mayor and general council for operating the schools for the ensuing year is amply sufficient, provided waste and extravagance are eliminated, and:

"Whereas, for many weeks this board has diligently struggled to accomplish just such results as the grand jury in its presentments avers to be possible, and:

"Whereas, we are conscious, after serious deliberation, of our inability to so utilize the appropriation as to make the same adequate for the purposes intended, and earnestly desiring enlightenment from this august body,

"Be it therefore resolved, That said grand jury be requested to forthwith furnish this board with its formula by which our schools may be operated within the appropriation provided, and in thus complying with this request that they not deal in glittering generalities but present definite, concrete facts that we may know how to take advantage of the information.

"Be it therefore further resolved, That the foreman of the grand jury be furnished a copy of this resolution, with the request that the information so eagerly sought may be utilized at the next regular meeting of this board, and, furthermore, that said foreman, as well as the other members of grand jury, be invited to personally attend such meeting that this board, as well as the city of Atlanta as a whole, may gain full benefit of the information within their power to furnish."

"Satisfy All Parties."

In offering his paper, Mr. Gilliam contended that its passage would satisfy all parties in the controversy over retention of Ritchie. He declared he had no bias, no personal feeling and no political motive in offering it. His motion was seconded by Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, of the sixth, and Mr. Gaines.

Mrs. Nelson attempted to amend the paper so that the committee would file its report at the regular April meeting of the board, but several members opposed such a lengthy delay, contending that the board should act with all possible speed. Mrs. Nelson withdrew her motion after it encountered opposition.

Step May Be Necessary To Meet Pay Roll; County Asked for $100,000.

Probability that the borough of Atlanta will be forced to advertise and sell more than $1,000,000 worth of uncollected fi. fas. levied against real estate and personal property as taxes loomed Wednesday when B. Graham West, city comptroller, declared that the municipal government will face an acute financial crisis April 1 and will be unable to meet pay rolls and operating expenses of departments on funds now in sight.

Mr. West made the announcement at a meeting of Fulton county commissioners which he attended in an effort to obtain $100,000 which the commission promised the borough about three years ago for fire protection to portions of the county lying outside the limits of the borough. The appropriation was to go to Grady hospital and Battle Hill sanitarium in order to legalize it.

Borough Faces Crisis.

In his plea for the fund Mr. West declared that the borough is facing an actual crisis in financial affairs and that unless it gets the $100,000 fund which was promised that the government will be extremely embarrassed.

Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance committee, and Mr. West will confer with Mayor I. N. Ragsdale immediately on his return to Atlanta today to determine just what measures must be taken to raise funds.

Actual running expenses, including pay rolls and operation of the borough are estimated at $500,000 a month with a monthly income, exclusive of tax levies, of about $200,000. There is only $115,000 available now to meet the obligations of the borough on April 1 and the $200,000 which will be collected from water and other receipts will raise the total to $315,000. With the $100,000 from the county, there still would be an apparent deficit of $65,000, which could be met by selling outstanding uncollected fi. fas.

"There is nothing for Atlantans to become alarmed about," Mr. Moore said. "Finances of the borough are short, but we have permitted them to become so because we did not wish to work a hardship on taxpayers. We have attempted to absorb the $1,000,000 without advertising and selling the fi. fas., realizing that such a procedure would cost taxpayers about 10 per cent more.

"This effort has caused us temporary embarrassment since we do not begin to collect municipal taxes until May 1. My idea is that the borough will have to sell fi. fas. to absorb the deficit.

Members of the county commission have arranged to borrow $2,300,000 to operate the county until tax funds are available next fall, and they informed Mr. West that the money could not be obtained before the loan is finally closed. They stated the deal probably would be consummated this month and that the fund would be available to the borough just as soon as that is done.

"We have available at this time about $115,000 to meet an approximate $500,000 monthly expense," Mr. West said. "March pay rolls have been met, but we will face a real financial crisis and will be unable to meet our bills on April 1 unless other finances are provided.

To Confer With Mayor.

"I shall confer with Mayor Ragsdale as soon as he returns to his offices concerning the gravity of the situation and seek a solution. If Fulton county funds do not come in, I see no way for the borough to meet its obligations.

"Tax funds will not begin to come in until after May 1, and even if we are able to bridge the strain during April we still will have to do something to meet the pay rolls and other expenses of the government on May 1.

"Atlanta has borrowed to the limit of its power already, including the $115,000. We can borrow only $1,000,000. That sum already has been obtained, and we still face a deficit."

Floods Wreak Havoc In Southern France

PARIS, March 5.—(AP)—More than 300 deaths have resulted from floods in southern and central France. Most of them occurred in Montauban and Moissac in the valley of the Tarn. Communications with the stricken region still were uncertain tonight and authorities feared that the death list might be under-estimated.

Figures received from Montauban tonight estimated 150 dead in Moissac with 500 houses destroyed and 2,000 persons homeless.

Reynies, a village of 500 inhabitants was destroyed. Twelve were drowned there. Albias, with 1,000 inhabitants, had three dead. Twenty houses collapsed there.

DEALERS DECLARE WAR ON BICYCLE STEALING

More Than 100 Wheels Have Disappeared Within Last Six Months.

In an effort to stop what they term an epidemic of bicycle stealing, local bicycle dealers have banded themselves together and are offering a $25 reward for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of such a theft.

The thefts have been carried out steadily during the past six months, according to Berry Cohen, dealer, at 116 Edgewood avenue, and approximately 100 wheels have been stolen. For the most part these wheels have been stolen from school boys and messenger boys. All thefts have been reported to the dealers and they have banded together and are working in conjunction with city detectives to put a halt to the frequent raids.

Mr. Cohen and Harry F. Williams, another dealer at 100 Edgewood avenue, have been taking an active part in the investigation and three arrests have been made within the last few weeks. Questioning of the suspects revealed the names of about 12 others and the round-up is to be continued.

Meanwhile dealers are asking the public to aid them with information leading to arrest of thieves. Those having any such valuable information are requested to inform any bicycle dealer in the city.

Two Months' Postal Receipts Set Record

Atlanta postoffice receipts set a new record for the first two months of the current year despite the fact that February figures were slightly below those of last year due to a change in the bookkeeping system, it was announced here Wednesday by Postmaster E. K. Large.

The total for the first two months of 1930 was $812,187.81, a gain of nearly $9,000 over the corresponding period in 1929.

February figures were $383,173.57 under the new system which shows a "loss" of slightly more than $2,600 over February, 1929, caused by the fact that under the new plan the last day of each month is now to be counted on the receipts for the following month.

January receipts this year were the largest on record for that month, reaching a new height of $429,014.24.

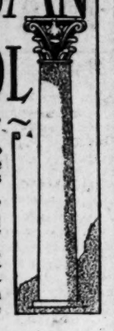
A COLUMN of the CAPITOL

By Harold Stephens



Three-score years ago Stephen Foster was the Irving Berlin of his day.

"Old Black Joe," "Swanee River," "Old Kentucky Home," "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground" and "Uncle Ned," songs as popular today as when they were written, were among his songs.

Foster published them without an explanation, ostensibly the products of his own genius.

But Dr. Craig Arnold, editor of "Georgia Highways," the official organ of the state highway department, in the current issue of his magazine quotes the late Armond Carroll in a theory concerning the old songs wholly in line with modern "de-bunking" tendencies.

* * * *

"Seated in a little log cabin under the shoulder of a mountain one mile from Dahlonega, an ancient beidame sang to me the following song, dating, as she told me, to the first of the last century."

* * * *

There was an old native and his name was Uncle Zeke
And he lived down the trail all alone;
But underneath the house ran a tunnel to the creek,
When the revenooers called he warn't at home.
Chorus.
So stop all your racket at the door,
And put back the rifle in the car;
For the moment that you knocked,
Zeke hit the underground,
And he's gone to a hiding place afar.

* * * *

"The tune was identical with Foster's 'Uncle Ned' and there is a curious parallel in the words," Mr. Carroll said.

Interested, he collected several other old mountain songs, receiving assurances that all were practically of even date with the first.

* * * *

"Round the meadows air a-snoopin'
Revenooers 'neath the hill,
Thinkin' they will soon be swoopin'
Down upon a moonshine still.
But the mountaineers already Know the pesty rats air 'round;
So they've buried all their treasure
Way down in the cold, cold ground.
Chorus.
Down in the cornfield,
Hear that happy soun',
All the natives air a-singing'—
The likker's in the cold, cold ground.

* * * *

"The next one contains the first historic reference to the old Indian trail which later became Peachtree street, Atlanta's principal highway:

Oh, the moon shines bright on our dear old Georgia hills,
'Tis autumn, the corn's in the ear;
And the mash is all ground for the neatly hidden stills
Where no revenooer hound lingers near.
The peaches are ripe, and the apple trees are thick
With apples that wait to be pressed,
Bime-bye they'll take on that sweet, old-fashioned kick
That all good apple jack must pack with zest.
Chorus.
Then sleep no more, my lady,
Oh, sleep no more, I say!
We will drink one dram from the keg before we leave,
And we'll sell the rest on Peachtree far away.

The last specimen reveals a tendency common in folk music: namely, a bringing down to date of the words as they pass from mouth to mouth. The following song had other words in the olden days, but try as I might, the previous versions could not be obtained. I was assured, however, that the original words were as old as the other above quoted. Its present form runs something like this:

Gone are the days when the beer
foamed in the stein;
Gone are the gin, the cordials and the wine;
Gone from the earth—but, brother,
don't forget,
You can hear the gentle moonshine calling, calling yet!
I'm coming, I'm coming,
And my throat is parched and dry!
I hear the gentle moonshine calling
"Here am I."

TALMADGE PREDICTS HEAVY PEACH CROP

Good Price Prospects Also Seen by Commissioner in Address at Cornelia.

CORNELIA, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, today told a group of about 100 peach and apple growers that Georgia's 1930 peach crop probably would amount to from 7,000 to 10,000 cars.

The commissioner was addressing a conference of fruit growers called by the state board of entomology, using "The Peach Outlook for 1930" as his subject. The conference was held in the Cornelia public school building.

Discussing price prospects for the year, Commissioner Talmadge said injury to crops in competing states probably would tend to make the market considerably better than last year.

"Georgia will be virtually without a competitor at its peach season," he declared.

Referring to influences contributing to last year's unprofitable season for peach men, the commissioner said he believed these conditions much improved this year, making it possible to find more fruit suitable for market than last.

"One of the greatest boons to peach growing is going to be our new standardization law," he said, "especially if all growers cooperate in its observance throughout the state's peach belt. We have made government standards our standards. The pack is a great factor in determining price. Systematic, uniform grading will do more toward creating and sustaining a good peach market than anything else."

Other interesting addresses were made by various experts of federal and state agencies. Among them were:

H. M. Mackay, Georgia State College of Agriculture, "Fertilizing Peach and Apple Trees"; Dr. Lee M. Hutchins, U. S. peach disease laboratory, Fort Valley, "Phony Peach Research Work"; W. F. Turner, U. S. peach disease laboratory, Fort Valley, "Phony Peach Eradication Work"; W. T. Yetter, Jr., U. S. department of agriculture, "The Oriental Fruit Moth"; Charles H. Alden, director of the state field laboratory at Cornelia, "Three Years' Experiments on Control of the Codling Moth"; D. F. Farlinger, assistant director at Cornelia, "The Egg Parasite, Trichogramma Minutum."

Georgia Woman Burned to Death

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Mrs. W. C. Evans, 75, was burned to death this afternoon when she was trapped in the flames of her burning home, near Allen's Invalid Home.

Mr. Evans upon returning from a trip to a near-by store, smelled the fumes of burning wood when he entered the house and before he could get Mrs. Evans and three of their grandchildren from the house, flames had engulfed the entire two-story frame dwelling.

Mrs. Evans started back to get something she had left behind and just as she entered the door the building collapsed. Mr. Evans caught hold of his wife's dress to pull her back and was badly burned in an attempt to save her, but he was unsuccessful in his rescue attempt.

Mrs. Evans was the mother of W. C. Evans, Jr., large landowner of Baldwin county.

SPELLING BEE SCENE LURES EDITOR PERKINS

REIDSVILLE, Ga., March 5.—After an absence of 25 years, Matt G. Perkins, editor of The North Side Home News, of Atlanta, came here to visit again the scene of a noted spelling bee in which he participated at the age of 8. He very nearly won, according to his recollection of the event, and thinks that he lost out when he was asked to spell "syzygy." Mr. Perkins has spent much time in China and South America and this was his first visit to his home town in a quarter of a century. He recalls that when he was a boy it was an event for people in Tatnall to visit in Emanuel.

FELTON INJUNCTION HEARING IS OPENED

MACON, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Hearing of a petition for injunction to permanently restrain A. C. Felton, Jr., former president of the Nye Odorless Crematory Company, from selling approximately 4,000 shares of preferred stock in a newly organized corporation to settle a claim which he says he holds against the latter, was begun before Judge H. A. Mathews in superior court here today.

OHIOANS QUESTIONED ON KIDNAPING CHARGE

LUDOWICI, March 5.—(AP)—Mabel King, 14, and E. H. White, 45, were questioned here by federal authorities today following their arrest late yesterday on request of authorities at Kilbalton, Ohio. The arrest was made by Sheriff T. F. Chapman.

A. W. Crandall, agent for the department of justice, arrived here today to investigate the case. The pair are being held on a kidnaping warrant from Ohio.

FARM BOARD OFFICIAL WILL VISIT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—M. C. Gay, representative of the federal farm relief board, Washington, D. C., is expected here Thursday for a conference with officials of the Chamber of Commerce and recently organized Co-operative Marketing Association formed for south Georgia and western South Carolina.

The immediate future policies of the co-operative association will be discussed and advice upon putting into effect the aims of the body to build up a marketing system will be sought. Mr. Gay is stopping at Athens, Ga., on his way to Savannah.

RAY CITY RESIDENTS SEEK IMPROVED ROAD

RAY CITY, March 5.—Residents of Ray City and this section of Berrien county are enlisting the aid of Valdosta in getting a better highway connection. Eventually state highway No. 11 will be extended across from Ray City to Nashville and on to Homerville and later will be paved. Ray City wants the assistance of Valdosta in getting state highway connection extending from Valdosta to Ray City and connecting there with No. 11.

By this comparatively short extension persons traveling No. 11 can turn at Ray City, go into Valdosta and get a connection with No. 7 extending to all points in Florida.

Attend 'God's Acre' Meeting at Barnesville

Here is a group of prominent leaders in the "God's Acre" movement of the Baptist churches in Georgia who took part in Tuesday's program at Barnesville in the first of 16 meetings to be held throughout the state. Left to right: Pat Anderson, manager of the Baptist orphans' home; Judge B. H. Hardy, of Barnesville, Barnesville moderator of the Centennial Baptist Association; James Merritt, secretary and treasurer-elect of the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist Convention; Ely Calloway, of LaGrange, president of the State Laymen's league; Dr. Charles E. Burts, of Macon; Dr. Walter P. Binns, of LaGrange, and Spencer King, superintendent of state missions for the Georgia Baptist Convention.

Lyons Youth Dies In Auto Crash

LYONS, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—D. H. McLeod, 21, was killed today as his automobile collided with another machine and turned over several times near here.

McLeod's companion, Tommie Lewis Bowen, was severely shaken but not seriously injured.

The two men, returning home, were passing another automobile when the collision with a third machine occurred. McLeod's automobile was knocked from the road.

State Deaths And Funerals

MRS. CORA SIMONTON DOZIER.

CARROLLTON, Ga., March 5.—Relatives and friends throughout the south will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Cora Simonton Dozier, which occurred at her home here Wednesday morning. She had been ill several months.

Mrs. Dozier, whose husband, the late Nathan Ernest Dozier, died in 1923, leaves four children, Misses Mattie and Sara Dozier, Arthur and N. E. Dozier, Jr. She was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Simonton, who came to Carrollton from Cobb county in 1843. Following her marriage in 1907 Mrs. Dozier's home was for some years in Louisiana and later in Haleyville, Ala. Since the death of her husband she had lived in Carrollton. She had entered her fifty-first year of age. Mrs. Dozier by the sincerity and kindliness of her nature drew many warm friends about her. She was from youth a useful member of the Presbyterian church and was at the time of her death president of the Woman's Auxiliary of her church. She was a charter member of the Lit-Mu Club of Carrollton and had served as an officer in the Parent-Teacher Association. Besides her children she leaves two brothers, A. A. Simonton, of Atlanta, and W. J. Simonton, of Harlan, Ky., and two sisters, Mrs. A. C. Padgett and Mrs. H. D. Watkins, both of Atlanta. Miss Susie Blaylock, of Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school, is her cousin.

J. M. SMITH, SR.

COCHRAN, Ga., March 5.—J. M. Smith, Sr., died suddenly Monday morning at the home of his son, Dr. J. M. Smith, Jr., here, following a heart attack. Mr. Smith was 79 years of age, a native of Twiggs county, but a resident of Cochran for many years. Surviving are three sons, Dr. J. M. Smith, Jr., of Cochran; T. G. Smith, of Valdosta, and Rev. A. J. Smith, of Shreveport, La. The funeral arrangements are held up pending the arrival of relatives.

WILLIAM M. CORBETT.

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 5.—William M. Corbett, 79, a retired farmer of this county, died here Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. O. Sedgwich, following a short illness.

Mr. Corbett, who has spent his entire life in Ware county, was a prosperous farmer of the Glenmore section, having retired about two years ago and moved to Emerson Park, on the edge of Waycross, to make his home with his daughter.

He is survived by one son, William M. Corbett, Jr., of Glenmore, and six daughters, Mrs. John C. Beard, of Lincoln, Kan.; Mrs. Gus Griffis, of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. J. H. Bryant, of Waycross; Mrs. P. C. Graddy, of Fargo, Ga.; Mrs. Homer Swain, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Mrs. W. O. Sedgewick, of Waycross.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Booth church, the Rev. Mr. McQuaid officiating.

MRS. MARTHA FRANCIS.

ALPHARETTA, Ga., March 5.—Mrs. Martha Rice Francis, widow of the late Thomas M. Francis, died at the home of her son, Claude C. Francis, near Midway, seven miles north, of here. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday from the Midway Methodist church with the Rev. W. L. Singleton officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery.

T. RENTZ SMITH.

VIENNA, Ga., March 5.—T. Rentz Smith, one of Vienna's oldest and best-known residents, died at his home here Tuesday morning of heart failure. He was 69 years of age. He is survived by his wife, two sons, R. Smith, of Lilly, Ga., and Lomer Smith, of Vienna, and four daughters, Mrs. O. H. Jordan, Mrs. E. C. Taylor, Mrs. T. G. Woodruff, all of Vienna, and Mrs. Collier, of Fitzgerald, Ga.

TILLMAN EUGENE FARR.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 5.—Tillman Eugene Farr, prominent Muscogee county farmer, died at his home four miles east of Columbus today after a short illness. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, two brothers and three sisters.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WALKER.

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., March 5.—The funeral of Mrs. V. H. Walker, whose husband was the victim of a hatchet murder at a Macon lumber plant last December 22, was held here this afternoon.

MRS. KATIE TILLMAN.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ga., March 5.—Funeral services for Mrs. Katie Tillman, 59, will be conducted from the Sandy Creek church, near here, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Interment will be in the church cemetery. Mrs. Tillman died at her home in Corbin, Ky., Tuesday. She is survived by two sons, G. A. Tillman, of Corbin, and A. B. Tillman, of Fayetteville.

JOSEPH DAY STEWART.

MACON, Ga., March 5.—News reached here today of the death of Joseph Day Stewart, 83, at his winter home in Miami, Fla. He was a Confederate veteran and was active in the veterans' organization in Georgia, holding the rank of brigadier general.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary on February 15. The body will be taken to Americus, where the funeral will take place at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

He was married to Miss Emma Hand, a sister of the late J. L. Hand, of Pelham, Ga., and moved to Americus, Ga., where he resided while in Georgia.

Mr. Stewart is survived by his widow and six children: Mrs. T. S. Bush, Macon; Mrs. J. Milton Richardson, Macon; Mrs. S. Lee McRae, of Mt. Vernon, Ga.; Mrs. John W. Ogden, of Okmulgee, Okla.; Mrs. Carl Holmer, Jr., of Miami, Fla., and T. W. Stewart, of Miami, Fla.; J. D. Stewart, of Jacksonville, Fla., deceased, was another son.

There are 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. Stewart had a large family connection in middle and south Georgia, particularly in Jones and Bibb counties. There are four nephews residing in Macon: H. C. Stewart, B. C. Stewart, T. J. Stewart and Geo. T. Stewart.

MALCOLM H. HENDEE.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 5.—Malcolm H. Hendee, 51, division commercial manager of the Georgia Power Company here, died late today from a sudden attack of illness while at his home. Mr. Hendee is a native of Atlanta, and entered the service of the Augusta-Aiken Railway & Electric Corporation in 1908.

FARMERS IN REGIONAL MEET AT GREENSBORO

GREENSBORO, Ga., March 5.—One of the 20 regional farmers' conferences that the Georgia State College of Agriculture is holding throughout the state was attended by farmers from this and nearby counties at the Green county courthouse Tuesday. The Greensboro conference was called by County Agent J. W. Howard, of Greene county, and was opened by District Agent T. L. Asbury, who introduced the following speakers: J. William Firor, professor of agricultural economics and marketing, "The Federal Farm Board and Its Policies;" E. C. Westbrook, cotton specialist, "1930 Agricultural Outlook and Profitable Cotton Production;" Frank W. Fitch, field agent of dairying, "The Place of Dairying on the Georgia Farm," and J. G. Oliver, assistant director of extension, "The Evidence of Agricultural Progress in Georgia."

NEW YORKERS VISIT MARTHA BERRY SCHOOL

MT. BERRY, March 5.—Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Cotton, of Nichols, N. Y., old friends of the Berry schools, who have greatly assisted financially in developing the waterworks and pipe lines at the school, were visitors yesterday and today at Mt. Berry.

This was their first visit to Berry schools and they expressed much interest and pleasure in the educational opportunities offered southern mountain boys and girls there. They motored here yesterday from their winter home in Florida.

"Miss Berry is doing such remarkable inspirational work," said Mr. Cotton, "that few people either north or south can realize its true significance. Our visit has been one of the finest experiences of a lifetime."

AUGUSTA JAILER DENIES CHARGES OF M'LEOD

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Chief Deputy and Jailer Gary Whittle denies that his jail was in an unsanitary condition as stated by United States Marshal George B. McLeod, who has requested Bibb county officials to house federal prisoners now confined at the city stockade here.

Mr. Whittle said Richmond county ceased handling federal prisoners more than a year ago, but that prisoners now sentenced in federal court here for terms of less than a year are housed in the city stockade.

Nolan Bowden, superintendent of the stockade, declared that his institution "is not unsanitary and if unsatisfactory conditions have developed it had been through the prisoners themselves."

The superintendent said that he had faced a serious problem during September and October last year when flood waters of the Savannah river covered the farm and stood from four to five feet deep in the prison building itself, but that these conditions had disappeared.

FORMER STATE SENATOR FAILED TO APPEAR

TALBOTTON, Ga., March 5.—(AP) Emmett F. Johnson, former state senator, failed to appear for trial on forgery charges in superior court here today and Judge C. F. McLaughlin ordered Sheriff J. H. Ferguson to arrest him. The judge said he would ask that Johnson's $5,000 bond be forfeited and that a new bond of $25,000 would be assessed against him if he is located.

Johnson, officers said, left Talbotton late yesterday, apparently to go to his home in Chattahoochee county.

The former state senator was arrested in Monroe, La., last December and returned to Buena Vista, Ga., to answer to the forgery charges. He was under $5,000 bond in Talbot county and $3,000 bond in Marion county.

PAIR CONVICTED OF ROBBERY CHARGE

TALBOTTON, Ga., March 5.—(AP) Roy Holt, 18, of Oklahoma, and George West, 30, of Rocky Mount, N. C., arrested in Columbus, Ga., and returned here to answer charges of robbery, were found guilty today and sentenced to two to four years in the penitentiary.

West entered a plea of guilty and Holt was tried and found guilty. At the time of the arrest in Columbus several weeks ago, West was shot by a policeman when he resisted arrest. He was brought into the courtroom today on a stretcher.

SAVANNAH COURT HEARS 52 DIVORCE CASES

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—The second day of the divorce docket in superior court today concluded with 52 cases being disposed of in one way or another, among them being 25 final verdicts; nine first verdicts, one annulment, two reconciliations and several matters affecting alimony matters.

Judge Meldrim has disposed of 104 cases on the divorce and alimony dockets in two days' time. A total of 52 final verdicts were returned in that time or exactly half of the full docket.

Wounded Woman Battles for Life

DUBLIN, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Attaches at a hospital here today said the condition of Miss Grace McDaniels, shot and probably fatally wounded by Marin Bullard, 18, of Alamo, Ga., continued unchanged today.

Physicians said the young woman's chances of recovery could not be known definitely for several days.

Miss Bullard shot Miss McDaniels as she sat in her automobile in the filling station operated by the former's father at Alamo. Other than the statement that her victim had come between her father and mother, Miss Bullard has declined to discuss the case.

"Nancy Hart Pilgrimage" Completed by D.A.R. Regent

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 5.—Mrs. H. Fay Gaffney, state regent of the D. A. R., has returned to Columbus following a week of statewide activity in the unveiling of a number of markers along the Nancy Hart highway. Mrs. Gaffney presided at the different meetings, making addresses on each occasion.

The ceremonies attendent upon the unveiling of the markers were interesting. The tour began at Washington, Ga., February 23, at 3:30 p. m. Waynesboro was visited Monday; Sandersville, Tuesday morning; Tennille, Tuesday afternoon; Wrightsville, Wednesday morning; Dublin, Wednesday afternoon. The tour ended at Dublin Thursday afternoon.

These markers were erected by the D. A. R. of Georgia, with the exception of one at Wrightsville, which, through the influence of Mrs. W. M. Shurling, prominent in D. A. R. work, was erected by Johnson county and the city of Wrightsville.

The Nancy Hart highway extends through Georgia from Hartwell, via Elberton, which is the section where Nancy Hart lived, to Augusta, and then on through the cities named to Waycross. This is the only highway in the United States named for a woman—Nancy Hart—a pioneer woman whose name and heroic deeds are closely interwoven with the early history of Georgia.

Ten handsome granite markers outline the Nancy Hart highway through Georgia. Each memorializes a woman famous for her heroism and service in the cause of freedom. The story of how Nancy Hart, an ungainly country woman, captured a group of tories who had forced her to cook her turkey for them is outstanding in Georgia history. Markers have been placed at Hartwell, Elberton, Augusta, and the seven included in the pilgrimage, Washington, Waynesboro, Sandersville, Tennille, Wrightsville, Dublin and Waycross, completes the list.

The state regent, Mrs. H. Fay Gaffney; Mrs. James L. Massey, state chairman, and other prominent members of the state D. A. R. membership and their friends made this pilgrimage, the public being invited to the exercises at each place where a marker was unveiled.

Near Death.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 5. Hope was waning here early Wednesday for Paul Pattishall, employe in the manual training department of the Georgia State hospital, who took bichloride of mercury in an attempt to commit suicide Tuesday night. He had shown no signs of despondency and no reason has been learned for his act. Pattishall has lived in Hardwick near Milledgeville for 15 years.

TURPENTINE OPERATORS ORGANIZE AT VALDOSTA

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 5.—(AP) Naming L. M. Autrey, of Valdosta, as president, the American Turpentine Farmers' Association, a co-operative organization, today accepted its charter and formally organized under the Georgia co-operative marketing laws. Recognition from the federal farm board will be sought.

Officers of the association announced at the meeting that they believed congress would accept the amendment to the farm bill, reported favorably by the senate agricultural committee, permitting gum turpentine operators to come within its provisions.

Adherence of many leading operators, controlling a large percentage of the gum turpentine production of the belt, was announced at the organization meeting.

Mr. Autrey said he believed that within twelve months the organization will have the co-operation of three-fourths of the operators. The association intends to work for lowered costs of production and increased production per crop, as well as for a more economical distribution of the product.

By-laws adopted by the organization pledged operators not to work timber less than nine inches in diameter, a provision which leading operators stated would curtail overproduction, relieve the condition of seasonal "dumping" of the product and materially conserve timber in the belt.

Other officers selected were W. P. Shelley, Tallahassee, Fla., first vice president; A. V. Kennedy, Waycross, Ga., second vice president; Dan Howell, Lake City, Ga., chairman of the board of directors, and W. L. Fender, Valdosta, treasurer. Julian Langner was named secretary of the organization.

URGE COTTON GROWERS TO STUDY UNIT COSTS

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 5.—J. G. Oliver, assistant director of agricultural extension work for the State College of Agriculture, is campaigning as much as possible in south Georgia on the eve of cotton planting season, and is broadcasting important information to prospective cotton growers.

Director Oliver takes as the basis of his information the accomplishments of the 484 five-acre cotton contestants who sent completed records to the state college for their areas for 1929. With these contestants' records as the basis, Mr. Oliver is stressing for the benefit of growers how the increased yield per acre affected the unit cost and the net profit received.

According to the records, those who made 800 pounds of lint per acre produced their cotton at a cost of 6.9 cents per pound, while those making 200 pounds and less had a cost per pound of 23 cents.

"The federal farm board, or no other agency, could help the latter class make a profit on a commodity produced at such a high cost," says Mr. Oliver.

He also pointed out that the average cotton yield in the state last year was about 174 pounds of lint per acre and therefore the average cotton farmer last year lost 9 cents per pound on the cotton he grew. "We must figure the unit costs on cotton along with every other farm crop if we expect to net a profit in their production," he said.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE NEGRO HOME INVASION

Several White Men Threaten Dr. J. W. Holley, Negro School Head in Albany.

ALBANY, Ga., March 5.—An investigation by members of the grand jury at the March term of superior court, which convenes here March 17, is expected to be made of the alleged visit of several white men to the home of Dr. J. W. Holley, negro president of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college, in East Albany, Monday night, presumably to make an attack on the negro college head.

Sheriff Tarver stated Tuesday morning that Holley said he was awakened in his home about 8:30 o'clock last night by a man at the door who said that "Mr. Barrett Waters wanted to see him." He told the man that he had already retired for the night and he would see Mr. Waters in the morning. He returned upstairs to his bed, but was awakened a few minutes later by heavy pounding again on his front door. Holley's wife then went to the front door and told the men that her husband was in bed and could not come out. According to Holley, the men then began to curse both him and his wife and threatened him with bodily harm should he venture on the outside. The men stayed only a few minutes on the porch and left in an automobile shortly afterward, Holley added.

The alleged attempt to "get" Holley is thought by the officers to be the aftermath of a warrant taken out here Monday morning by Holley, charging one Allen Giles, negro, with being drunk and operating an automobile while intoxicated. Holley alleged in his warrant that early Monday morning Giles drove an automobile through the college campus grounds at a reckless rate of speed, thereby endangering the lives of students going to school. Giles is said to be Mr. Waters' chauffeur, and Baker county officers were searching for him this morning, but at a late hour he had not been placed under arrest.

Mr. Waters, asked for a statement, indicated his unwillingness to issue one or "to advertise a matter of no consequence by even noticing it." No evidence that Mr. Waters was present last night has been brought out, nor has the identity of the man who used Mr. Waters' name been revealed.

L. A. WILSON ELECTED WAYCROSS BAR HEAD

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 5.—The Waycross Bar Association has elected the following officers: L. A. Wilson, president; B. G. Parks, vice president; E. K. Bennett, secretary-treasurer.

These three officers together with J. H. Quarterman and D. M. Parker constitute the executive board.

Stimson Points Benefits Of Naval Arms Conference

Secretary Arises From Sick Bed To Show Reduction Already Assured Despite Delay.

BY FRANK H. KING,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, March 5.—(AP)—New hope for the cause of disarmament, at a time when criticism of the London naval conference is growing because of delays, was contained in a surprise statement issued by Colonel Henry L. Stimson tonight.

The informal statement by the head of the American delegation declared that not only naval limitation but a reduction of at least 200,000 tons in the United States fleet and an even greater cut in the British fleet could be achieved at the London conference.

The statement, issued in response to many appeals from the United States as to what the conference is doing, follows:

"There seems to be an impression that the work of the American delegation at this conference is likely to result in an increase instead of a reduction in tonnage of the navies of the world.

"The surest way to answer that is to give such results as seem to be within reach up to date. A plan which its essentials appears to be acceptable to America and Great Britain provides for net reduction in tonnage of the American fleet in capital ships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines—built, building or appropriated for—of over 200,000 tons, and an even larger reduction on the part of the British fleet.

"If vessels authorized but not commenced were included in existing fleets the amount of reduction would be much greater. Of course, these reductions are contingent upon some reduction being made in the fleets of other powers."

The Stimson statement came unexpectedly at the close of a day of meetings and conferences from which came only the same reports of uncertain progress that have featured proceedings since the French political crisis arose.

Mr. Stimson retired to Stanmore with a bad cold yesterday, but he busied himself in planning a statement which would reassure that part of the American public which is becoming fearful of results of the London meeting.

This morning Mr. Stimson hastily called the American delegation into session and outlined his plan. This afternoon, with Senator Reed, he visited Prime Minister MacDonald and worked the plan over during an hour of conversation. Then Senator Reed showed it to Ambassador Matsudaira, of Japan, after which it was read to newspapermen by one of Mr. Stimson's advisors.

After the announcement Mr. Stimson returned to Stanmore. His voice still is affected by his severe cold.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—(adv.)

Suspected Burglar Linked With Murder

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 5.—(AP)—Police here announced this afternoon that three employes of the Arlington hotel at Hot Springs had identified Carl R. Ashton, held as a suspected hotel burglar, as a man who was taken up on an elevator to the floor of the hotel on which a short time afterwards Preston Austin, wealthy Texas cattle man, was slain. The employes picked Ashton out of a group of prisoners, police said.

Rewards totaling $22,000 have been offered for the capture of the slayer or slayers of Austin.

Austin was strangled to death in his hotel room. His body was found the next day.

Chief of Police Joe Wakelin, of Hot Springs, made the announcement of the identification. He said two elevator operators of the hotel were positive Ashton was one of three men who rode the elevator the night of Austin's slaying and for whom a search has been under way for months. A porter who also saw the three suspects in the hotel said he thought Ashton was one of them but not certain, Hakelin said.

Robbery was assigned by police as the motive for the Austin slaying.

Testimony Completed In Ella Wiggins Trial

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 5.—(AP)—Testimony was completed in the Ella May Wiggins murder trial today with a mass of conflicting evidence for and against five men charged with second degree murder of Mrs. Wiggins written in the court records.

After a full week of court sessions both sides announced late today that all their evidence was in. They asked that argument begin tomorrow.

Time for the pleas to the jury was limited to eight hours, four to each side, and both defense and prosecution agreed if possible they would finish in less time.

With speeches scheduled to begin at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, it was expected they would be completed in time for Presiding Judge J. H. Clement to deliver his charge to the jury early Friday morning. This suggested the possibility that the five textile workers on trial might know their fate before the week-end at the latest.

Highway Inspector Made Deputy Sheriff

Something new in the way of state employes developed at the capitol Wednesday when W. M. Dugger, inspector attached to the motor bus division of the Georgia public service commission, received a commission as deputy sheriff of Fulton county.

His assignments will be in connection with motor bus work of the department.

So far as is known he is the only "state police" in Georgia.

The annual "clean-up, paint-up, plant-up" drive, as a preparation for grand opera week, will be opened on April 13 and last through April 19, it was announced by the woman's division of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. The division, working in conjunction with the schools of Atlanta, is fostering the annual movement.

Inter-Civic Association To Name New Officers

Election of officers for the Atlanta Inter-Civic Association for the ensuing year will feature the annual meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Chamber of Commerce building, hall No. 2.

Annual reports will be submitted and policies for the association's activity in 1930 will be outlined, M. Brown Hayes, secretary of the civic organization, said in announcement of the meeting.

CAR EQUIPMENT MAKER LEAVES TWO MILLIONS

SARASOTA, Fla., March 5.—(AP) Showing an estate of more than $2,000,000, the will of Frederick Latimer Wells, who died last December at his home, 20 Wacker drive, Chicago, was filed for probate here today.

Practically all of the estate was gilt-edge bonds. William Leslie Latimer, of Chicago, is named in the will as executive. His relationship is not stated in the instrument. Mr. Wells was a retired manufacturer of Pullman car equipment.

His legal residence was at his winter home here.

The entire estate is left to his widow, with the exception of "all the real property I may own in the state of Illinois," which is bequeathed to his sister, Mrs. Luda Wells Weymour, of Binghamton, N. Y.

GOVERNMENT BUILDING SEEN AS JOB SOLUTION

Administration Suggests Launching of Program To Remedy Situation.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—With government figures indicating that 3,000,000 men are out of employment, the administration suggested to congress today that some relief might be found in an emergency appropriation authorizing the president to go ahead with a public building program.

In a letter to Chairman Johnson, of the senate commerce committee, Secretary Davis, of the labor department, described as cumbersome a pending proposal by Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, to provide $150,000,000 to be used by a federal employment stabilization board, and added:

"It would seem that it ought not to be necessary to create the machinery provided in this act in order to have somebody to which the $150,000,000 could be appropriated. In short, while it is absolutely necessary that congress devise some way of having money immediately available when emergency arises, a less cumbersome method might be devised. It occurs to me that it might be appropriated to the treasury department to be called upon by the president in an emergency."

Senator Wagner's bill will be considered tomorrow by the senate commerce committee. Secretary Davis consulted today at the capitol with Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, and Senator Wagner. Confidence was expressed at these conferences by Davis that the passage of the public buildings measure now before the senate and the enactment of the tariff bill would combine with other conditions to alleviate employment substantially by early summer.

Cost of Auto License Deductible From Tax

Consolation is now offered those who had to storm their way to the state capitol not so many weeks ago for the purpose of purchasing automobile tags.

According to information given out Wednesday at the office of the internal revenue department, funds thus expended may be deducted from income tax returns. Several other forms of taxation are included in the "exempt list," but attention is called to the fact that returns are due March 15 just the same.

Atlantan Bound Over On Charge of Forgery

Lyman H. Parker, who gives his address as 830 Cascade avenue, was placed under $1,000 bond on charges of forging the name of the payee on a government check following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith Wednesday afternoon.

It was charged that Parker had taken the check from a mail box in the apartment house in which he lived, and then endorsed it to buy a suit of clothes from a local merchant who cashed it for him.

Continued fair and warmer weather is seen for Atlanta and vicinity today, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist. Clear skies and a beaming sun will remain in order, he says, as the mercury in the official thermometer works its way gradually to slightly higher levels.

Wednesday saw a temperature range from a chilly 36 up to a more reasonable 55 and today's extremes are expected to be in the neighborhood of 38 and 60 as the moderating process gathers momentum.

$1,000,000 Is Ready For State Schools

Counties and cities of Georgia will receive one million dollars for educational purposes today. Preparation of checks covering the sum borrowed last week by Governor L. G. Hardman was completed by the treasury department Wednesday, the checks turned over to the educational department and then placed in the mails.

Hoover To Be Invited To Cape Henry Fete

RICHMOND, Va., March 5.—(AP) President Hoover would be extended an invitation to make the pilgrimage to Cape Henry on April 26 commemorating the first landing of the first permanent English settlers in the New World under a joint resolution adopted today by the house. In a companion resolution similar invitations were extended to the governors of the 13 original states and to the governors of West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, states once part of Virginia.

The resolutions set out that the first permanent English colonists came ashore at Cape Henry on April 26, 1607, and that in Virginia it has become a custom to commemorate the event with appropriate ceremonies on each anniversary.

Cuban Police Hunt American Robber

HAVANA, March 5.—(AP)—Cuban police are conducting a wide search for George Terry, of Chicago, wanted there on a charge of bank robbery. Advices from the interior of the island say that a man, answering Terry's description, was seen in the vicinity of Santa Clara city.

Recent information here, giving description of Herry and which was reforwarded to all sections of the island, led to clues which, police believe, may result in the arrest of the wanted man. A large reward for Terry is giving added impetus to the hunt.

Terry was said to have escaped from Little Rock prison several months ago.

"I suffered terribly with bleeding piles which were awful painful. Finally after a very severe attack I got a bottle of Colac Pile Pills from the drug store and results were so good I've sent copies of the advertisement to several people I knew, for they are wonderful," declares another free and happy man, Mr. William Elburn, well known fisherman at Rock Hall, Maryland.

Thousands of men and women suffering from this dreaded pile trouble are today no longer bothered. If the reader suffers with piles they should suffer no longer. Get a bottle of Colac Pile Pills at druggists—swallow a couple pills per directions each meal time for a few days. That's all. Doctors endorse this newer, better internal way, or send 75c in stamps or coin to Colac Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md., for regular bottle, full directions, return mail. Money back if they fail. Try them without risking a penny, on this famous concern's absolute guarantee.—(adv.)

GILLETTE ANNOUNCES NEW SAFETY RAZOR

Company Appropriates $10,000,000 for Advertising Campaign.

In spite of the fact that the Gillette Safety Razor Company has sold the world more than a hundred million razors and more than five billion blades during the last 28 years, it has just announced a new product which it expects will materially increase these figures in the immediate future. A new improved razor and blade at the old prices has been announced by Frank J. Fahey, vice president and general manager, and it constitutes the first radical change in the old "safety" in nearly 30 years. The company is putting a $10,000,000 advertising campaign behind the new products and will spend $7,500,000 of it in the United States in 1930 for national magazine and newspaper displays.

In distributing the new razor and blades, the Gillette Company took a $4,000,000 loss on its 1929 business. It warned dealers against stocking up on the old models and when the new products were put out in February it made an even exchange with jobbers of old stock for new. It is announced, however, that despite a factory production of 80,000 razors and 2,700,000 blades per day, the company's entire output for 1930 is sold.

$15,000 Suit Is Filed In Train-Auto Crash

Injuries received when the family automobile stalled on a railroad crossing and a limited train came along before she could get out of the car were made the basis of a $15,000 damage suit filed Wednesday by Willie Mae Donaldson Hall, 8, through her father, Cleveland Hall, as next friend, against the Central of Georgia Railway Company.

On March 1, while on their way to Cincinnati, from Griffin, their sedan stopped on the train tracks at Hapeville because of a stalled motor. Her brother and sister jumped out and tried to push the car off the tracks, but the Dixie Limited came along and hit the automobile before she and her father and mother could get out, the petitioner alleges. The father and mother were injured also, according to the petition.

The suit was filed in city court of Atlanta by the law firm of Sims and Berman.

4-Day Spring Vacation Granted at Emory

Spring holidays have been granted by the faculty of Emory University. Winter quarter examinations, originally scheduled to be held March 19, 20 and 21, have been changed to March 17, 18 and 19, giving two extra days between the quarters.

The council of deans refused the request of the students that they be allowed to hold house parties which formerly featured little commencement, abolished several years ago. The students agreed to place any special festivities later, it was stated, in order to have the spring holidays which were not granted last year.

The holiday season will start Wednesday afternoon, March 19, and continue until Monday morning, March 24.

TANLAC FREES JOHN BURKHARDT OF STOMACH TROUBLES

Flat on Back, Super Medicine Puts Him Back on Job

In a few days quicker than you ever thought possible—that super medicine Tanlac starts to prove its merit And amazing though it may seem, the more stubborn and unyielding the case may be, the more remarkable is the work that Tanlac does in straightening out weak disordered stomachs. It's a real medicine formulated according to modern medical science—that's why—not just a "patent medicine" that makes a lot of ridiculous claims to cure everything. Tanlac was prepared for the specific purpose of strengthening the ailing organs of digestion and because every ingredient in it is designed for helping the good work along, it has won easy victories where everything else has failed And remember this, when stomach troubles are ended you'll be absolutely amazed at the way bowel troubles, constipation, dizziness, headaches, and even rheumatism usually disappear completely. Tanlac has brought glorious new health to hundreds right here in this town. Among the recent cases is Mr. John Burkhardt who says: "I was flat on my back when I started taking Tanlac. A few doses began to improve my appetite, my digestion grew better and I was soon back on the job." Every mail brings enthusiastic letters of testimonial—52,000,000 bottles have been sold. Guaranteed by all the druggists so accept no substitute. —(adv.)

George Chappelle Dies at Hospital

George Chappelle, 76, of 1375 Beattie avenue, S. W., for 37 years a clerk of the Southern railway, died Wednesday morning at a local hospital following a month's illness. Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, with the Rev. S. A. Cowan officiating. Interment will be in Crest Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Chappelle began duty with the railroad when he came to Atlanta in 1891, and he continued his active service up until the time of his illness. He originally came from the state of Tennessee. He is survived by his widow; four sons, Jess C. and J. L. Chappelle, of Atlanta; T. L. Chappelle, of Knoxville, and A. B. Chappelle, of Selma, Ala; three daughters, Mrs. J. C. Shivers and Mrs. C. A. Bradford, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Emerson Bush, of Houston, Texas.

Children Need the Extra Help In FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Gives Strength To Throw Off More Serious Illness

Colds, coughs, and other serious illnesses fasten on undernourished children—and hang on and on, as long as the child does not get the kind of food that is needed for strength.

But—when Father John's Medicine is given to the pale, weak, run-down children, they gain weight, color, and the strength to throw off the weakening, dangerous coughs.

Father John's Medicine is such a dependable body-builder because its basis is the purest cod liver oil so blended with other valuable ingredients that its food elements are readily taken up even by those who are weak and run down.

Mrs. E. O. Deery, Jr., 1847 East 36th St., Flatbush, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Father John's Medicine has been a help and safeguard against colds and sickness in our family for three generations. The first time your medicine was used was about 1875 by my mother's mother in Ware, Mass. We have two children, ages six and four, and they have never been sick, which we attribute to the building properties of Father John's Medicine."

HER LITTLE BOY HAD A COUGH DOCTOR PRESCRIBED LINONINE

Doctors Known Nothing Is Equal to Lin-O-Nine for Bad Coughs of Children

IT CAN BE OBTAINED AT LEADING DRUGGISTS

"When I was all worried and alarmed about our little seven-year-old boy's cough and cold, our family doctor came in and right away prescribed Lin-O-Nine, and in no time at all the cough and cold was gone," writes Mrs. Charles H. Voegle, 34 Lincoln Ave., Danbury, Conn. "We have used Lin-O-Nine ever since in our home and I think it is a safe, quick and practical way of throwing off or warding off wintry coughs and colds," continued Mrs. Voegle.

Everybody can get the same quick, sure, safe results by using Lin-O-Nine which most druggists always carry in stock, although nearly every one of them has a favorite cold remedy of his own he prefers to sell. Insist on Lin-O-Nine, the cream/, snowy white emulsion of Eucalyptus, Betula, Cassia, Flaxseed, Irish Moss and Glycerine, flavored like ice cream and delightful to take. Show your own doctor the formula on a 50c or $1 bottle and he'll Okay it quick. If druggist hasn't it, send 50c or dollar bill to nationally known, 45-year-old Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md., for bottle, return mail. Lin-O-Nine is equally good for grown people.—(adv.)

Wear CLEAN Clothes

"How can I make clothes look better and wear longer?"

Keep them exquisitely clean by fine dry cleaning. Not "just any" dry cleaning, for careless methods would surely harm your clothes. But careful, through-and-through dry cleaning—the kinds our plants give—helps clothes wear longer. And how much better they look!

We use hundreds of gallons of cleansing fluid to clean them—till every thread of the fabric is free from soil —free from germs too.

Your Garment Gets Personal Attention

At these plants specialists study your garment. They're experts who know every kind of cloth, and every kind of spot a material can absorb. They handle your garments tenderly as a baby.

Our Finishers are artists in making clothes beautiful. They press the cloth fine and smooth. For wool suits and coats a special molding press shapes the shoulders, front and all curved parts like new. You save money by depending on this fine dry cleaning.

Fine Amusement Program Mapped For Cuban Party

A "magnificent program of entertainment" awaits the Atlanta good will tour to Cuba the middle of this month, according to a cable received Wednesday by Harry O. Mitchell from Colonel J. C. Woodward in which the "largest possible delegation" was urged.

Colonel Woodward, who was general chairman in charge of the recent Cuban good will tour to Atlanta, now is in Havana making final arrangements with Cuban officials for the reception of the Atlanta party, which leaves here March 15.

Elaborate plans are being formulated by local tour officials, who hope to make the trip an outstanding success from every viewpoint. More than 100 reservations already have been made for the trip and this number is increasing daily.

Chemists To Discuss Industrial Growth

Growth of southern industries as an important factor in the field of industrial chemical processes is expected to be an outstanding topic at sessions of the American Chemical Society, which opens it seventy-ninth annual meeting in Atlanta on April 7.

The society's division of industrial and engineering chemistry will hold its general session Tuesday morning, April 8, with Dr. R. E. Wilson, of Chicago, in charge. At this time discussion of industrial chemical processes as practiced in the south will be stressed.

The annual meeting of the American Chemical Society will continue for five days, with headquarters at the Biltmore hotel. The society has a membership of more than 1,700 and embraces within its roster leading scientists and industrial experts of the world. The meeting in Atlanta, being sponsored by the local chapter of the organization, is expected to bring one of the largest gatherings of scientific men ever to be assembled here.

Leading scientific educators and engineers of the nation are scheduled to participate on the program of the five-day annual gathering. A highlight of the convention will be the public session to be held Wednesday night, April 9, featured by an address by Dr. Harrison E. Howe, Washington, D. C., editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry." He will speak on "Chemistry Comes South."

Beaux Arts Group To Sponsor Exhibits

Monthly exhibit programs to be sponsored by the Beaux Arts group of the Studio Club during the first half of the current year were announced Wednesday by Ollivier J. Vinour, of Marye, Alger & Vinour, chairman of the Beaux Arts group.

In co-operation with the Georgia chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the Beaux Arts group of the Studio Club now is conducting an architectural exhibition. This is to be followed by exhibitions of painting, sculpture and arts in trades during the consecutive monthly programs.

The program preceding the present architectural exhibition was on modern interior decoration. The exhibits are displayed at the Studio Club, 104 1-2 Forsyth street. The architectural exhibit is to continue for the first two weeks of this month and is open to the public free of charge between the hours of 12 and 2:30 o'clock during the afternoons from Monday to Friday, inclusive.

Atlanta architects exhibiting are Burge & Stevens, Harold Bush-Brown, Cooper & Cooper, Edwards & Sayward, Hentz, Adler & Shutze, Marye, Alger & Vinour, M. L. Jorgensen, A. Ten Eyck Brown, R. T. Morenus, Pringle & Smith, I. Moscowitz, Cyril B. Smith and W. Elliot Dunwoody, of Macon.

Summer Camp Plans Outlined for 122nd

Captain R. P. Gibson, regular army instructor, 122d infantry, Georgia national guard, outlined the summer camp plans for the regiment at a luncheon for officers on Wednesday at the Ansley hotel. "We are going to have a wonderful camp and we are going to make every minute count," Captain Gibson stated.

The regiment will leave the latter part of July for Fort McClellan, Anniston, Ala., for the annual two weeks encampment. The first week, Captain Gibson said, will be devoted to work on the several ranges—rifle, pistol, machine gun and Howitzer firing. The second week will be devoted largely to field problems and maneuvers.

The Monday drill periods of the regiment are being devoted to preliminary training in preparation for the "grind" in July.

SECOND BAPTIST BODY TO HEAR DR. OGLESBY

Paxon, president of the league. The meeting will be sponsored by Circle C, with Mrs. W. S. Haralson, chairman, and Mrs. Annie Harwell, co-chairman.

HAPEVILLE VOTING

Commissioners' Indorsement Not Unanimous, Hall Says.

Passage of a resolution by the Hapeville city council indorsing the administration of Fulton County Commissioners Etheridge, Gilbert and Hendrix and urging their renomination in the primary was not by unanimous vote, as reported in newspaper accounts, L. V. Hall, councilman of Hapeville, declared Wednesday.

Mr. Hall stated that four of the five members of council were present when the resolution was introduced at the regular session Tuesday night. He said that while there were no dissenting votes, only two members expressed themselves in favor of the measure when brought to vote. Although the resolution was recorded in the city records as having passed without dissenting vote, Councilman Hall contended this did not represent a unanimous approval.

Mr. Hall, in his statement Wednesday, asserted he was not in favor of the measure, although he did not vote against it. He said he was in favor of council urging the citizens of Hapeville to participate in the primary voting, but he was against council's suggesting who to vote for.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF A dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, reliability, long life, low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatterproof glass windshield, Rustless Steel, five steel-spoke wheels, and four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP)—Emphasis given to possibilities of an embargo on rural shipments of wheat to domestic terminals had more or less bearish influence on wheat values today. Explanation from Chairman Legge, of the federal farm board, that congestion of wheat in terminal markets was the chief cause for change of the board's buying policy, and that withdrawal of loan value prices was expected to slow up shipments sufficiently to hold off a threatened embargo were somewhat overlooked.

Farm board auxiliaries apparently did not support the wheat futures market today and with no other aggressive support evident prices headed down grade. Wheat closed unsettled 1 1-2c to 2c a bushel net lower, with corn 1-2c to 1c down, oats unchanged to 3-8c off, and provisions showing 5c to 15c decline.

Setbacks in wheat values formed the rule today from start to finish. Early downturns here received considerable impetus from the fact that the Liverpool market displayed virtual indifference to yesterday's advances in price on this side of the Atlantic. Notice also was taken of a statement credited to Congressman Haugen, chairman of the house committee on agriculture, that there is no chance that congress will pass a bill this session appropriating $25,000,000 to buy wheat for famine relief in China. Moreover, export demand today for wheat from North America amounted to only 400,000 bushels exclusively Canadian, and domestic wheat crop conditions were announced from Washington as good to excellent. About a month ahead of average in some places.

Adding to selling pressure in wheat futures markets here were authoritative estimates indicating that larger population and increased use of wheat are not keeping pace with more active world wide growing of crops. Excluding Russia, average world crops of wheat for the last three seasons were figured at 3,544,000,000 bushels compared to average crops of 3,032,000,000 bushels six seasons ago. Acreage of 230,000,000 against 211,000,000, and yield per acre 15.4 compared to 14.4. On the other hand estimates which also were circulated that North American stocks of wheat are now 643,000,000 bushels against 660,000,000 bushels at this time last year, failed to give the market any perceptible stimulus.

Corn, oats and rye markets sagged owing to sympathy with wheat weakness. Rye touched a new low price record for the season.

Despite upturns in hog values provisions eased down on account of declines in grain.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—Under the leadership of United States government obligations, most of which touched new 1930 highs, the bond market gave a rather impressive demonstration of strength today. Numerous prime rails changed hands in large blocks and the average ten carriers made the best gain of the year.

Pronounced ease in credit was behind the upturn. Not only did money rates again manifest a downward tendency, but bankers' acceptances were reduced and supplies of call funds were plentiful at the renewal charge of 4 per cent.

Governments made the largest turnover in some time. The Liberty 3 1-2s and fourth 4 1-4s, as well as all the listed treasuries, touched new 1930 peaks and closing quotations were generally at the top. The strongest issue was the treasury 3 3-4 which rose 27-32 of a point ot 105.11, while the treasury 4s went to 108.2 for a net advance of 21-32. Gains in the Liberties were smaller.

Low coupon rails attracted a brisk demand. Chesapeake & Ohio 4 1-2s and Chicago & Northwestern General 3 1-2s, made new high ground for the year, the latter rising 2 3-8. New York Central obligations, Nickel Plate 4 1-2s, Kansas City Southern first 3s, New Haven 4 1-2s, Pennsylvania 4 1-2s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s and general 3s, Southern Railway 4s, St. Louis & San Francisco prior lien 4s, Wabash 4 1-2s and Louisville & Nashville 4 1-2s likewise enjoyed the best buying seen in several weeks.

Investment utilities, which closely follow the prime rails, met a quieter market, but there was sufficient inquiry to bring out better than average gains in Cincinnati Gas & Electric 4s, New York Edison 6 1-2s, Montana Power 5s, and Illinois Bell Telephone 5s. NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—A renewal or continuation of the recent selling movement promoted by weakness in Liverpool and the unsettled ruling of wheat, was reflected by a sharp decline in the cotton market today. Prices for all months made new deliveries selling off to 14.74 or 31 low records for the season, with May points below yesterday's closing quotation and nearly 5 1-2c a pound under the high price of last September. May closed at 14.75, with the general market closing easy at net declines of 19 to 30 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 7 to 15 points and soon showed net losses of 16 to 17 points under liquidation or reselling by recent buyers who were evidently influenced by lower Liverpool cables than expected and declines in wheat. Some stop orders were uncovered and after their execution prices stiffened up on trade buying and covering. This caused rallies of about 8 to 12 points from the lowest but the buying tapered off on the advance, which was evidently a disappointment to early buyers or people who had carried contracts over the decline. At any rate, the market hesitated and showed renewed weakness later, with prices reaching the lowest points in the day and season in the late trading when the selling became somewhat more active. March broke to 14.52 and closed nominal at 14.47, while the old October contract sold off to 15.14 and close at that figure. The general market closed within a point or two of the lowest.

Liverpool cables said there had been continental and Bombay liquidation, together with short selling, in that market and reported a pessimistic tone in the Manchester goods trade owing to lack of confidence in current prices, and said that yarn sales were below production.

Houses with Liverpool connections were among the sellers here during the early trading and there was scattered selling on the further decline in wheat, but much of the pressure was attributed to further liquidation inspired by the failure of advances to attract a more aggressive demand. The report of the senate sub-committee recommending amendments to the cotton futures act came in for some considerable discussion, but was not generally mentioned in connection with the immediate action of the market.

Exports today 10,693, making 5,507,895 so far this season. Port receipts 9,316. U. S. port stocks 2,098,540.

SPOTS DROP AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—(AP)—Cotton prices declined about $2 a bale today under extensive liquidation and ring-selling induced by lower wheat and a depressing consumption outlook. Although prices rallied at times on trade buying the improvements did not hold and the close was at the lowest. May opened at 14.83 and eased off to 14.58, losing at the latter figure for a net loss of 40 points. The general market closed steady at the decline and 32 to 40 points net lower.

Liverpool cables were considerably lower than due and influenced a weak opening here. Initial transactions showed losses of 15 to 28 points and prices continued to decline in early trading in sympathy with another sinking spell in wheat. By the end of the first hour active positions showed losses of 28 to 32 points with July at 14.95 and October 15.07.

Following a rally of 8 to 9 points on trade buying, the market weakened again and by early afternoon May traded at 14.65 and active positions generally to levels 32 to 33 points under yesterday's close.

In the final hour the market sagged rather sharply under further liquidation and selling by recent buyers owing to the poor consumption outlook. Active months made new lows for the day at 14.82 for July and 15.03 for October or 36 to 42 points under the precious close. Final prices were at or near the bottom.

Receipts 4,021; for week 36,351; for year 7,737,428; last year 8,552,254; exports 7,918; for week 93,714; for year 5,381,871; last year 6,190,090; stocks 2,170,051; last year 1,971,224. Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—The level of share prices rose further in today's stock market, only to find the structure weakened by the rather cheerless character of current business reports, and to burst forth in a torrent of liquidation which reduced the level substantially below yesterday's close.

The sudden reversal of the movement came late in the day, and appeared to be precipitated by a bear drive. The bear drive, however, owed its success to the psychological effects of the continued unsettlement of the commodity markets, Secretary Davis' report on unemployment, the slight retarding of steel mill activity and unimpressive February merchandise sales reports and freight car loadings. Although the market has remained a highly professional affair, the selling assumed large proportions. Total sales were 3,715,090 shares, exceeded only four times since the first of the year.

Net losses at the close were not large, generally running from 1 to 4 points, but among issues closing 2 or more points lower were about a dozen of the leading utilities and industrials. The utilities bore the brunt of the selling, which was to have been expected in view of the sharp advances in this group during the past few days.

News Not All Bad.

The day's news was not altogether cheerless. Credit conditions continued to ease, and there was a growing conviction in Wall Street that a lower rediscount rate will be announced within a short time by the New York Federal Reserve bank. Call money held at 4 per cent, but was available in the outside market as low as 3. Time money and bankers' acceptances displayed an easy tone.

Reports from the petroleum industry were distinctly more pleasing. Crude oil production last week took one of the most decided downturns in recent months. Statistics of gasoline in storage for January showed another large accumulation of stocks, but the federal oil conservation board's recommendation for suspension of refining on one day a week, while not meeting with universal approval, was at once adopted by the Standard Oil Co.

FOX CLAIMS VICTORY IN REFINANCE PLAN

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—Postponing until tomorrow the announcement of the vote on a refinancing plan for the Fox film enterprises, stockholders of Fox Films Corporation tonight adjourned their meeting. The adjournment came shortly after they had cast their ballots on a modified plan put forward by a bankers' group headed by Bancamerica-Blair Corporation.

Counsel for William Fox and the bankers who proposed the plan claimed that an overwhelming victory for them was assured by the vote. They insisted that foes of the plan, led by Harry L. Stuart, of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and John B. Otterson, of the Electrical Research Products Corporation, had been unable to muster enough proxies to defeat the Fox plan and thus open a possible way for the adoption of a plan favored by them.

Stuart Votes Stock.

A supreme court justice today denied Fox's attempt to prevent his co-trustees, Otterson and Stuart, from voting 50,100 shares of Fox Film stock at the meeting tonight. The justice held that Otterson and Stuart were entitled under a voting trust agreement with Fox to vote the stock. Despite this ruling, Fox tonight voted this stock, which was also voted by his co-trustees. In the minds of expert observers this was a further legal complication in the confusion attendant upon the financial affairs of the huge film concern.

Subsidiary Meeting.

After the meeting of Fox Film stockholders, the stockholders of Fox Theatres Corporation, a subsidiary, also went into session to vote upon the bankers' plan, which was put forward to save the Fox enterprises from a receivership.

After casting their ballots the stockholders of the subsidiary company also adjourned without an announcement of the results.

Mr. Fox and the co-trustees protested each other's action in voting the disputed stock and both meetings developed acrimonious disputes in which lawyers, Mr. Fox and other stockholders joined. The dissension spread to a committee named to tabulate the proxies. Two of the tellers insisted the proxies could not be counted until Friday, but Mr. Fox overruled them, declaring that question was not for them to settle.

Despite the fact that Mr. Fox claimed two-thirds of the proxies, counsel for the Halsey, Stuart, American Telephone interests asserted that under the trusteeship upheld this morning in supreme court, Fox had agreed to turn in the resignation of the present board of directors, controlled by him, so that the trustees could elect a new board.

The new refinancing plan for the William Fox companies was accepted today by the directors of the Fox Film Corporation, as the stockholders met to vote on ways and means of aiding the corporation in its current difficulties.

Proposal.

The proposal, offered by the Bancamerica-Blair banking group, eliminated from the bankers' previous plan a $25,000,000 issue of preferred stock and substituted an offering of 1,250,000 shares of common to be offered at $20 a share. This plan, counsel for the banking group said, did not require legal action of the stockholders. Although it was to be submitted for their approval. The $40,000,000 issue of debentures provided by the original Bancamerica proposal would be returned, although the bonds would carry stock purchase warrants instead of a conversion privilege.

Untermeyer Statement.

While the shareholders were voting on the new proposal, Samuel Untermeyer said that Fox and his friends held proxies for 622,000 shares out of slightly more than 800,000 voted at the meeting.

The new plan was submitted to and approved by the directors after a supreme court decision had given two trustees, H. L. Stuart, of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and John E. Otterson, president of Electric Research Products, Inc., authority to vote the Class B shares held in escrow. Mr. Fox is third trustee.

A new party to the controversy appeared in the General Theaters Equipment Company today, siding with the Halsey-Stuart interests. Harley L. Clarke, president of the General Theaters, announced that his company had committed itself to underwrite the entire issue of 1,500,000 shares of Class A stock as proposed by the Halsey-Stuart plan. General Theaters is a leading manufacturer of motion picture machines and equipment.

DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

Cotton Sinks To Lowest Level Since May, 1927—Steel Irregular—Fox Film Battle At Crucial Point—Vermont Proposes Tax Bill Curbing Chain Stores.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Cotton early in the day made a new low since May, 1927, and wheat was down a couple of cents, afterward recovering some. Stocks showed more of an inclination to break away from the commodity markets. Easier money was responsible for gains of from 1 to 3 points or more in leading industrial, public utility and railroad shares. Time money was a shade lower. There was plenty of outside call money at 3 1-2 per cent early in the day. Rumors were heard that $35,000,000 gold was coming from Japan in the next fortnight in addition to the $40,000,000 recently received from that country by San Francisco.

Irregularity was marked in the steel industry during the past week, according to today's reviews. However, it was added that the steel trade is confident that the present interlude will be followed by a revival of activity with the coming of spring.

Shortly before Fox shareholders went into their special meeting at 11 o'clock to vote on whether or not the Bancamerica-Blair-Lehman Brothers reorganization plan would be accepted Supreme Court Justice Levy handed down a decision refusing to grant an injuction asked for by Fox restraining John Otterson and H. L. Stuart, as trustees, from voting the B stock deposited with the Bankers' Trust Company under the agreement made late last August making Fox the third trustee. As Otterson and Stuart represent Halsey, Stuart & Co. and the Western Electric, Wall Street concluded that Fox had lost his fight. Later in the day, however, when the votes were counted, it was found that Fox had voted two-thirds of the outstanding stock, which includes 100,000 shares of B and 920,000 shares of A. This means that the Bancamerica plan, which has again been modified, will be carried out, raising funds to pay off all indebtedness, the result of which will be to terminate the existing trust agreement. New trustees will be appointed under the Bancamerica-Lehman-Blair plan, but Fox has won his fight to prevent a receivership and has succeeded in ousting the Halsey, Stuart & Co., Western Electric, American Telephone interests.

Modified Plan.

Under the modified Bancamerica-Blair-Lehman Brothers plan the original plan to issue $25,000,000 preferred stock has been dropped. Fox shareholders instead will be offered 1,250,000 shares of stock at $20 a share.

William Fox personally owns 50,100 shares of the Fox Film Class B voting stock. That stock was deposited as collateral for a loan which was the basis of the trustee agreement made with Halsey, Stuart and the Western Electric Company late last autumn when the $91,000,000 floating debts of the Fox Film Company began to make trouble. Fox will get his Class B voting stock back when debts are paid from the funds to be raised under the Bancamerica-Blair-Lehman reorganization plan. Samuel Untermeyer, who has been conducting the fight Fox has been making against Halsey, Stuart & Co. and the Western Electric Company, stated today, after the special Fox stockholders' meeting, that over $10,000,000 of Fox Film debts have already been taken up by the Bancamerica-Blair-Lehman group. Untermyer stated further that Fox had recently refused to sell his Class B voting stock to Halsey, Stuart & Co. and Western Electric for $15,000,000. He added that the Fox Film Company had been advised that the 15-year contract held by Western Electric to supply Fox Film with talking movie picture apparatus is invalid and that Fox Film is free to purchase equipment from competitors of Western Electric.

Sheehan's Statement.

One interesting feature of today's news in the Fox fight was a quarter-page advertisement appearing in the morning papers signed by Vice President and General Manager Winfield Sheehan, of Fox Film, and other Fox officials approving the Halsey, Stuart reorganization plan. Apparently Sheehan and other Fox Film officials signing this advertisement, including Vice President and General Counsel Rogers, guessed wrong as to how today's counting of proxies would come out. Sheehan has been active in building up Fox Film.

Recently Vermont proposed a bill providing for a gross sales tax which was intended as a curb to chain stores. This bill, however, appears to have died a natural death for it never became a law. Today's dispatches from Frankfort indicate that Kentucky picked up where Vermont left off by passing a bill providing for a tax of 1-20th of 1 per cent on all gross sales under $400,000 with the rate graduating upward until stores with annual sales of $1,000,000 will pay 1 per cent. As Governor Sampson proposed the law, undoubtedly he will sign the bill just passed. In some states somewhat similar legislation has been declared unconstitutional. It remains to be seen how far Kentucky will go in its protecting of local merchants who move at a slower pace than the local links in nationwide chain stores. If the law stands its effect will be to force the chain stores to raise their selling prices to cover the necessary sales tax. Hence the consumer will pay the tax, the object of which is to cut down the advantage that chain stores have over local small merchants because of mass buying and more modern methods of distribution, including cash sales. In the long run the fight between local merchants and chain stores will be settled on the basis of which method affords the most advantage to the public as a whole.

Interest Rate Down.

A further downward trend in interest rates, including bankers' acceptances, is responsible for resumed talk of another reduction in the rediscount rate here now, 4 per cent against 6 before the stock market panic last autumn. In view of the existing level of general trade it is not surprising that the trend of interest rates is downward. Recently foreign exchange, especially sterling, has been headed downward against the regular seasonal trend. There are good reasons for believing that the federal reserve does not want to add to its gold holdings and also that England does not want to lose gold. A further drop in the rediscount rate here even if the Bank of England reduced its rate from 4 1-2 to 4 would influence the international gold movement.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, March 5.—A firmer tone developed in the raw sugar market today and prices advanced 1-16c with refiners showing more interest. The better tone was due to uncertainty over the tariff bill, which seemed to create a little more interest on the part of buyers with sales for the day reported of at least 127,100 bags of duty frees. Of the total, 30,100 bags of Porto Rican for prompt shipment sold at 3.49; 58,000 bags of Porto Rican and 18,000 bags of Philippines for March arrival at 3.55, all to refiners, while operators bought 7,000 bags of Philippines for April and May at 3.58 and 14,000 bags at 3.60.

Reports that the senate would vote on an amendment to the tariff bill providing for an increase in the duty on sugar had a strengthening effect in the raw futures and caused active covering and a scarcity of offerings. These were confirmed after the close of the market when Washington advices said that the Smoot amendment to the tariff bill raising the rates on Cuban sugar to 2c a pound from the present rate of 1.76 and the world rate to 2.50 from 2.20, had been adopted by the senate. In the meantime there was active covering and some trade and commission house buying and after opening 2 to 3 points higher prices continued to advance with only occasional setbacks of a point or two under realizing, with closing prices at about the best of the day and from 6 to 9 points above the previous close. Approximate sales 56,500 tons. March closed 1.67, May 1.76, July 1.81, September 1.89, December 1.98, January 1.99, March, 1930, 2.04.

Refined was a little more active but the demand was still limited to nearby requirements. Prices were unchanged at 4.85 for fine granulated.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—Cottonseed oil futures ruled lower owing to the decline in cotton, lard and grain. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 7.75, down 10 points and prime crude closed at 7.00 to 7.12½. Futures closed easy; March 7.80; May 7.90; July 8.00; September 8.20; October 8.30.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Cottonseed oil was dull and easy today, closing 5 to 12 points lower with May, September and October contracts touching new low levels for the season. Liquidation in May met only a limited volume of support from refiners. Depression in the other positions reflected scattered commission house and local selling in response to the weakness of grains, cotton and lard. Sales 5,600 barrels. Prime crude 7.12½; prime summer yellow spot 8.20; March 8.30, May 8.55, July 8.85, September 9.03, October 9.00.

MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 5.—Cottonseed futures closed steady. Closing bids: March 36.00; May 36.50; July 36.25; September 36.00; October 35.75. Sales 400 tons. Cottonseed meal futures closed steady. Closing bids: March 32.90; May 33.00; July 33.35; September 33.50; October 33.50. Sales 1,600 tons.

Coffee.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Coffee futures were rather irregular today with most deliveries lower under scattered selling which probably reflected uncertainty as to Brazilian election results and expectations of increased receipts at Santos. No. 7 contracts opened 3 points higher. Sales 12,000. Santos opened 3 points higher to 7 points lower and closed 6 to 14 points lower. Sales 22,000. Closing quotations: No. 7 contracts: March 8.69, May 8.40, July 8.10, September 7.89, December 7.70. Santos contracts, March 13.38, May 12.70, July 12.14, September 11.60, December 11.20.

Spot coffee quiet. Rio 7s 10¼; Santos 4s 14¼ to 14½.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Cotton slipped further to new low levels for the season today due to a renewal of the liquidating and selling movement which has been under way for several days. On this decline New York lost about $1.50 a bale while New Orleans lost about $2 to conform to the decline which occurred in other markets Tuesday while that market was closed.

The selling movement was not heavy but was rather persistent. There was no fresh news to induce the selling but recent reports of large sales of fertilizer tags and statement from the weather bureau that preparation for planting is making good progress revived talk of a large acreage and discouraged buying. The prediction of a decrease of about 900,000 bales in the year's consumption from the Garside bureau issued yesterday was another important factor. Dry goods news was also discouraging.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, March 5.—After a decline of 20 points on the opening on renewed general liquidation started by the weakness in Liverpool, market settled down into one of the dullest sessions in weeks.

Feeble rallies of 10 points met little outside support. Buying was principally trade and profit taking by shorts. Selling increased in the afternoon, prices declining another 10 points. Market closed easy at the low 30 down on the day. There is little buying other than trade fixing from any quarter with traders generally watching developments in Washington and news from the south as to acreage to be planted.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: March 786; May 789.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, March 5.—After starting lower on disappointing cables the market was called upon to absorb selling for Wall Street, local and western account. The south and spot interests were also sellers. The buying came from old resting limits and moderate trade buying on a scale down. This was insufficient to stem the tide and closing prices were at the low for the day. Net declines ranged from 26 to 32 points. Absence of outside demand and the failure of the market to show rallying power would indicate that still lower prices are likely to be seen.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, March 5.—In today's session of the cotton market sentiment was quite bearish. A report of the recommendation of the senate sub-committee investigating cotton exchanges, that power be given to close exchanges at the will of individuals, produced a further feeling of uncertainty. Weakness in the Liverpool market and easier prices for wheat had influence.

This must may be said: The lower the price goes the greater should be the cut in acreage and the greater the consumption will be. Cotton bought at anything like these prices and well margined, should prove a good investment.

May Liverpool due 7.90.

H. & B. BEER.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The cotton market remained under pressure today. Cables were lower than due, there was a further decline in wheat, exports for the day were light, a consumption estimate was evidently considered unfavorable and the weekly weather and crop government report was rather more favorable than otherwise. New low price levels for thus far this season were established, at about which level the market closed.

Liverpool cabled, "Continental and Bombay liquidation, and locals sold on pessimistic Manchester reports." Manchester cabled, "Buyers of cloth cautious, yarn sales below production." Garside estimates world's consumption of American cotton during January, exclusive of linters and subject to slight revision, at 1,202,000 bales against 1,062,000 in December and 1,346,000 in January last year, and for first half of season, from August 1 to January 31, approximately 7,127,000 bales, compared with 7,619,000 for same period last season.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, March 5.—This afternoon's sharp reaction was much more significant than the earlier irregular progress of the market—because it immediately followed publication of the Iron Age statement on the steel industry which was less optimistic in tone than the comments of that authority have been for many weeks. Through most of the past four or five weeks the market has evidenced an apparent indifference to adverse trade reports. That it responded today is an indication of a possible change in this attitude of indifference toward fundamentals.

The downward trend in practically all commodities has been of more far-reaching importance than is generally realized. This together with the downward trend in all indici of manufactured goods and the comparatively low level of business activity, spell lower profits and the latter is a factor which no stock market has ever been known long to ignore.

H. & B. BEER.

NEW YORK, March 5.—There was more weak buying in the market this morning than has been seen for some time and the weakness toward the close was a natural aftermath. Stocks lost ground for the day and at the close were only a little distance above the afternoon's lows. The movement seemed to be entirely technical with nothing but routine news and the possibility of favorable action tomorrow in reducing of English or American re-discount rates. We would take advantage of any carryover of the weakness to buy the good issues. Among these, we particularly like industrial leaders, such as Westinghouse, American Can; utility leaders, such as Consolidated Gas, Electric Power & Light and American Power & Light; chemical leaders, such as Union Carbide and Air Reduction; rail leaders, such as New York Central; specialties, such as Underwood Elliott Fisher, Paramount, Vanadium; food stocks, such as National Biscuit, Loose-Wiles and General Foods, and other issues from the groups which we have recently recommended. The position of the tobacco stocks is particularly favorable. The best stocks in this group are American Tobacco, Liggett & Myers, Lorillard and Reynolds.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Considerable importance was attached to a rather unfavorable Iron Age review today as the steel industry so far this year has supplied one of the main supports to the advance in stock prices. Steels perhaps were slightly heavier than the average, as was to be expected.

There are at present bearing on the stock market the bullish factors of credit and technical position and the bearish factor of business unsettlement. The former are probably strong enough to prevent anything in the nature of a severe general decline, but until business improves again an important advance hardly seems probable. One of the characteristics of the situation, however, is the prosperity of a few individual industries, notably the utility, tobacco, motion picture, electrical equipment, chemical, chain store and agricultural equipment.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

NEW YORK, March 5.—So long as trade news from leading centers continues to indicate no important recovery, it is logical for the stock market to remain irregular due to selling on strong spots by interests who feel that the state of general business does not warrant an important upturn at this time.

Another stock which offers attractive possibilities at current levels is Bush Terminal. European forwarding business in the past has been handled by numerous small companies, but late last year Bush Terminal acquired a majority interest in Lassen & Company, a Swiss holding company controlling 54 European distributing agencies.

We consider Texas Pacific Land Trust certificates as an attractive speculation in the low-priced oil group. We favor the purchase of selected issues on any further market unsettlement today, including United States Steel, Radio, Consolidated Gas, Union Carbide, Warner Brothers, Westinghouse, General Electric, Mack Truck, Harvester, Paramount.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF SYDNEY

Twenty-five Year 5½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Dated February 1, 1930 Due February 1, 1955

Authorized $10,000,000. Coupon Bonds in denominations of $1,000—Definitive Bonds registerable as to principal only. Principal and semi-annual interest, February 1 and August 1, payable in New York City at the principal office of The Bank of America, N. A. in U. S. Gold Coin of or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness, without deduction (as to holders not domiciled in Australia) for any taxes of the Municipal Council of Sydney, the State of New South Wales or the Commonwealth of Australia, or of any taxing authority thereof or therein; or with provision for repayment of such taxes as provided in the Fiscal Agency Agreement. Redeemable other than for Sinking Fund on any interest date beginning February 1, 1945 as a whole only at 100 and accrued interest upon 30 days' notice.

Cumulative sinking fund of ½ of 1% per annum operating semi-annually through purchases in the market at or below 100 and accrued interest or by drawings by lot at 100 and interest.

The following information has been obtained from official sources:

THE CITY OF SYDNEY, founded in 1788, is the capital of the State of New South Wales and chief commercial and financial center of the Commonwealth of Australia. The government of the City is the Municipal Council of Sydney. The Metropolitan Area of which the City is the center, has a population of 1,127,000, including 47 other municipalities and one shire; it also includes the principal port of the Commonwealth which serves as an outlet for large agricultural and mineral production and has an annual overseas trade in excess of $500,000,000, or about 40% of the total for Australia.

In the City proper, which includes the principal financial and commercial institutions and which has a resident population of over 100,000, the unimproved capital value of land subject to taxation, as valued by the Municipal Council, is $351,000,000, while the improved value is about $944,000,000. This compares with an unimproved value of $580,468,000 and an improved value of $1,589,584,000 for the rest of the Metropolitan Area.

In addition to the Council's revenues from taxation it derives revenues from properties which it owns, notably from its Electricity Undertaking, which supplies current to the City and to 43 other municipalities comprising 771 square miles of the area and 977,000 of the population in the Metropolitan Area. This Undertaking has, for each of the past five years, yielded net earnings available for interest which have more than covered interest on indebtedness incurred for its benefit. Other revenue producing properties are also owned by the City.

FINANCES: On December 31, 1929 the net funded debt of the Municipal Council of Sydney was $96,500,000. The Electricity Undertaking and other revenue producing properties owned by the Council are valued at about $104,500,000. The Council also owns municipal buildings and other properties valued at $5,000,000.

The Municipal Council has power to levy taxes up to the equivalent of 9% of the fair average annual rental, plus 1¼% of the unimproved capital value of land, or alternatively up to 2.5% of the unimproved value of such property. The present rate is 1.46% on such value.

For the year ended December 31, 1929, preliminary figures indicate that the gross revenues of the Council amounted to $20,473,000 and expenditures to $19,223,000 over one-half of which were received or disbursed in connection with the Electricity Undertaking.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of the present issue of Bonds will be used by the Municipal Council principally for the extension of its Electricity Undertaking.

DIRECT OBLIGATION: These Bonds will constitute the direct and unconditional obligation of the Municipal Council of Sydney and will be a general charge, with other obligations, upon its corporate rates and revenues none of which are subject to any charge prior to the general charge securing these Bonds. The Council covenants that if, while any of these Bonds remain outstanding, it shall issue any loan, bonds or other obligations secured by any superior charge on or pledge of any of its rates, revenues or assets, these Bonds will be secured equally and ratably with such loan, bonds or other obligations.

STATE OF NEW SOUTH WALES has the largest population of any of the states of The Commonwealth of Australia, with over 2,400,000 inhabitants or almost 40% of the total. New South Wales produces over three-fourths of the coal and about two-thirds in value of the entire mineral output of Australia and has approximately half of the sheep, in the raising of which that country leads the world. It is also an important producer of wheat.

It is expected that application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

All conversions in the above have been made at the rate of $4.8665 to the pound sterling.

We offer the above bonds when as and if issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of our counsel. It is expected that delivery will be made in the first instance in the form of temporary bonds or interim receipts.

Price 90 and accrued interest to yield about 6.30%

Friday evening, March 14, a number of dinners will take place prior to the barn dance at the Officers' Club.

Captain John R. Dinsmore and Mrs. Dinsmore will be hosts at an informal buffet supper at their quarters. The guests will include Major Augustus B. Joens and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McGowan, Major Harvard Moore and Mrs. Moore, Major J. Vincent Falisi and Mrs. Falisi, Captain Druid E. Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler, Captain Charles Brice and Mrs. Brice, Captain Thomas H. Ramsey and Mrs. Ramsey, and Captain Albert G. Wing and Mrs. Wing.

Major Ward E. Duvall and Mrs. Duvall will entertain at dinner the same evening in honor of Major General Frank Ross McCoy and Mrs. McCoy, and Brigadier General George H. Estes and Mrs. Estes. Covers will be placed for 12 members of the military set.

General McCoy and Mrs. McCoy have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Norman James, of Baltimore, Md. Mr. and Mrs. James will remain at the garrison until Saturday.

Miss Lorraine Richardson returned Wednesday from a visit to Fort Benning where she was the guest of Captain Benjamin Beavers and Mrs. Beavers.

Captain James Donahue has returned from a month's leave spent in Miami, Fla.

Major Roland Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler and their mother, Mrs. Robert Blakeman, and their small daughters, Lenora and Yancy Ann, returned by motor Tuesday from a two-month stay in Florida.

Colonel Lochlin W. Caffey and Captain Herbert F. Teate and Captain William Sharp left Wednesday for Camp McClellan, Ala., where Captain Teate and Captain Sharp will bear duty with the machine companies. After a brief inspection Colonel Caffey will return to the post.

General Estes, accompanied by Mrs. Estes, will leave Tuesday for an inspection trip to Columbus, Ga.

Captain Thomas R. Ramsey and Mrs. Ramsey entertained at an informal buffet supper at their quarters at the post Wednesday evening. The table was overlaid with a cloth of Italian cut work and filet. In the center was a silver bowl of blue hyacinths and yellow jonquils. The guests numbered 16 members of the army set later attended the bowling matches at the post bowling alleys.

Mrs. Carswell Weds W. E. Tate At First Baptist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hardin Ervin have issued cards announcing the marriage of their sister, Mrs. Myrtle Baggett Carswell to William Edwin Tate, the ceremony taking place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the First Baptist church, with the Rev. E. A. Fuller, pastor of the church, officiating. Only a small group of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a dinner party, after which the bride and groom left for a wedding journey. They will be at home after March 17 at 1410 Peachtree street.

Miss Patricia Patterson attended the bride as maid of honor and Vivian Davis Corbley, of Cincinnati, Ohio, acted as best man. Miss Patterson wore a modish gown of Lucerne blue chiffon and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. The bride's gown was fashioned of deep cream chiffon and she carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Mr. Tate and his bride have a wide circle of friends who will be interested in the announcement of their marriage. Mr. Tate is a leader in war veteran circles in this city, being a past national commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War. He is prominently identified with the work of the Disabled War Veterans and the American Legion in North Carolina as well as in Georgia. He is a native of Belton, S. C., and is a graduate of Furman University at Greenville, S. C. He is now employed by the state of Georgia in the veterans' service office.

The bride is a native of Columbus, Miss., but for the past 12 years has resided in Atlanta. She is an unusually attractive young woman and has a host of friends.

Miss Margaret Nelson Honors N. Y. Visitors At Buffet Supper

Miss Margaret Nelson was hostess last evening at a buffet dinner party at her home on Fifteenth street in Ansley Park, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cluett III, of New York, who are her guests en route from New Orleans, where they attended Mardi Gras.

The home was beautifully decorated with quantities of spring flowers, including jonquils, sweet peas, snapdragons and quantities of pink roses. In the dining room the table was overlaid with a real lace cloth and in the center was a large silver basket filled with pink roses.

Miss Nelson was assisted in entertaining the guests by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Nelson, and her sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Errol Eckford, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Nelson Reams.

Miss Nelson wore a gown of printed chiffon, gracefully draped from the waistline. She wore a corsage of orchids and valley lilies. Mrs. Nelson was gowned in black chiffon, made on long lines. Her corsage was of valley lilies and orchids. Mrs. Cluett wore a gown of beige lace and her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Cluett will be remembered as Miss Catherine Morehead, of Charlotte, N. C., and she has often visited in Atlanta as the guest of Miss Nelson. Before returning to New York Mrs. Cluett will spend several weeks in Charlotte.

Miss Schanzenbacher Weds H. C. Bryant In Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 5.—The marriage of Miss Mildred Schanzenbacher, of Louisville, Ky., to Hayden C. Bryant, of Atlanta, took place Saturday afternoon, February 22, at the Market Street Methodist church, the Rev. E. J. Pfieffer officiating.

Miss Lillian Wahking was the maid of honor and Miss Louise Atterbach, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Herbert Wright served as Mr. Bryant's best man. The ushers were Wade Bryant, brother of the groom, and Henry Wilkins.

The bride wore a model of cream lace and white satin. The neck was round in front and formed a deep V in the back. The skirt was ankle length, the waistline being defined by narrow flounces. Her tulle veil was arranged cap shape and held in place with a crown of pearls. She carried a bridal shower bouquet of roses and white sweet peas.

A reception for the family and a few close friends followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Baroness avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant left later in the evening for Atlanta. They are making their home at 677 Somerset terrace.

Mrs. Bryant was formerly a kindergarten teacher in the Louisville public schools. She is a graduate of the Louisville Normal school, the class of 1928. Mr. Bryant is connected with the Fulton county school system in the science department of the Russell High school. He is a graduate of Emory University, class of 1925, and the University of Chicago, class of 1929.

Music Association Luncheon Boosts Membership Drive

The Atlanta Music Association gave a luncheon Wednesday at the Henry Grady hotel, complimenting the captains and their workers in the campaign for the 1930-31 members. Honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Adams, concert organists, pianists, composers and lecturers; Miss Martha Whittemore, concert 'cellist; Miss Helen Coyne Riley, director of the Atlanta Music Center, and J. L. McGriff, field representative of the Civic Concert Service, of Chicago.

Campaign speeches were made by Eugene R. Black, president of the association, Mr. McGriff and Wilmer L. Moore. Mr. and Mrs. Adams praised highly the Atlanta Music Club for its work toward the cultivated musical taste in the community. Mrs. Wilmer Moore, in a gracious speech, introduced Mr. McGriff, who aroused lively enthusiasm by asking all present to pledge themselves to bring in at least one new member.

Mrs. B. N. Jordan Honors Daughter.

Mrs. Binion N. Jordan entertained yesterday at her home on Clifton road, Druid Hills, in honor of her little daughter, Doris, who celebrated her eleventh birthday. The 12 little friends present were Jewel Morris, Elizabeth Stone, Jean and Betty Wilson, Eleanor and Cordell Goodpasture, Doris Warnock, Frank Warnock, Inez Heath, Dorothy Campbell and Annie Ruth Jordan. Assisting Mrs. Jordan in entertaining were her mother, Mrs. G. W. Hammett, and her niece, Miss Agnes Humphrey.

Miss Poole Weds Dr. Atkins

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Miller Atkins, whose wedding was solemnized yesterday at a beautiful ceremony at the home of the bride's cousins, Dr. and Mrs. William C. Warren, on West Peachtree street. The bride was formerly Miss Gray Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Poole, and is numbered among Atlanta's most popular members of younger society. Dr. Atkins is one of Atlanta's most prominent young physicians and, like his bride, enjoys wide popularity in southern society. Dr. and Mrs. Atkins left immediately after the ceremony for a visit to Florida and Cuba.—Photograph by George Cornett, staff photographer.

High Museum Beaux Arts Group Opens Georgia Exhibit With Tea

The Beaux Arts group of the High Museum of Art, of which Mrs. Henry B. Scott is chairman, will entertain at tea from 4 to 6 o'clock Monday afternoon, March 10, at the formal opening of the exhibition of the Georgia Association of Artists which will be on view through April 1. The exhibit and tea are open to the public.

Members of the Beaux Arts group, who act as hostesses at the various exhibition previews of the museum are: Mesdames Frank M. Inman, Ten Eyck Brown, Thomas P. Hinman, Thomas K. Glenn, Dudley Cowles, Eugene R. Black, Gordon P. Kiser, William H. Kiser, Dunbar Roy, Walter Andrews, Alex C. King, Jr., Cliff C. Hatcher, Walter T. Colquitt, Shepard Bryan, Frank K. Boland, Hal F. Hentz, Lewis P. Skidmore, Charles Sciple, H. Frank West, Hugh Richardson, Walter C. Hill, Phinizy Calhoun, W. F. Shallenberger, Wilmer Moore, Gray Zalinski, John M. Slaton, James Goodrum, Osgood Wynne, Clark Howell and Miss Mae Haverty.

The exhibition of the Georgia Association of Artists comes to Atlanta from Savannah, where it was shown at the Telfare academy; Macon, where it was on view at the Washington Memorial library; Athens, where it was seen at Memorial hall, the University of Georgia. From the High Museum it will be shown in Augusta at the Woman's Club and also in Columbus.

The Georgia Association of Artists, which is affiliated with the Southern States Art Association, was organized last year to promote the work of Georgia artists and to afford the public exhibitions of the best in the field of art. The collection is the only temporary one for which the permanent collection in the Telfare academy, Savannah, has ever been removed. The Georgia association held a commendable exhibit here last year. The High Museum of Art is open to the public from 9 until 12 o'clock and from 1 until 4 o'clock throughout the week; from 7 until 9 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and from 3 to 5 o'clock on Sundays. Lewis P. Skidmore is director of the institution.

Pen Women Plan First Book Review

Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin, president of the Atlanta branch, League of American Pen Women, announces the first of the book review luncheons, which will be held at regular intervals by the Atlanta branch, will take place Saturday, March 8, at Vanity Fair tea room on Peachtree street at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Myrta Lockett Avary, dean of Atlanta's women writers and former reviewer on the staff of one of America's leading magazines, will outline her method of reviewing. Miss Jessie Hopkins, of Carnegie Library, has been asked to give briefly her estimate of current fiction. Another outstanding literateur who will have a part on the program is Miss Agnes Gary, who will read from her own poems.

Reservations must be made by 3 o'clock Friday afternoon by calling Mrs. J. B. Moore at Walnut 2651.

Mr. and Mrs. Childs Entertain at Home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Childs entertained at a bridge-supper at their home on Monday evening in honor of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Childs, of Chicago, Ill. Those invited were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Zeagler, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williams, Mr and Mrs. John Langford, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Stokely, Mrs. Charles W. Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Watson.

Mrs. Moore To Preside At Hapeville Club Tea.

Immediately following the business meeting of Hapeville Woman's Club to be held at the home of Mrs. H. A. Allen this afternoon, Mrs. Leila Johnson Moore, of Alexander Seawald Company, will preside at tea, demonstrating the General Electric refrigerator. Mrs. J. Raymond Cathy, president of the club, requests members to assemble at 2:30 o'clock instead of the usual time, 3 o'clock, in order that there may be ample time for Mrs. Moore's program. Mrs. Cathy also requests chairmen to bring reports for the past fiscal year's work, and the nominating committee to be prepared for the election of officers.

Fat Folks Eat Less Than the Thin

A Gland Is Weak

VERY often we find that fat people eat less than thin people. They are naturally careful in their diet. So it is evident, generally, that something else causes excess fat. There is usually an under-active gland. Modern physicians, in treating obesity, seek to supply the deficiency.

The factor they use is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It largely explains the results. A book in each box of Marmola gives the formula and states why it leads to reduction.

Marmola is prepared in a famous medical laboratory, to deal in the right way with excess fat. People have used it for 22 years—millions of boxes of it. They have told the results to others, until people now employ it in a larger way than ever.

Do what those people have done. Don't starve, don't over-exercise. There is danger in both. Let Marmola supply the gland factor which is probably too scant. Watch the results for a little while, in lower weight, new health and vitality. Those results will tell you if this is the right way for you.

Do this for your own sake, for your family and friends. If your condition is abnormal, correct it. Go try Marmola now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Miss Gray Poole and Dr. Atkins Wed at Lovely Home Ceremony

Exquisite beauty featured the wedding ceremony of Miss Gray Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Poole, and Dr. Frank Miller Atkins, son of Mrs. John M. Atkins, and the late Mr. Atkins, of Heflin, Ala., which was solemnized quietly yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, at the home of the bride's paternal cousins, Dr. and Mrs. William C. Warren, Sr., on West Peachtree street. Rev. Luther Rice Christie, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, performed the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate families and a small group of close friends.

Beautiful Decorations.

The home was beautifully decorated with foliage plants and smilax, the dark green background forming a setting for the lovely Easter lilies, which filled tall baskets and were placed at artistic intervals. The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of ferns, palms and a beautiful arrangement of white hyacinths, white sweet peas and lilies. At each side were handsome candelabra holding burning white tapers.

Prior to the ceremony Enrico Leide and his orchestra rendered a program of nuptial music, using the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus for the entrance of the wedding party. During the reading of the service, "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me," were softly rendered.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Charles Bowie Nunnally and the maid of honor was Miss Jeanette Bailey, both of whom were gowned in peach-colored chiffon, made princess style, the skirts having even hems and the sleeves being of peach-colored lace. They wore becoming hats of peach-colored felt and carried arm bouquets of Madame Butterfly roses and lavender sweet peas tied with lavender tulle.

Dr. Dan C. Elkin was best man.

Lovely Bride.

The bride's gown was an exquisite Lucile model of angel blue chiffon made along the modish princess lines, the skirt being of medium length with even hem, a smart touch being introduced by the cape which fell gracefully over the shoulders and formed shoulder cap sleeves. The bride wore long white gloves and a hat of blue felt flared from the face. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and valley lilies. The bride was given in marriage by her father, William J. Poole.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast. The exquisitely appointed table in the dining room was overlaid with an imported lace cover and held in the center a plateau of spring flowers, including sweet peas, roses, freesias and snapdragons. Crystal candlesticks holding white tapers were placed at artistic intervals and the mints and other delicacies were in the color motif of white and green.

Serving punch were Mrs. George Harrison Henry and Miss Adeline Winston, and the bride's book was kept by Mrs. William Warren, Jr.

Mrs. Poole, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in brown chiffon combined with cream lace and her corsage was of pink roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Warren wore a gown of independence blue chiffon and her flowers were a shoulder corsage of pink roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. A. O. Woodward, grandmother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of gray Elizabeth crepe and her corsage was of pink roses and valley lilies.

Dr. Atkins and his bride left at noon for Florida and will sail from Miami for Havana, Cuba; where they will spend two weeks. Upon their return they will take possession of an apartment on Collier road.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. John M. Atkins, of Heflin, Ala.; Hon. Joseph T. Gray and Mr. Thomas S. Gray, of Augusta; Leon S. Dure, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Leon S. Dure, Jr., of Macon.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens Heads Dade County Federation

The election of Mrs. T. T. Stevens to the important post as president of Dade County Federation of Women's Clubs at a meeting held in Miami, Fla., last Friday confers another honor upon a former Atlanta woman. She has made her home in Miami for the past three years and is one of the most popular and highly esteemed residents of that city. Before going to Florida Mrs. Stevens figured conspicuously in Georgia Federation activities and is a past president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, having to her credit many brilliant and noteworthy achievements during her administration.

Fifty votes out of the possible 72 were cast in favor of Mrs. Stevens, with Mrs. I. A. Bennett, president of Riverside Woman's Club being her opponent. Mrs. I. A. Bennett, president of Riverside Woman's Club, and Mrs. Stevens were nominated for the office and the corps of officers elected to serve with Mrs. Stevens include Mrs. Anna Stewart, first vice president; Mrs. H. L. McCay, second vice president; Dr. Horton Held, third vice president; Mrs. F. J. Manning, recording secretary, and Mrs. Thomas Brewer, treasurer. The corresponding secretary will be appointed by Mrs. Stevens. At the luncheon Mrs. Stevens made an address in which she stressed the importance of co-operation among all women's clubs along educational lines.

"Education is the paramount issue," she said, "and we should bend every effort to see that American children are prepared through education to meet the problems of life and to become good citizens."

The Story of the World War
The Abdication of the Czar.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

MARCH 14, 1917. THE IMPERIAL TRAIN, BEARING THE CZAR OF RUSSIA FROM THE FRONT TOWARD REVOLUTION-TORN PETROGRAD, WAS STOPPED AT PSKOV, HALF-WAY TO THE CAPITAL, BY ORDERS OF THE DUMA (RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVE BODY).

TELEGRAMS CAME FROM THE DUMA AND MILITARY LEADERS, INFORMING THE CZAR THAT THE ONLY COURSE LEFT HIM WAS TO RENOUNCE THE THRONE. IT WAS SUGGESTED THAT HE ABDICATE IN FAVOR OF THE CZAREVICH ALEXEI (HIS YOUNG SON), WITH THE GRAND DUKE MICHAEL AS REGENT.

THE NEW PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT SENT TWO ENVOYS (MARCH 14, 1917) TO OBTAIN THE ABDICATION OF NICHOLAS II. BOARDING THE IMPERIAL TRAIN (MARCH 15), THEY INFORMED THE CZAR THAT PETROGRAD WAS ENTIRELY IN THE HANDS OF THE REVOLUTIONISTS AND THAT A STRUGGLE ON HIS PART WOULD BE USELESS.

THE CZAR BOWED TO THE INEVITABLE, BUT REFUSED TO BE SEPARATED FROM THE CZAREVICH. MARCH 15, 1917, HE SIGNED A MANIFESTO ANNOUNCING HIS OWN AND HIS SON'S ABDICATION IN FAVOR OF THE GRAND DUKE MICHAEL.

Kappa Delta Alumnae To Entertain at Tea At the Homestead Honoring New Chapter

A large tea will be given in April at the Homestead, the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Spalding, in West End, by the Atlanta alumnae of the Kappa Delta National Sorority, it was decided at the luncheon held yesterday at the Henry Grady hotel. This tea will be given in honor of the Zeta Tau Club of Oglethorpe University, which will be installed as the Alpha Tau chapter of Kappa Delta, and in honor of Mrs. Ada McDonald Smith, of Memphis, Tenn., national chapterian, who with other national officers will be in Atlanta for the installation. The hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. Spalding's three daughters, Misses Frances Spalding, Constance Spalding, and Mrs. Croom Partridge, who are outstanding members of the Kappa Delta local alumnae, and Miss Elizabeth Meredith, president of the alumnae.

There were four committee chairmen appointed at the meeting who will have charge of the arrangements for the tea and the entertainment of the visiting officers. Miss Alleen Epps was appointed chairman of the general arrangements; Miss Frances Spalding is chairman of decorations; Miss Virginia Ray is transportation chairman, and Miss Runa Erwin is chairman of publicity.

The members of the alumnae present at the meeting were Misses Elizabeth Meredith, president; Constance Spalding, Frances Spalding, Alleen Epps, Ruth Wesley, Mary Walker, Virginia Ray, Sophie Maekin, Miriam Battle and Mesdames William C. Warren, Jr., Croom Partridge, J. D. Courtney, R. N. Hicks, G. W. Gifford and T. M. Davenport.

Geraldine Farrar Honored at Luncheon Given by Mrs. John Murphy at Hillcrest

Among the most important social affairs given yesterday was the luncheon at which Mrs. John E. Murphy entertained at her home, Hillcrest, on Peachtree road, in honor of Miss Geraldine Farrar, the celebrated opera singer, who is a close friend of Mrs. Murphy and who is spending several days at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel. Mrs. W. C. Gilmore, who is traveling with Miss Farrar, was also a guest at the luncheon yesterday.

Covers were placed at the beautifully appointed table for a group of close friends of the hostess and admirers of the renowned honor guest. Plateaux of lovely pastel tinted flowers graced the long table at artistic intervals with each guest's place designated by a tiny bouquet of early spring flowers.

The friendship of Miss Farrar and Mrs. Murphy has lasted over a period of 20 years, begun when the famous diva first visited Atlanta at the height of her operatic triumphs. The famous diva, for many years a leading and greatly beloved member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, appeared here in "Madam Butterfly," in "La Boheme," "Tosca," "Faust," "Manon" and other famous roles.

Miss Farrar appeared Monday evening in Rome in concert, and is scheduled to appear at the municipal auditorium in Macon March 12, under the auspices of the Macon Woman's Club.

Beauty Fashions.

A PLEASING DAYTIME FROCK.

6767. Green crepe was selected for this model, with binding in a darker shade. Light weight woolen in browns or off color-blues as well as black are also suggested. The vestee could be of contrasting material or of lace. Graceful flare inserts are inserted in front and back of the skirt portions. The waist indicates the raised waistline now so popular. It blouses over the belt, and is finished with a group of tucks at the shoulders of the front. The sleeve is a fitted model.

This pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 4 3-4 yards of 36-inch material. The vestee of contrasting material requires 1-4 yard, 36 inches wide. To finish with bias binding as pictured in the large view, will require 9 1-2 yards 1 5-8 inch wide.

Miss Jane Hanson Weds Mr. Phillips, Of New York

NEW YORK, March 5.—The marriage of Miss Jane Hanson, daughter of Mrs. Robert Earle Hanson, of Atlanta, to Giles Taintor Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lawrence Phillips, of this city, took place yesterday afternoon in the rectory of St. Paul's Catholic church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas F. Kane.

Due to illness in the families of both the bride and bridegroom the ceremony was a quiet event with only close relatives attending. An informal reception followed at the home of the groom's brother, Lawrence Phillips, after which the bride and groom left for their wedding trip. On their return they will reside at the Sherry Netherland hotel on Fifth avenue.

Mr. Phillips is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and is connected with the firm of Decoppet & Doremus. The bride is a beautiful young woman. She came to New York from Atlanta three years ago and has been a student at the Frodel League school, where she has studied kindergarten work.

LOUISIANA GIRL KILLED IN WRECK

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—(AP)—An 18-year-old girl was killed and three others were injured today at LaPlace, La., where their automobile was struck by a Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railway train at a crossing.

The dead girl was Miss Wenoh Odom, and the injured were Christas Kalegro, 35, who suffered internal injuries; Mrs. Christas Kalegro, 32, his wife, internal injuries and bruises, and Miss Margie Wilson, 16, who had both legs broken and internal injuries.

The party was returned from New Orleans to their homes at Baton Rouge after attending Mardi Gras. The locomotive knocked the car many yards as it struck.

The victims were placed aboard a train and rushed to New Orleans. Miss Odom died on the way and Miss Wilson was reported in a grave condition. The engine was in charge of Engineer Robert Montgomery.

Kentucky Governor Again Overridden

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 5.—(AP) Governor Flem D. Sampson's second veto of this session was overridden today in the democratic legislature, the house voting 63 to 25 to pass again a bill providing for a refund to motorists of license fees in case of fire, theft or accident.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Proud Mother!

Shannon Underwood, 8, of 375 Crew St., Atlanta, is the picture of health. No wonder his mother says: "I'm proud as can be of my little son. He's always bright, active, robust.

"I give California Fig Syrup a lot of credit for his wonderful condition. I have used it with him for every little upset or cold. It always has him back to normal in a few hours."

When a child shows by bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness or feverishness that the little bowels are clogged, you know the system needs a prompt cleansing.

California Fig Syrup does the work quickly and gently. In addition, it helps tone and strengthen weak bowels and stomach. So it gives lasting help.

The word California marks the genuine; the pure vegetable product loved by children and pronounced safe and effective by doctors.—(adv.)

KEEPER AT AUBURN SLAIN BY PRISONER

Is Third Victim of Convict Rage Within Last Two Years.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 5.—(AP)—Within sight of 43 guards and 875 prisoners, Principal Keeper Edward L. Beckwith, of Auburn prison, today was stabbed to death by a long-term inmate impelled by a fancied grievance. Beckwith was the third principal keeper in three years to die through the fury of a convict.

Beckwith's assailant, Anthony Mortelito, 31, serving a sentence of 20 years to life for second degree murder, was clubbed into submission in an instant after his flashing knife plunged four times into the officer's abdomen. He was dragged almost unconscious to an observation cell to await full investigation.

Preliminary reports to the state department of correction at Albany, indicated the keeper was slain because he removed an electric heater from Mortelito's cell last month.

Beckwith's death came at a dramatic moment in the trial in the Cayuga county courthouse in Auburn of Max Becker, another inmate, charged with the murder of the principal keeper's predecessor, George A. Durnford. Durnford was killed in the riot of December 11, last. Court promptly recessed.

The stabbing climaxed two months of calm at the penal institution, a calm which prison officials regarded as that which precedes a storm. Such a lull, they said, has preceded every major disturbance at the prison in years, especially the riots of July 28 and of last December.

Beckwith, known among the inmates as "firm but fair," was standing in the southwest corner of the mess hall as the 875 convicts marched in. Suddenly, as Mortelito came near, he stepped out, whipped out a secretly fashioned knife and plunged it deep into the veteran officer's body. His face twisted in pain, Beckwith fought back and with one of his blows felled his attacker. Then he collapsed.

Guards Joseph Burke and Thomas Locherin leaped to his defense, but were too late. Warden John L. Hoffman, who succeeded Brigadier General Edgar S. Jennings after the December riot, in which several convicts were killed, was in the prison kitchen near-by.

Mortelito was sentenced at White Plains on May 31, 1922, by Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Thompkins, after pleading guilty to a charge of murder, second degree, in the death of Paolo Letti on February 25, the same year. He was received at Sing Sing prison June 2, 1922, and transferred to Auburn June 13. Prison officials said he would have been eligible to parole in 1937 and that a deportation warrant was held against him. He is a native of Calabria Italy.

Report on Hager Expected Monday

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(Special.)—Report of a sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee on the nomination of Clint W. Hager, of Atlanta, to succeed himself as district attorney for the northern district of Georgia, is expected Monday. Records connected with the nomination, including the protests of Mrs. Marvin Williams, president of the Georgia Woman's Christian Temperance Union, have been turned over to the subcommittee.

A large number of prominent Georgians have indorsed Mr. Hager for reappointment. The list of indorsers contains several hundred names, including Governor Hardman, former Governors John M. Slaton and Clifford Walker, Josiah T. Rose, internal revenue collector of Georgia, and the names of judges, lawyers, county and city officials, bankers, railroad officials and others.

Members of the sub-committee are Senator Arthur R. Robinson, of Indiana, republican, chairman; Senator Felix Hebert, of Rhode Island, republican, and Senator T. H. Caraway, of Arkansas, democrat.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

CURIOSITY SPREADS.

There's naught, when all is done and said,
Like curiosity to spread.
—Old Mother Nature.

Curiosity is contagious. In other words, it is catching. If one person becomes curious, other people are almost certain to become curious. It was Peter Rabbit who first became curious as to where the home of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse was. When Chatterer the Red Squirrel discovered that Peter was looking for Whitefoot's home, he in turn became curious. He had told Peter that he was sure that Whitefoot's home was not in a log, a stump or a hollow tree near that particular part of the edge of the Green Forest. To make doubly sure, Chatterer visited every stump, hollow log and hollow tree.

"I knew it," declared Chatterer, talking to himself. "Peter Rabbit doesn't know what he's talking about. Whitefoot the Wood Mouse certainly hasn't a home around here. Still, now I think of it, I have seen him about two or three times. It didn't occur to me to wonder what he was doing over here on the edge of the Green Forest. It is a long way from where he used to live."

Meanwhile, Sammy Jay had come along and had discovered Peter sitting in the bramble-tangle. "What are you doing over here, Peter Rabbit?" demanded Sammy. "You ought to be at home in the dear Old Briar-patch. Does Mrs. Peter know where you are?"

"No, she doesn't," replied Peter crossly. "And it isn't any business of yours, Sammy Jay, what I'm doing over here."

"He's over here looking for the home of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse," spoke up Chatterer, who happened to be in a tree near by.

"Ho, ho, ho!" laughed Sammy Jay in a most provoking manner. "Ho, ho, ho! Whitefoot the Wood Mouse doesn't live around here. He lives farther back in the Green Forest."

"That's what I told him," said Chatterer. "But you know Peter is stubborn and he won't believe it."

"He told me himself that he's got a new home and he was right over here when he told me that," declared Peter. "What is more, I have seen him around here several times. So you can't make me believe that Whitefoot isn't living in this neighborhood."

"What are you doing over here, Peter Rabbit?" demanded Sammy.

"Well, when you find his home let me know," said Sammy Jay airily, and flew away as if he had no further interest in the subject.

But this was all pretense on Sammy Jay's part. He kept thinking about Whitefoot and he went about, peering here and peering there with those sharp eyes of his. You see, Peter's curiosity had spread to him as well as to Chatterer. There are no sharper eyes in all the Green Forest than the eyes of Sammy Jay. There is no one knows more about his own neighborhood than does Chatterer and Red Squirrel. So that home of Whitefoot's had to be very well hidden indeed to escape these busybodies. It was well hidden. Yet, curiously enough, Sammy and Chatterer and Peter, too, saw it many times and didn't know it.

Geneva Pictured As Watch Tower Guarding Peace

Geneva was described as a great watch tower with men on guard 24 hours daily ready to extinguish the least conflagration anywhere in the world as soon as the smoke from it should arise by Sir Herbert Brown Ames, first financial director of the League of Nations, at Emory University Wednesday night.

"A complete system of communication, cables, telegraph wires and telephones and an airdrome containing airplanes ready for flight at all times are some of the means at the disposal of the League of Nations for keeping informed on the movements of the world," he said. "At no hour of the day could a communication be sent to Geneva without finding a force of officials on hand to deal with it adequately. We are now at work on a treaty by which an official plane of the league is to be allowed to fly over any country in time of peace or war.

"If we had had this organization we would not have had the World War." The 158 communications by the British government in an effort to have the nations reach an agreement to prevent the World War were cited as evidences of the futility of attempting to prevent war without some such machinery as that set up by the League of Nations.

COTTON FUTURES ACT CHANGE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—Amendment of the cotton futures act to give the government greater supervision over the futures exchanges was recommended today by the senate investigating committee.

The committee report, which received approval of the senate agriculture committee, would have a government commission composed of the secretaries of agriculture and commerce and the attorney-general empowered to designate the cotton exchanges as contract markets or to withdraw that designation.

As for the price of cotton, the committee expressed the belief that the "important factors in the price of cotton to the farmer have been exigencies of the season, such as insect damage, rainfall, early or late frost, the facility and virility of the seed planted, and the amount of fertilizer used."

In a supplemental report, Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, stated: "I am of the opinion that the firm of Anderson, Clayton & Co. is the predominating power in the cotton market and their enormous influence has been and is one of the most potent factors in causing the demoralization and decline in the market."

POLICE ARE PREPARED AS 'RED' DAY DAWNS

BY UNITED NEWS.

Scores of thousands of communists, and more thousands of unemployed men attracted to their red banners in sullen, blind protest against their failure to obtain work, will mobilize today (Thursday, for "Red Thursday" demonstrations which promise bloodshed.

In all large American cities, in all European capitals and many other towns, communist leaders had their plans prepared, and police and soldiery had plans to suppress their parades or, permitting the demonstrations themselves, to act quickly and sternly in event of disorder.

In New York police warned women and children to keep away today from Union Square, communist headquarters. The hundreds of police assigned to duty at the square had orders to "keep their heads" and to let the demonstrators start any possible trouble.

In Chicago the chief of police asserted that reds threatened bombings and assassinations. Reds denied it.

In Paris 26,000 police and soldiers were assigned to riot duty.

The actuating motives of the red demonstrators are varied. In some cases the main protest will be against unemployment, in others against religious denunciation of soviet Russia.

97-Year-Old Renamed.

ST. CHARLES, Minn., March 5.—(AP)—Judge Salmon W. Gleason, 97 years old, Minnesota's oldest active jurist, was re-elected yesterday to a four-year term as municipal judge. He has held that office since 1890. Despite his age, Judge Gleason waged an active campaign and was returned to office by nearly a two to one vote over his opponent.

Prince Will Resume Hunting on Sunday

LONDON, March 5.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales has recovered so rapidly from the sub-tertian malaria with which he was stricken last Friday that he will resume his hunting on Sunday.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Nairobi, Kenya Colony, said he probably would go to Entebbe, Uguanda, on Lake Victoria, and use a lake steamer as a base for his expedition.

No more bulletins on the prince's condition will be issued at Nairobi. It is said he is virtually himself again, although finding it necessary to take things easy until the end of the week.

There is general gratification here at his recovery, although not unmixed with surprise that the malarial attack has ended so rapidly.

$150,000 MORE ASKED FOR PARLEY EXPENSES

Hoover Seeks Additional Funds for London Naval Meeting Expenses.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—President Hoover today asked congress to grant $150,000 for expenses of the American delegation at the London naval conference in addition to the $200,000 allowed originally.

The additional funds are expected to last until mid-April. The president transmitted a report from Undersecretary Cotton, of the state department, saying the original appropriation had been used up on March 3.

"Expenses have been greater than anticipated," said a report of Director Roop, of the budget bureau, which the president also sent to congress.

"Moreover an unforeseen delay has occurred," Mr. Roop added.

Suspect in $4,000 Robbery Is Arrested

In the arrest and identification of Guy Wingard, 22, of 391 Woodward avenue, Wednesday, police believe that they are holding one of the two "auto bandits" who recently held up and robbed Miss Blossom Dukes, of 28 Twelfth street, and Miss Lucille Morgan of 917 Peachtree, of diamond rings valued at $4,000.

He was arrested by Detectives George Barrett and L. H. Satterfield at the corner of Hunter and Hill streets and charged with being connected with the robbery. He was subsequently identified by the two young women. According to the detectives, the "auto bandits" have been operating for several months. Their method of procedure is said to be to drive beside the car of the intended victim in their own machine, then brush the other car slightly, pull across its path, halt and alight ostensibly to apologize. Then the victims are faced and guns are drawn.

Dartmouth Alumni To Entertain Dean

Dr. Craven Laycock, dean of Dartmouth college and one of the best known educators in the United States, arrived in Atlanta Wednesday morning to be the guest of the Georgia Dartmouth Club for two days.

A dinner will be tendered him at the Biltmore hotel tonight by the members of the club, which is headed by Harry Mason, president. Principals of the leading prep and high schools, some undergraduates, and fathers of boys now at Dartmouth will be included in the invitation list. In addition to his visit to the Georgia alumni of his institution Dr. Laycock expects to interview prospective students.

The employes put the boss to work in purchasing preferred shares in the Southern Natural Gas Corporation. It's up to him—to earn dividends.—(adv.)

WHETHER YOUR CHILD'S TEETH will be good or poor depends very largely on the amount of fresh, pure milk in your diet before his birth—and on the milk that he has in his diet all during childhood.

Poor Teeth not Inherited, Dentists and Doctors say

"No work to be done on these teeth," said the dentist, "a good cleaning is all they need. You've given Bobby a set of splendid teeth, Mrs. Hodges—wonderful!"

"That's swell," grinned Bobby.

"That's milk, I'll bet," laughed the dentist. And Bobby's mother agreed proudly.

BEFORE her baby's birth she had feared that her child might inherit her own weak teeth—with toothaches, extractions and fillings that were like nightmares in her life. But the words of a famous child specialist had reassured her.

"If you will drink plenty of rich, fresh milk, its high amount of calcium will give your baby strong, straight bones and fine teeth," he had told her. "Inheritance is the smallest factor in determining whether a child's teeth shall be good or poor."

Expectant mothers build the coming baby's strength and vitality when they drink richly nourishing Foremost Milk. And for the child who gets a quart every day, a trip to the dentist holds no great terrors.

Your boys and girls will love Foremost Milk for its deliciously sweet flavor—either as a drink or in soups, vegetables and desserts. It is the pleasantest way for them to get all the growth-and-strength-promoting calcium, proteins, fats, vitamins and mineral salts that they need for strong bones and nerves, rich blood and exuberant energy.

Only sanitary, modern dairies supply fresh Foremost Milk. Every bit is scientifically inspected for purity and richness. Any milk that does not meet the rigid Foremost test is rejected.

In addition, it is pasteurized to make it doubly safe. No unseen germs of milk-borne diseases can possibly be present in Foremost. Fresh, sweet and completely safe for growing little bodies, it comes to your door.

Foremost Milk brings only health to your child. Sold by grocers and druggists.

"Love apple" flowered crepe frock and smart straw hat from Hickson, Inc. Pull-on gloves by Fownes. Complexion by Armand.

When you choose your new clothes—hat—gown—bag—shoes . . .

consider your new complexion!

STYLES are still on the change! The fascinating "feminine mode" launched by Paris last season gathers momentum. Everything today is different: hemlines—waistlines—necklines. Even complexions have stepped into style in a new way!

Your skin must have a mellow, creamy tone — it's more feminine — more fascinating!

Today your skin must be thoroughly alive—pulsating with health. The color-tone must be natural—like lovely feminine curves. Only the richer blend of Armand Cold Cream Powder can give this mellow beauty. It films the face in fairness.

Choose the shade that suits you best and rub the powder first into your puff. Then slowly, carefully, smooth this film over face and throat. Patience in doing this will reward you with a freshness that lasts for hours! And a creamy beauty that's most becoming.

At night, purge the pores with Armand Cleansing Cream. You'll love the way it melts in, then wipes completely away, leaving no greasiness—just the fragrant sweetness of its orange blossom perfume.

Armand products assure the complexion perfection that the new clothes demand! Ask for Armand at any good beauty counter.

Armand Cold Cream Powder, in becoming new shades, $1. Armand Cleansing Cream, 50c and $1.25.

INSTALLMENT 34.

"Tell me where Beatrice Essiter is," I demanded, "or I'll blow the brains out of your head, even if I have to die with you."

He made no reply, but there crept into his face that hideous, damnable smile. Then rage swept me into insanity. I threw my own gun to the ground, sprang at him, snatched his automatic, and sent it clattering across the floor. My fingers clutched his throat. Although his strength amazed me, and even his convulsive efforts to free himself were the movements of a practised wrestler, I had him, and he knew it. Then, in that breathless moment, I heard another sound—the sound for which I had been listening eagerly a few minutes before, but which now infuriated me. A man came dashing into the restaurant.

"Cops! Ten vans full of them," he shouted, and over he went, shot by a pursuer.

I looked up for a moment, and I paid. I felt a hot breath upon my neck, and Leopold hit me with the butt of his revolver. Joseph had his chance then. He staggered to his feet, a ghastly sight, his collar ripped to pieces, the marks of my fingers upon his throat, a queer dark shadow under his eyes. He snatched up his gun. With my left hand I sent Leopold head over heels, stooped for a moment, and once more faced Joseph. Again it was a life for a life between us two, but again I was denied. We were surrounded by plain clothes police. Above the tumult we could hear the sharp detonation of bombs, and little puffs of green smoke came floating down. Then my enemy, amazed me once more. He flung himself into a chair with a great shout of relief, produced a handkerchief and began to mop his face.

"The police at last!" he cried. "It's all right, Leopold; all right, Major. These rascals won't have a dog's chance now."

I stared at him, taken aback. The room was already almost empty of the marauders, except for those who were being handcuffed and led away. The main body of the police had rushed on to the entrance hall. Two or three nurses had arrived, followed by men carrying stretchers, and a great many guests who were more frightened than hurt were sitting up once more at their tables, and more were trooping from the place. Mr. X., with a word of apology, poured himself out of a glass of wine from the bottle upon the table by his side.

"I hope you have lost nothing, Lady Robinson?" he said.

"My necklace," she sobbed. "They have my necklace. I thought you had shot the man. He went over when you fired, but he got up again. You hit him, I am sure, because he was limping and calling out with pain, but he took the necklace."

I moved a little closer to Mr. X. He edged away from my scrutiny, but he was too late. One side of his face, at any rate, was most amazingly made up, but there was the slightest of cracks in the wax. It might almost have been a human wrinkle, but, slight though it was, I could see the change in the contour of his face. My hand rested as though by accident upon his arm.

"Couldn't we finish our little dispute out on the terrace?" I suggested. "Man to man, and no weapons. What about that?"

My enemy hesitated, and Leopold whispered in his ear.

"Wouldn't explanations of that sort be rather an anti-climax?" Mr. X. asked sweetly. "The end between us is not tonight."

"Why not?" I demanded. "I am going to hand you over to Inspector Bloor."

"You poor fool," he scoffed, "who'll believe you? There are 50 people in the place who would bear witness to my feats of heroism. Besides which, I am established here, well known—not a penniless adventurer, who was in the police court yesterday morning. To every charge you could bring against me I have a perfect alibi. Come, be reasonable. What is it you want of me?"

"Beatrice Essiter, for one thing."

He shrugged his shoulders.

Bretzgel was coming toward us, his arm in a sling, Bloor by his side.

"Well, gentlemen," he announced with a smile, "the great raid is at an end. The inspector has just been explaining to me how it was that he had three hundred police ready armed. They arrived just in time."

"The safes?" I inquired anxiously.

"They blew the office to pieces," he admitted. "They smoked us out, too, but not one of them crossed the threshold of my room. Your little deposit, Major," he confided, "is quite secure. I felt that I must come and thank you two gentlemen," he went on, turning first to Mr. X. and then to me. "In the intervals of our own siege, I saw a good deal of what was passing down here. How you, sir," he concluded, addressing Mr. X., "escaped being shot I can't imagine. You seemed to be in the thick of it all the time. There was a shorter gentleman with you, too—"

"My friend, Leopold," Mr. X. interrupted. "He made for home by the embankment entrance directly he saw that the trouble was over. Good thing you and I are not so particular, Major."

The man was scarcely human. He looked across at me and laughed.

"Who were the fellows, anyway?" he added.

"The Wolves, they call themselves," Bloor answered curtly. "You've heard of them, perhaps. They're a gang of East End thieves with a wonderful leader who seems, I regret to say, to have escaped tonight."

"I am not sure yet," I muttered, "whether he has escaped."

"You mean that the leader of the gang is still hiding in the place?" Bloor demanded. "The police are searching every floor."

"Every apartment has been examined," Mr. Bretzgel confided—"even yours, sir, I am afraid," he added, addressing Mr. X.

"Quite right, too," the latter remarked.

"In my report," Bloor said, "I should like to mention the guests who made such a fine fight. Major Owston, I know. May I ask this gentleman's name?"

The hotel manager appeared surprised.

"Certainly," he replied, "I thought everyone knew him. This is Mr. Ruben Sams."

"The Argentine millionaire," Bloor murmured.

"Mr. Ruben Sams has a suite here," Bretzgel added, "of which, I regret to say, however, he very seldom makes use."

I suppose my bewilderment was obvious to all of them.

"Major Owston is a little confused, no doubt," Mr. X. remarked, with a smile. "For some reason he was very curious as to my identity one night lately. By bribing a maitre d'hotel at Claridge's he discovered that my name card at a dinner party there bore the inscription of Mr. X. Since then he has regarded me with suspicion. The ways of high finance are doubtless unknown to you, Major. For some time, until I collected my board for a new company I am founding, it was very inadvisable that my presence in this country should be known. I often pay visits to foreign capitals under another identity."

"I can quite believe that," I muttered. I drew Bloor to one side. "Bloor," I said earnestly, "that man is no more Ruben Sams than I am."

The inspector looked at me as though I had taken leave of my senses.

"I am afraid that's rather a mare's nest, Major," he expostulated. "Ruben Sams is known all the world over. Who did you think he was?"

"Joseph," I declared confidently. "I am not mad, Bloor, and I tell you that man is Joseph."

He looked at me with a profound disbelief.

"Come and have a drink, Major," he suggested. "You have had a rough night of it."

"That," I persisted, "is the man who stood on the lawn and led his men when they attacked Breezeley. He is the man—he admits that—who was entertained as Mr. X. at Claridge's, who took such a malicious interest in Miss Essiter and myself. He is the man who came to my rooms in Down street. He is the man who was seated in the secretary's office at the Blue Skies, who talked to you over the telephone, and, whether you believe it or not, he led the Wolves tonight. He led them from table to table, where the women were wearing the most wonderful jewels. He had them all marked down. His fighting was a sham. When he fired his gun he used dummy cartridges, and the men got up again. I picked some of the cartridges up. I have two or three in my pocket now."

"Show me one."

I thrust my hand into my pocket. They were gone. Bloor edged away.

"I think you're wrong, Major," he told me quickly. "Come and have that drink."

"But he talked to me tonight," I insisted. "We've spoken of Miss Essiter."

I knew that I was speaking against a rock of incredulity. Nevertheless, he let me down lightly.

"I tell you what I'll do, Major," he promised. "I'll have him watched. He's staying here. I'll send two of our best men up within half an hour."

And, with that, he seemed to consider the matter settled.

C. L. Menser, N. B. C. production man responsible for the "Penrod" series, doesn't believe in pampering children who are working under his direction. When play interferes with rehearsals Menser threatens to tell their mothers and have them spanked. Yet the children adore him. He was carefully coaching a five-year-old child actress on her scene. For five minutes he talked to her, explaining what her reactions should be.

"Now do you understand," he said sternly.

The tot looked up at him.

"I think you're wonderful," she said soulfully.

Menser blushed and blew up.

The first anniversary of Oliver Owen Kuhn's National Radio Forum will be celebrated with a special program, during which WGST and the Columbia system radio listeners may hear many well known figures speaking from Washington, at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

Mr. Kuhn, managing editor of The Washington Star, has introduced all of the famous speakers whom radio listeners have heard on the Forum broadcasts since March 2, 1929.

Last April Mr. Kuhn introduced the new Hoover cabinet during his radio program. At that time the National Forum was broadcast from the regular studios of WMAL, Columbia key station in Washington. Forum programs are now broadcast from luxurious studios in the Washington Star building.

"I believe the people of the United States want to hear the voices and opinions of our greatest statesmen. The National Forum makes this possible through the medium of radio," Mr. Kuhn said. "Furthermore, the series is of vital interest to the more than 500,000 government employes scattered throughout the country."

Another varied musical voyage under the direction of Skipper Emery Deutsch will be made by the S. S. Dream Boat at 10 o'clock this evening. Music will be picked up from the decks of the Dream Boat and broadcast by WGST and the Columbia System. The Columbia Ensemble will be on board and will supply an interesting program of light classics.

The program:

Desolation ..... Conterni
Plaisir d'Amour
Love's Ecstasy ..... McElwain
Tango Argentine: La Patida
L'Amour, toupours, L'Amour ..... Friml
Erotik ..... Grieg

In response to thousands of requests for the presentation of another opera in the same unique manner in which "Aida" was offered in a recent program in the R. C. A. series, the R. C. A. Radiotron Company will give a dramatic radio production of Gounod's "Faust" through WSB and the N. B. C. system this evening at 9 o'clock.

As in the case of "Aida," leading roles will be sung by three important members of the Metropolitan Opera Company, while a speaking cast will enact the drama. A large orchestra and chorus, under the direction of Nathaniel Shilkret, who is arranging the radio production of the opera, will also be heard.

Editha Fleisher will sing Marguerite. Critics received her singing of this role with unstinted praise. Armand Tokatyan, who will sing Faust, is also a favorite with operatic audiences. Leon Rothier, famous basso of the Metropolitan Company, is known throughout the world for his interpretation of Mephistopheles. His appearance in the R. C. A. Radiotron production of "Faust" marks his debut before the microphone.

RUDY VALLEE.

Rudy Vallee, who will be the reason for many thousands of dials being twisted to the Fleischmann hour over WSB and the N. B. C. network at 7 o'clock tonight when he and his Connecticut Yankees appear.

WGST To Present Gala Hour Tonight

One of the gala local programs to be presented by WGST, sponsored by the Southeastern States Beauty Trade Exposition and Convention in session at the Ansley hotel, and offering an outstanding array of radio talent, will be broadcast as a feature from the Georgia Tech station at 11 o'clock tonight.

Appearing on the broadcast, which will be given under the auspices of the National Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists' Association, will be John Clotworthy, as "master of ceremonies;" Aunt Sally and her "gang," Georgia's favorite feminine radio entertainer; the Old Captain and his troupe, the Two Dominos, tap dancers, and the Yellow Jacket girls.

Other highlight local features tonight will include a 30-minutes period of orchestra music by Rudy Brown and his orchestra, from 8 to 8:30 o'clock, Senor Dorian de Cordova, Cuban astrologer, in horoscope readings, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock, and the Victor Home Demonstration Hour, sponsored by the Sterchi Furniture Company, from 7:15 to 7:30 o'clock.

FRIENDS IDENTIFY EXPOSURE VICTIM

Sam Hoffman, 35, of 340 Hill street, S. E., was still reported to be in a serious condition at Grady hospital late Wednesday night after he was taken there early in the morning by policemen who found him suffering from exposure on Luckie street.

For about half of the day Wednesday, Hoffman remained unidentified as he was in a stupor and papers in his pockets failed to disclose his name. Friends identified him in the afternoon.

W. C. PIERCE IS DEAD

Final Rites Will Be Held in Atlanta.

W. C. Pierce, 60, former Atlantan, and traveling representative in Alabama for the Lowe Brothers Paint Company with headquarters in Atlanta, died suddenly from a heart attack Wednesday at his home in Birmingham, Ala.

The body will be brought to Atlanta today for funeral arrangements, which will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son. Mr. Pierce is survived by his widow, of Birmingham; a son, Van Allen Pierce, of Atlanta, and a daughter, Mrs. L. H. Burch, of Atlanta.

WORK OF COMBATING SMOKE IS PROGRESSING

Almost half of Atlanta's plants have installed smokeless stokers or are using other methods of smoke elimination, as the result of work for smoke abatement without court trials and with small expenditure of money, according to Walter N. Gallaher, president of the Atlanta Smoke Abatement league.

The N., C. & St. L. railroad has installed home-built smokeless equipment on all of its switching engines, and it is believed that this will be done by many other roads during this year, Mr. Gallaher said Wednesday. "Atlanta's municipal plants, including the city schools, have had smokeless stokers installed, and the new city waterworks will begin operation this spring without smoke."

Use of coke, a smokeless fuel, has been increased 50 per cent over last year in the homes, but there is need of more educational work along this line, he said.

Mr. Gallaher pointed out that city ordinances now prohibit the building of new plants unless the smoke elimination law is complied with, and that a plant cannot be changed without an adjustment so as to abate the smoke. Permits show that this law is being enforced, and that when permits are issued, as 170 were last year, they are entirely satisfactory, he said.

Atlanta was given second place in a government survey of smoke abatement four years ago, but the present standing is not known, Mr. Gallaher said. Atlanta's atmospheric dirt rating was 9.460, while that of St. Louis, which stood 10th, was 17.600, he said.

Struck By Trolley, Lonnie McEwen Dies

Lonnie J. McEwen, 33, of 400 Loomis avenue, a railroad switchman, died at a local hospital Wednesday morning from injuries received Tuesday night when he was struck by a South Decatur street car on the company's private right-of-way on Gasco street, near Fair street.

Mr. McEwen is survived by his widow, two daughters, Misses Mildred and Emma Lee McEwen; one son, Hugh McEwen; his mother, Mrs. J. C. McEwen; three brothers, Raymond, E. S., and Vernon McEwen, and a sister, Mrs. B. F. Carlton.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of J. Austin Dillon Company and announcements relative to funeral services and interment will be made later.

What is LOVE?
A hundred million times a day the word is spoken—whispered on moonlit nights by ardent lovers—tossed about by gay Casanovas—often unspoken, the mute prayer in the hungry heart of humanity—
Love, the obbligato of Life,—but there is a greater love, all encompassing, devouring in its passion, born of the earth but glorified by something greater! That is——The Love of "Lummox"!

To men, her embrace was like a flame! Children clung to her for sanctuary! All turned to her, as though to a fountain, that they might bathe their wounds in the waters of her love!
Yet, the world called her "Lummox"—she, who though untutored in the art of love, knew more of love than all the rest!
—MORE THAN A GREAT PICTURE! It is a Picture that DARES to be different!

A picture that will echo in your heart for years to come, like the haunting melody of a Golden Song!

LANGFORD, BROWN SHINE AT PLATE

Crackers at Work in Douglas, Georgia

Shown at the left are the Crackers beginning their daily work at the Douglas training camp with a trip around the park. Red Oldham, the expert golfer-lefthanded pitcher, is leading the bunch. At the right Mr. Jonathan Dobbs, boss of the Crackers, is correcting a few faults in the diamond. Chick Roos is at the left. Ivy Wingo in the center and Manager Dobbs at the right. They are lining up the bases.

NEW CRACKERS CLEAR FENCE WITH WALLOPS

Johnny Dobbs Sends Club Through Long, Intensive Hitting Practice.

By Ralph McGill.
Constitution Sports Writer.

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 5.—Elton Langford, the piece of T N T from Texas, and Ed Brown, the tall guy from Toledo, did not wait long to illustrate whether or not their batting eyes were good.

In the first batting practice of the year, held this afternoon at the Cracker training camp, both the newcomers to the Atlanta outfield hit baseballs over the fence. Brown's went sailing over the left field fence.

It was far enough to have landed right slap in the republican stands at Spiller field. Langford's sailed over the right field fence. It would have been on that dump at Spiller field.

RESPECTABLE.

Both were very respectable licks indeed. The park here is no Lilliputian playground. Not at all. It was moved back last year because home runs were hit over it in the league games here and it is now supposed to be practically home run proof. Langford's ball was foul by a few inches but it was still over the fence. And both he and Brown were slamming them right at the base of it on other trips up to the platter.

Jim Hammond, the Atlanta semi-pro, while he hit no balls over the fence, was rapping the ball smartly and for good distance. He has a lot of power, that boy.

Douglas had a hot sun ready today. The Crackers started at 10 o'clock and came back to the hotel at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

LUNCH.

They had an hour off for lunch, during which time there was dinner on the grounds, consisting of two sandwiches and a cup of coffee for each man. The morning was spent in running about the field, playing pepper games and other exercises.

In the afternoon the hitting began with Hammond, Langford and Brown supplying the siege gun thrills.

They can really, as the boys say, mash that old potato. Cox, a youngster, who paid his way here from Blackshear, Ga., and Jim Segraves, from South Carolina, pitched to batters.

During the lunch hour Johnny Dobbs scurried around answering wires. There is a deal on to send Pat Haley, utility infielder for the Crackers last year, to San Antonio.

INTERESTED.

Dobbs wired an offer and back came a wire saying that the club there was interested. An answer is expected Thursday.

Johnny Dobbs is planning no player deals at present, except, of course, the catcher deal that has been held up for some time and remains incomplete. He is willing to take a look at what he has and sees no reason why he shouldn't be able to get a ball club out of it.

Failure of some of the pitchers to report has slightly irritated him. Norcum (Bill) Rausch, who had a poor season last year with the Crackers, will be turned over to Ivy Wingo when he does report.

WILLING.

Rausch, who was suffering from chronic willingness last season, can be made into a pitcher worthy of being retained in Class A ball if he reports in time to do some work.

Some six or seven of the Crackers have not yet signed. Just who they are Dobbs doesn't know. The Cracker office at Atlanta has not made the list public.

Dobbs is a strict disciplinarian and if the players who have signed are not present within the next few days he will take steps to make them regret it a bit. He is eager to get the club going. His starting of hitting practice means that he will have them with their eyes on the ball when the exhibition season opens.

The club of this season will be one of the best hitting clubs Atlanta has ever had.

SCRUBS.

Johnny Dobbs watched the work of a scrub infield during the batting practice with a lot of interest. Especially did he watch Lonnie Cleveland, the boy who recently completed an army enlistment.

On Tuesday Dobbs commented on the easy fashion in which Cleveland handled bunts in the pepper practice. This afternoon Cleveland was handling ground balls that came to him in hitting practice with a smoothness that was pretty to see.

REMINDFUL.

"That boy reminds me of Johnny Evers in the way he goes after ground balls," said Dobbs. "I knew yesterday he could field."

What made the performance all the more noteworthy was the fact that Cleveland was playing in his regular shoes. They were minus spikes. Cleveland, having played while in the army, reported to the Crackers thinking that he would find shoes and gloves furnished.

He is playing with a borrowed glove pending the arrival of shoes and a glove he has ordered.

Jack Sheehan, who reported today, slept in the morning after his all-night drive. He brought his protege, John Rydzewski, Chicago semi-pro pitcher, and a big one, out to the field in the afternoon. Sheehan appeared to be in good shape, but he donned a rubber shirt under his regular uniform and went to work.

All the Crackers of last year are confident that the club this year will hit better and have better success in every department of play.

PLEASED.

Douglas has pleased everyone as a training site. The Western Union facilities are good, the food and the Hotel Doucoff service is excellent, and the ball park, with some work, has been made into a very good one. The players report that it is superior to many of the major league camps

WAYWARD BOYE BOSWELLED BY Ed Danforth

Marian Ruitt, known as "The Girl of a Thousand Lines," who advertised in The Atlanta Constitution for help in deciding which of six suitors to marry, disappeared from her home here Tuesday. She left a note to her parents saying she had eloped to Chattanooga with Wayward Boye, the Man Without a Mind.

Marian had left it all up to popular vote and had offered $500 in prizes (to be paid by the People's Choice, presumably) for the best letter of advice. Announcement of the election was to have been made Sunday.

Marian's elopement with Wayward Boye, the seventh suitor, has left the south in dismay. Everybody is baffled. If you don't believe it, ask the next man you meet on the street if he is not baffled. Or better still, call or dial, Central. She is certain to be baffled.

Here is a hurried summary of the developments in Marian's untimely (?) elopement rushed into the office just before press time. Our reporter, sad to relate, had forgotten all about the assignment until just a moment ago. He was out trying to sub-lease an office in the new city hall for one of his friends.

Soaring high in the cerulean blue, banking and wheeling like buzzards above a boneyard, a fleet of airplanes manned by members of the Governor's Horse Guard, scanned the winding highway between Atlanta and Chattanooga looking for Wayward Boye, the seventh suitor of Marian Ruitt, who Tuesday eloped with her for some reason.

Lieutenant Jack Malcolm, special police officer detailed to work up the Atlanta end of the disappearance case, spent all day hiding in a telephone booth at Little Five Points. Late last night he made the following report to headquarters:

One of these telescopes will be given away free to anyone willing to join in searching for Wayward and Marian, the elopers. Photo shows the frantic search being pressed by two Atlantans. Just who is giving away the telescopes could not be learned. But they are snappy, aren't they?

"Wayward Boye and Marian were last seen getting on board the Dixie Flyer, northbound. Marian was carrying a black hat box, a small handbag, five magazines and a fur coat. She wore a lightweight blue coat and a blue hat.

"Wayward had on a grey hat, brown overcoat, blue suit, tan shoes, green shirt, red tie and overshoes. He carried a telescope (brown), a package done in newspaper, a small handbag, an umbrella and a Pekinese puppy.

"They arrived at the station in a taxicab. Wayward refused to yield his baggage to a red cap. They had passed through the station and were on the platform and Marian stopped her escort. They held a hurried conversation. Then Wayward went back and bought the five magazines. He rejoined her and they got aboard the train.

"A man answering Wayward's description bought two tickets and two seats to Chattanooga, it was learned at the city ticket office."

MARIAN'S MOTHER TALKS.

After spending Wednesday in seclusion and refusing to see reporters, Mrs. Ruitt, mother of Marian, yielded to demands of reporters for an interview. She said:

"I just want to relieve your minds about all this and please don't say a word about it in the papers. I hate publicity and I know it would just kill Marian if all this ever got in the papers. She is just like me about that. But I want you to get it all right so that won't be any mistake if all this ever leaks out to the papers.

"It nearly killed Marian to have to put those pieces in the paper. She detests publicity and so do we all. She comes by that naturally for I never did like to have my pictures in the papers. I nearly died when they published my picture that time I was elected president of the Hemingway Book Club. I sent them five and they selected one with a last year's hat on.

"Well, all this stuff in the papers nearly broke Marian's heart because she had to send them pictures she had taken the night each of her young men proposed to her. They were good pictures, of course. Buster—that is, Clarence, her brother—has a camera and he uses a flashflight as good as as any newspaper photographer, and Marian always did spoil him to death and let him make pictures every time she thought a young man was going to propose to her. I know she ran away just to avoid publicity. I'll let you know just as soon as I hear from her."

SIX SUITORS VANISH.

None of the six suitors—Jim, Gregory, Jerry, Tom, Dick and Harry—could be reached by this column last night.

Further inquiry into the whereabouts of the six suitors revealed that none of them had been seen about his lodgings for six weeks.

It was just six weeks ago that the first news of Marian's scheme was published.

Jim was reported to have gone to visit an uncle in Kentucky.

Gregory was in New York (or Kansas City) at a convention.

Jerry had gone to Europe with a client, a wealthy paralytic.

Harry was variously reported as in jail in Detroit and fishing off the west coast of Florida.

Dick was reported to be looking for Commander Byrd.

Tom Keene, the football player, had left school suddenly.

Police officials agreed that the mystery as to why Marian eloped with Wayward Boye instead of going through with her advertised pact of marrying the man of the people's choice was too many for them.

Lumpkin and Morris Battle Here Tonight

"Pug" Avera Substituted for Chancey Against Tunney; Stumpy is Hollis' Second.

Roy (Father) Lumpkin arrived in Atlanta yesterday for his eight-round bout with Hollis Morris as the semi-final on a boxing card at the city auditorium. Thirty-six rounds of boxing will be offered in the show that will start at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

The Lumpkin-Hollis bout was billed several weeks ago by Matchmaker Eddie Hanlon and was canceled under pressure from the city boxing commission and Georgia Tech and Georgia. Lumpkin formerly played football at Tech and Morris at Georgia.

This bout will precede a 10-round scrap, bringing together Jack Tunney, the Birmingham lad who won a following here when he defeated Mike Firpo, game little Cuban scrapper, in a bout packed with action on the Stribling-DeMave card recently, and "Pug" Avera.

Glenn Chancey was matched with Tunney but due to a shoulder injury was unable to go through with the bout. Avera was selected yesterday by Matchmaker Hanlon as the best available opponent for Tunney.

IN GOOD SHAPE.

Both Lumpkin and Morris, who has had some 15 fights as an amateur and who is by no means a novice in the ring, ended their training yesterday and were reported in excellent shape and ready for a real scrap.

Lumpkin started his ring career with a bang, marking up three quick knockouts. He polished off Jack Wall in Knoxville in less than a minute and is planning on an early rise to fame in the ring. He expects a quick victory tonight. In three fights has fought only 2 minutes and 32 seconds.

"Morris will be lucky if he stays in the ring for one round," Lumpkin declared yesterday after his session in the gym.

MORRIS NOT WORRIED.

Morris is not worried about Lumpkin's ability as a fighter and stated that he would give him the "works" tonight.

"I'm not worried about Lumpkin's knockout record," Morris said. "Why I knocked out the boy he beat last week in Knoxville with the 16-ounce gloves while sparring at the athletic club. He was no match for Lumpkin."

"Stumpy" Thomason, the Little Giant of the Flats, will be in Morris's corner as a second. Stumpy and Morris have been friends ever since they were boys and went to high school together. Other famous football players will be at the ringside watching the two former grid rivals battle in the ring.

JOE ENGLE ON WAY.

Joe Engle, president of the Chattanooga baseball club, is driving over from the Lookout city for the bout. He will arrive around noon today. With him will be several Chattanooga sports writers.

Three six-round fights will complete the card tonight. A substitute bout has been arranged in case one of the others falls through.

Tickets are on sale at the Candler Building Soda Company and the Five Points cigar store and will be placed on sale at the auditorium this afternoon when the box office opens.

CROWD PREDICTED.

One of the largest crowds is expected to turn out for the bouts tonight. Hanlon reports that the pasteboards are going at a fast clip and is looking forward to a sell-out.

The complete card follows:

Jack Tunney vs. Pug Avera, 10 rounds.

"Father" Lumpkin vs. Hollis Morris, 8 rounds.

Leo Ulhrick vs. Claude Pittman, 6 rounds.

Harry Jones vs. Joe Keith, 6 rounds.

Billy Wilson vs Casey Jones, 6 rounds.

Jock Collins Wins At St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Jock Collins won the $1,000 first prize money in the St. Petersburg open golf tournament today when he turned in a 68 for his final 18 holes which with his 73 of yesterday, made his total 141.

Horton Smith, Detroit, and Frank Walsh, Chicago, tied for second place with 142, getting $400 each. Tony Manero, unattached, New York, had a total of 143, for the $200 fourth prize money. Gene Sarazen, Fresh-meadow, L. I.; Fairly Clark, Savannah, and Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., tied with 144s to divide fifth, sixth and seventh place money, getting $75 each.

Others in the money were: Louis Chiapetta, Clearwater, 145—$50; Densmore Shute, Columbus, Ohio, 146—$50; Bill Thompson, Canton, Ohio; Henry Bontempo, Springfield, Mass., and Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., split tenth, eleventh and twelfth place money, getting $25 each.

Detroit Declines Offer of Smokies

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 5.—(AP)—All hopes for South Atlantic league baseball in Knoxville for 1930 were apparently abandoned today with the announcement that Frank Navin, Detroit owner, had rejected Tom Watkins' offer to sell the local franchise for $5,000. An effort to interest John McGraw, of the New York Giants, also failed.

A group of Knoxville business men, headed by Judge H. B. Lindsay, have been working on the tangled situation for three days without success. Watkins had previously asked $15,000 for his stock.

Ordered to Sign.

BILOXI, Miss., March 5.—(UN)—President Clark Griffith sent a letter to Holdout Catcher Roy Spencer today warning him that unless he accepted Washington's terms within two days he would be suspended.

Griffith's message was in reply to a letter from Spencer received today demanding more money.

Rookie Outfielder George Leopp, from the Baltimore Orioles, joined the team for practice today.

Ruth Offers Aid To Orphans' Home

OMAHA, Neb., March 5.—(AP)—Babe Ruth offered 1,000 autographed baseballs to sell or auction to aid in the rebuilding of Father Flanagan's Boys' Home, a Catholic orphanage, which was partially destroyed by fire Sunday with an attendant loss of approximately $75,000.

Ruth, who rose from the playground of a similar home in Baltimore to the head of baseball's swatters, wired the offer of assistance from St. Petersburg, Fla., where he is a holdout from the Yankee fold.

AMATEUR HEADS TO MEET HERE

Leslie Mann, N. A. A. F. Representative, To Discuss Organization of Sandlots.

By Ben Cothran.

There will be a meeting Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. to see if something cannot be done about the sandlot situation, which isn't at all bright these days.

The meeting is being instigated by the National Amateur Athletic Federation, a combine of practically all the athletic associations in the country.

The N. A. A. F. is sending Leslie Mann, an old-time baseball player who could hit left-handed pitching, here to talk to the amateur athletic heads of the city and surrounding country and discuss ways and means to make the picture of a small boy trying to get back the ball that has sailed through a large section of window glass something more than a memory.

BIG SPOT.

Mann will be here for two days but the big spot is set for Monday night with the meeting at the "Y." The time is 8 o'clock and all coaches, athletic directors and others interested in college, high school, Sunday school and amateur athletic teams are asked to be there and listen to Mann's suggestions.

The plan of the N. A. A. F. is a bit more involved than the sandlot idea of the American Legion, which is a member of the former body. The Legion dealt with boys 16 and under. The N. A. A. F. is taking them from 6 to 60 and is interested in organizing cities, districts and states for the propagation of athletics in its more popular forms. Baseball, it is understood, is No. 1 on the list.

To help the body spread its gospel over the country the National and American leagues have each contributed $50,000 for carrying on the work, which makes it possible to send a representative ove the entire country.

REPRESENTATIVE.

Leslie Mann was selected as that representative. He has been in athletics for an entire lifetime. He is a star at football, basketball, track and baseball. He played with the Braves and was busting left-handed pitching offerings over right field fences when the late George Stallings took hold of the Braves in last place on July 4 and beat old man McGillicuddy out of a world series the following fall.

Red Smith, ex-Cracker third baseman, and now selling insurance in Atlanta, was a teammate with Mann. He says that the N. A. A. F. could not have selected a better man, which is no pun. Mr. Mann is fired with the idea of bringing the sandlot back into its pristine glory, such as it was when you, you, you and you had your eyes set on nothing but Ty Cobb's position. Then golf began making its inroads on the youngsters and after a while this was felt. The feeling was distinct, for the majors weren't getting their supply of players and there was a lack of interest at the box office.

REASON.

That is why the big leagues are helping out. They all started on the sandlots. The N. A. A. F. is taking it up because it wants to get all the youngsters interested in all athletics.

Here in Atlanta the Sandlot league has been running for several years and competed in the American Legion eliminations. The Y-Church Association is affiliated with the N. A. A. F. and last year had 36 baseball teams playing regular schedules and this winter 30 basketball teams competed under its surveillance. The S. S. A. A. produces basketball and baseball teams and there are several industrial leagues.

All of this will provide Mann something to work with. His ideas and suggestions are expected to be helpful, for he gets paid to make them. Local amateur officials are looking forward to his coming with a great deal of anticipation. Perhaps, in a short while, they will be using vacant lots for something else than a place to erect billboards.

No 'Foreign' Bid Heard For Next Tournament

Atlanta Seems To Win by Default — Grumbling Was Faint-Hearted.

By Ed Danforth.

Atlanta will win the honor of staging the next Southern Conference basketball tournament without a struggle, according to all that could be learned on the sidelines before the short-pants expeditionary force dispersed.

No city will make a serious bid for the tournament next year; at least no representative of a conference institution who attended the show here would declare an intention.

The University of Kentucky long has wanted to entertain the bunch. Their representatives believe Lexington would support the tournament and make a financial success of it. But there is no hall, save the Kentucky gymnasium available. Obviously the tournament must be played on a neutral floor. Kentucky would not attempt to claim the advantage that would be theirs in playing in their own court.

NEW GYM NEEDED.

"Before Lexington and the University of Kentucky could ask for the tournament," said Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, faculty representative and secretary of the organization, "an auditorium would have to be built by the city. The hall would have to be heated, for at this time of year Kentucky usually is enjoying a cold wave. We would like to entertain the tournament and could be assured of good crowds. Lexington is keen about basketball. But I see no chance of an auditorium being built any time soon."

As one sits on the sidelines here at a tournament one hears no little grumbling about the apparent monopoly Atlanta holds on the winter classic. Ever since 1921, the tournament has been played under auspices of the Atlanta Athletic Club and under direction of a conference committee.

Most of the work of this committee has been done by W. A. Alexander, of Tech, and H. J. Stegeman, of Georgia, assisted by Al Doonan, representative of the club. Committeemen have been named from other institutions but often they did not attend the drawings. It was the case this year. The coaches seem willing to leave the matter entirely in the hands of Messrs. Doonan, Alexander and Stegeman. Yet, as said, there is no little polite grumbling here and there.

LOT OF WORK.

The Atlanta Athletic Club has no desire to hold a monopoly on the event. It involves a lot of work scant glory and very few thanks. Few, if any, efforts have been made to "land" the assignment each year.

Atlanta has been awarded a monopoly on the event by default, you might say. It is no small undertaking to assume responsibility for $10,000 expense and promote the affair so that the deficit prorated among the competitors, will be negligible. Yet this has been the case ever since Atlanta began staging the tournaments. Now and then there has been a surplus which was passed on to the Conference for use the next year.

It takes a good deal of civic wealth and leisure and love of basketball to support a steady run for four days and pay $2 a ticket for the championship game, especially if the "home team" is not represented.

LOUD SILENCE.

No serious objections would be offered if some other locality decided to bid for the tournament next year. Yet when it comes down to making a serious bid, the silence is deafening. The grumbling ceases.

The Atlanta show is not really so bad after all.

And most of the coaches when not complaining about the officiating, enjoyed themselves tremendously. Especially those who survived the second round.

I know the Kentucky crew forgot their disappointment at having lost the semi-final game, long enough to declare that Manager Carter Barron, of the Capitol theater; Manager Bob Hicks, of the Paramount theater, and Briggs Pekor, publicity man of the Fox theater, deserved "K's" for their generous hospitality and that Atlantans in general made the time fly for them. The other squads passed out the same sort of bouquets.

Eastern Basketball Tourney Proposed

NEW YORK, March 5—(AP)—The possibility of an eastern intercollegiate basketball tournament to determine a sectional champion, similar in style to the annual competition among southern colleges loomed through the action of Julian S. Myrick, chairman of the committee for the erection of the sport and press bay in the new cathedral of St. John the Divine.

Myrick, former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, has invited six of the leading university teams of the east—Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Columbia, Pennsylvania, St. John's, of Brooklyn, and New York University—to participate in a two-day tournament to be staged in Madison Square Garden late this month. The proceeds, after payment of expenses, would be devoted to erection of the sports chapel, for which $100,000 of the $200,000 necessary already has been subscribed.

Indications of favorable action have been received by Myrick from all but Columbia, prospective champion of the eastern intercollegiate league. The Lions have indicated that they would prefer to close the current season with the final contest on the league schedule.

Chamblee Tourney Will Start Tonight

CHAMBLEE, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—With the boys' title already decided and a matter of record, the fifth district girls' basketball crown is to be the bone of contention in a tournament slated to start here Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Only five teams have filed entries for the meet, so that the pairing problem was complicated.

It was decided, however, to give Chamblee, defending champions, a bye in the first day's play with the winner of the Stone Mountain-Clarkston game being given the other bye in the semi-final round.

Pairings follow:

Thursday night at 7:30—Decatur vs. Avondale; at 8:30—Stone Mountain vs. Clarkston.

Friday night at 8 o'clock—Chamblee vs. winner of Stone-Mountain-Clarkston game.

Monday night at 7:30—Consolation game; at 8:30—final game for title.

Kid Chocolate Wins.

TAMPA, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, Cuba's dusky featherweight sensation, decisively outpointed Benny Hall, St. Louis negro, in a 10-round bout at Plant field here tonight. Chocolate gave Hall a thorough boxing lesson from start to finish, but could not put over a knockout punch.

Three Crackers Report for Duty

Nick Dumovich, Jimmy Johnston, and Joe Kiefer, two twirlers and a third baseman, reported to the Atlanta headquarters of the far-famed Crackers Wednesday afternoon and dropped in to see Mr. Spiller Wednesday and went on down the line to Douglas and the training camp.

All three of the moundsmen reported themselves in fine shape and ready for a big season.

Madden, Veteran Fighter, Is Dead

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP)—Bartley Madden, 41-year-old heavyweight, of New York, died at a hospital here tonight of injuries sustained in a 20-foot fall from the west steps of the treasury building during a sightseeing trip.

Madden said he involuntarily stepped off the incline. A passerby saw him lying on the concrete roadway and summoned aid. At the hospital he was found to be suffering from three broken ribs, a broken hip and internal injuries.

During brief periods of consciousness at the hospital, Madden said he had stopped off for a day in the capital on his way from Miami to New York. At the former city he witnessed the Sharkey-Scott fight.

Madden related that he had little money and wanted to get back to his motherless son in New York. His wife died about three weeks ago.

The fighter was born in Ireland in 1890 and after winning the Irish championship came to the United States. Here he had built up a reputation for his staying qualities and there were few heavyweights who could knock him out before 1917. Of recent years he was a man against whom all aspirants for the heavyweight title were sent at some time along their road.

Backstops Battle On Auburn Nine

AUBURN, Ala., March 5.—A four-cornered fight is being staged for the position behind the plate on Auburn's 1930 baseball team. A quartet of capable receivers is battling for the post in the personages of Charles Kaley and Aubrey Lewis, sophomores; Travis Brown, junior, and Rupert Ingram, senior.

Passed balls and the like cost the Tigers several games last season, but this will hardly be the case this year as all the catching candidates are showing up well for this time of the season.

Coach Fred Sheridan is using Kaley and Ingram in the majority of the practice tilts as both have had more experience than Lewis and Brown. The latter two are by no means out of the running as they are advancing fast and might receive the call to start in some of the 28 games facing the Plainsmen.

Kaley looked mighty good with the 1929 frosh team as he showed the makings of another Ebb James, one of the greatest wearers of the mask Auburn has ever had. In some departments he has the distinct advantage over Ingram, while Ingram has the same advantage in others. Ingram has one of the surest pegs of any of the quartet, but passed balls might prove his undoing.

Barry Wood Standout Among Younger Players on Davis Team

HARVARD STAR IS BRILLIANT IN OTHER SPORTS

Richards Says Youth Has Bright Future in Championship Tennis.

By Vincent Richards.

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, March 5.—When the players on the Davis cup squad for 1930 were announced, one man stood out with particular prominence, not so much because of what he has done in tennis but becaus he is one of the most versatile athletes who ever won distinction in the racquet world.

This player is W. Barry Wood, Jr., if you follow football, hockey or baseball, I need not tell you of the exploits of this Harvard sophomore. Last fall he was one of the best quarterbacks football produced, and among the most sensational forward passers in the east.

In hockey and baseball, also, Wood is an outstanding performer, and he is one of the finest scholars at Harvard. On top of all this he gives promise of being a genuine tennis find, and the Davis cup committee had real warrant for placing him on the squad.

JUSTIFICATION.

If there were any need to justify Wood's presence there it could be furnished in his showing in the national championship at Forest Hills, L. I., last summer. Until that tourney Wood's name had meant little to the average tennis fan outside of New England, for Wood had played almost entirely around Boston, and had done nothing startling, although he ranked second among the New England players.

In the championship the first national affair he had played in, the Harvard sophomore started by polishing off the veteran Hobey Hyde, Hartford, Conn., in straight sets, and the next round he put out A. Baisley Sheridan, young gradute of Yale, well known in tennis.

In the third match Wood made his name. In that round he went up against Johnny Doeg, California's celebrated young star from Stanford University, and the battle between these college youths had the gallery applauding enthusiastically.

UNDER-DOG.

Most of the applause was for Wood because he was the under-dog and no one had figured he would give Doeg the slightest trouble. Wood took the second set from Johnny, and it was only after they had struggled an hour through 20 games that Doeg prevented him from taking the fourth set also.

Johnny stands among our best young volleyers, but in this match Wood not only held his own at the net with the Californian, but at times completely outclassed him, giving an exhibition in the forecourt dazzling in the extreme.

In addition to being a good volleyer, the Harvard sophomore has nice ground strokes, and in this is more fortunate than Doeg. The Stanford youth's service, more than anything else, decided the match.

CREDITABLE.

Considering this was Wood's first experience in national championship play his showing was highly creditable. Give him a few more years for development and he may prove one of the game's biggest headliners. Not only has he the strokes to go far, but he has fine temperament and a coolness and braininess which augur for success.

It was Wood's coolness under fire and his fine generalship which made him so valuable to Harvard football, besides his kicking and passing, and those quanties mean just as much to him in tennis.

Because he is interested in so many other sports, and gives time to football, hockey and baseball in addition to tennis, Wood probably will not reach his greatest heights in the racquet game until he has been graduated.

IMPROVE.

Once he has his degree it may be expected he will give more time to tennis and with more experience and practice he should be a much better player.

Wood's selection for the cup squad was wise, for it may awaken greater interest by Wood in tennis and lead him to seek the highest honors. But while it may be two or three years before this young man begins to knock over the big ones, he is good enough now to make most of the players on the squad step. It will be interesting to see how he fares in competition for positions on the team this year.

It is to be hoped Wood will play more extensively this summer than in the past, and if he doesn't go to Europe with the team he will bear watching in the national intercollegiate championship at Haverford, Pa., in June.

Costly Baseball In Blue Ridge

The six clubs of the Blue Ridge league were operated last year at a total loss of $75,000—an average of $12,500 per club.

The Cardinals, the most experienced operators of minor league property, dropped $7,000 in Waynesboro. The Indians at Frederick and the Yankees at Chambersburg lost a total of $41,000. The A's lost $11,000 at Martinsburg and private inerests lost $8,000 at Hagerstown and as much at Hanover.

Peoria lost $20,000 for the Cincinnati Reds last season and the Terre Haute club cost Cleveland $25,000.

The SPORTLIGHT

by Grantland Rice

A Revision.

Little drops of water,
Little grains of sand,
Make the duffer suffer
More than we understand.

"The speed of the club head is all that counts in a golf swing," says a contemporary. It's all that counts, if you don't care in which direction the golf ball is headed.

The International Upheaval.

If 1930 doesn't smash all records for international competition it will at least make a large gesture in that direction.

Take a look at these few succulent statistics:

1. The international side of the heavyweight hullabaloo.
2. The British invasion by the Walker Cup team in golf.
3. Same effect by American women in golf.
4. Wimbledon show, with Helen Wills Moody and Tilden in tennis.
5. The tennis Davis Cup matches later on (twenty-six nations).
6. Bobby Jones in British amateur and British open.
7. Glenna Collett's bid for British golf championship for women.
8. International polo—challenge year.
9. International yacht race—Lipton and the big cup.

Here you have boxing, tennis, golf, polo and yachting with a number of events omitted that will be thrown into the picture later on.

It doesn't include two football games that will be played the University of Mexico, and it reserves no special mention for a party by the name of Carnera, who has already entered an international circus into the minutes of the meeting.

A and B Again

It seems that A has bet B that there are not a hundred college or ex-college ball players in the two big leagues, and A would like a report upon his bet.

He loses by about two dormitories. The Cleveland club alone has 17 college ball players under contract this spring. Many others have 10, 12 or 13. There are at least 8 or 9 college products in the American league and almost as many in the National.

Both the minors and the major leagues have gone into the cultivation of college stars upon an extensive scale. Their scouts are hot upon the collegiate towpaths. And college coaches, nearly always professional ball players, have the tip ready. Many of them get their share for slipping the good news to a big league club when a budding star is spotted in the offing.

A good college ball player is always sure of a chance to show his wares. And they don't have to be phenoms in college.

Not so many had heard of Rhem when he came up from Clemson to join the Braves and stand the Giants on their clammy necks in one of the first games he worked.

One of the greatest college pitchers that ever lived was Dutch Carter, of Yale. He could have signed with any big league club then in the game. But Dutch didn't happen to feel that way about it. Carroll, of Holy Cross, had the best college record of any modern pitcher, and while still a good man, has hardly lived up to his college promise.

Sometimes the more or less unknowns show more stuff than those acclaimed with sounding brass and tinkling cymbal. Also with the old hip-hip. There were not so many headlines about the college pitching of Matty, Bender, Plank and Coombs before they began winning under the big top.

Against the Field.

It has become a case of H. Smith against the field in these recent open tournaments. It isnt quite that way, but it is almost. There are too many good scoring professionals now at work. Too many who can stick around 70 or break it.

The young Missouri star has been remarkably consistent most of the way. He may yet equal his mark last year, for there are several big shots left before the bunch swing north again. But there are many to beat. There will be unusual interest in the outcome when Smith and Bobby Jones meet again at Augusta in the Southeastern open. Some one else may outstep both, but it isn't probable.

One of the largest rushes comes in the La Gorce open, where the first collection is $5,000. Smith will shoot the works here to repeat his victory of last spring—not to mention the cash. Denny Shute nailed the big money at Los Angeles and Gene Sarazen bagged the big pot at Agua Caliente. The Missouri entry feels that he is about due for one of the more important bank deposits.

MY FAULT

My Greatest Golfing Weakness and How I Corrected It.

By Arthur B. Sweet,
Crack Chicago Amateur.

This is the twenty-first of a series of articles written by famous amateur and professional golfers, telling how they overcame outstanding faults in their play.

For years I thought my inability to hit a long iron was my major fault, but last year I ran into a streak of shanking—the most terrifying thing that can come to any golfer. It happens to the greatest of them, too. I've read where Harry Vardon once had a spell of shanking over a whole season, and if that old master wasn't exempt I don't suppose anyone can be.

For three weeks I hit every iron shot I played smack in the rivot and sometimes clear up on the shaft, fully two inches above the face of the club. I tried everything I could think of and adopted the suggestions of a dozen players, but nothing happened. The ball continued to squirt off at right angles every time I hit an iron shot.

Then one day a thought occurred to me. I took my mashie niblick, the worst offender in this shanking spree, and went out on the course with a lot of balls. I decided to play the shot with a very short backswing and hit through on a straight line—more of a shove than a hit.

I found the ball would go forward, at any rate, and not sneak off to the right with the sudden slice so characteristic of the shanked shot. Hitting harder, still with the short backswing, I found I could get real distance and yet hold my direction.

Gradually I applied this method, with minor variations, to other clubs, and I soon found the shanking had left me. It still crops up at times, but not for long. When it does I go back to the short swing and the malady disappears.

There may be a dozen other methods for getting out of a shanking spree. Everyone of the sympathizers I met apparently had a pet remedy, but this one of mine worked so well that I think it worth passing on to others.

The basic cause of shanking lies in the swing, of course. You're getting off line. It is the sensible thing to go to the root of the matter. Don't be too much concerned with the grip or the stance. Look to the swing. A short backswing is naturally more easily controlled than a full one. That was why I started with the very abbreviated one, to see if I couldn't get back on the line. It worked, and any medicine that works is good medicine.

Shanking troubles every average golfer. It comes to pester the professionals and low handicap amateurs less frequently, but it does crop up with them at times as it did with me. If you are suffering from an attack of this golfing disease try my plan and see how it works. It was a lifesaver for me.

Two Pointers Lead At Grand Junction

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., March 5.—(AP)—Four of the 20 dogs entered in the national championship field trials ran three-hour heats today over the Ames hunting preserve here under perfect weather conditions with the brace which ran in the forenoon—the pointers Woodleigh Buckshot and Outcast—having the best luck in the number of birds found.

Bucket, owned by F. B. Hower, of Buffalo, N. Y., and handled by W. D. English, of High Point, N. C., found six bevies and a single and Outcast, entered by C. S. Jones, Tulsa, Okla., four bevies and a single. Outcast was handled by C. B. Black, of Tulsa.

Eagle Ferris and Slipaway, also pointers, made up the afternoon brace. Eagle Ferris, entry of Dr. H. E. Longsdorf, of Mount Holly, N. J., and handled by Ed Farrier, of Union Springs, Ala., found three bevies. Slipaway found two. Slipaway is owned by W. C. Teagle, of New York, and was handled by C. H. Harris, of Haynesville, Ala.

A Mistake.

Branch Rickey admits to a $28,500 mistake when he let Tony Cuccinello, third baseman with the Reds, get away. The Cards sold him for $1,500. Rickey says he's worth $30,000 now.

WOMEN GOLFERS NAME OFFICERS, PLAN TOURNEYS

Mrs. O. B. Keeler Is Re-elected To Serve as President.

Mrs. O. B. Keeler was re-elected president of the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association, at the annual election of officers Wednesday morning at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Other officers are Mrs. Helen Lowndes, vice president; Mrs. W. D. Doak, secretary, and Mrs. L. H. Beck, treasurer.

Miss Lucy Adams was chosen as chairman of the tournament committee and will have charge of all handicaps. Representatives of the various clubs who will be members of the tournament committee are Mrs. A. G. Smith, East Lake; Mrs. Forest Fowler, Capital City; Mrs. M. S. Mentzer, Druid Hills; Mrs. Claude Williamson, Ansley Park; Mrs. Albert Jones, West End; Mrs. Robert Schwab, Ingleside, and Mrs. Carlysle Fraser, of the municipal courses.

The annual report of the treasurer showed the club to be in good financial condition. A new constitution and by-laws for the club were read and adopted as read.

It was voted to hold a three-day medal play tournament, during the latter part of March or the first week in April to determine handicaps for the spring. No handicaps will be carried over from last year.

Druid Hills, East Lake and Ansley Park will be the three courses on which the medal play tournaments will be played to determine the starting handicaps. The play will be from scratch and prizes for winners in each class will be given.

The annual woman's city championship tournament will be the last event of the year and will be played early in October, it was stated at the meeting.

There were 21 members of the club present, approximately one-third of its membership, and it was one of the most enthusiastic meetings the club has ever held.

Plans for a number of medal play tournaments during the summer months were briefly discussed and left to the tournament committee for definite action.

HOOK SCISSORS IS JONES' BEST

Tall Texan Will Try To Stop Dick Skikat Wednesday.

Paul Jones, the tall Texan, who has been a prominent wrestler for some years because he can squeeze harder with his long legs than anyone else in the game, didn't pick up his hold by accident.

Jones, who meets Dick Shikat here next Wednesday night at the Auditorium, figured out his hold because of his knowledge of the game.

"I knew my legs were long enough for me to throw one across a man in front and bring the other one around and hook it over the other leg in front," said Jones. "I could hook it right at the knee.

TIGHTER.

"This enabled me to get a tighter hold than a man can get with an ordinary body scissors. I could exert pressure on all sides. Especially could I exert it at the solar plexus region. It enabled me to bring all the force of my contracted leg muscles and those of my thighs into play. I knew I had a real hold. After that I began to work at it.

"I worked for hours each day with a sparring partner before I dared try it in a ring. It was not very successful at first. I had to learn from experience in what fashions I could best start the hold. It is more difficult to obtain than most holds. Once I perfected it I have kept it going and have been able to beat most of the leading title contenders with it."

Jones is the only wrestler who has won a fall from Dick Shikat, the man whom he meets here next Wednesday night. The fall was won in a New York match some time ago. It was this fall which caused Jones to be selected over Pete Sauer.

INTERESTING.

In the semi-windup Webber has one of the most interesting figures in the wrestling game. Charley Fox, the big Cleveland cop, gave up pounding pavements some years ago because he could beat a lot of men who were wrestling. He liked it rough and since he could take it the same way he started in being just as rough as he chose to be.

Which was plenty rough. The crowds never did like him. Fox particularly likes to go into a town and dispose of the favorite wrestler in that town. He treats them rough. And when the crowd boos he throws kisses to them.

His matches with Rudy Dusek in Memphis are still being talked about there. Dusek chose to be just as rough as Fox. Before the match was done each man was streaked with blood and the mat was stained. They battled to utter exhaustion in two matches that thrilled big crowds.

Early Games.

Sidney Weil, new Red president, thinks the business man should have a big afternoon. He will start his games at 2:50 so the businessman can get away in time for a round of golf.

Veteran Catchers.

Wallie Schang, of the A's, and Hank Gowdy, of the Braves, are the two veteran catchers of 1930. Each owns up to 39 years.

Turf Circles Upset By Young Jockey

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—(AP)—Race horse circles were perplexed today over the discovery that Verlyn Smith, apprentice jockey who was runner-up to Melvin Knight as champion jockey of 1930, was too young to ride.

Under the rules of racing a boy cannot ride until he is 16 years old. It was discovered that Smith was only 14 after he had ridden more than a hundred winners and won more than $200,000 in purses. He was so good that George Collins, who thought he was 16, sold his contract to the Greentree Stables for $25,000. Now the problem will be laid before the Kentucky racing commission for settlement.

STATE TOURNEY STARTS TODAY; 12 ARE ENTERED

Winner of Meet Will Go to Chicago; Decatur in Opener.

ATHENS, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Vienna High school, state champions last year, tops a field of 12 scholastic quintets that start play here tomorrow in the 1930 Georgia state high school basketball championship tournament.

The tournament continues through Saturday with both afternoon and night games tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. The first game at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon pits Decatur High against Stilson.

The teams entered and the districts they represent follow: Stilson, first; Albany, second; Vienna, third; LaGrange, fourth; Decatur, fifth; Thomaston, sixth; Rome, seventh; Hartwell, eighth; Braselton, ninth; Stapleton, tenth; Valdosta, eleventh, and Perry, twelfth.

The Vienna squad drew a bye in the first round, while Braselton High, runner-up last year, faces Stapleton in a first-round engagement.

UPPER BRACKET.

3:30 o'clock—Decatur vs. Stilson.
4:30 o'clock—Rome vs. Perry.
LaGrange and Valdosta drew byes.

LOWER BRACKET.

8 o'clock—Stapleton vs. Braselton.
9 o'clock—Hartwell vs. Thomaston.
Albany and Vienna drew byes.

VALDOSTA OFF FOR STATE MEET.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 5.—Mike Herndon, head coach of the Valdosta High school, left today with his basketball team to enter the state tournament at Athens.

The Valdosta team won the eleventh district tournament at Douglas last week and is in good shape for the state tournament, but weakened by the absence of McKey and Martin from the squad.

Those making the trip are: Captain Parramore, all-conference guard; Oliver, all-conference forward; Warlick, Odum, Touchton, Moore, Young, Martin and Ben Stanaland.

Athens Winner Goes to Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 5.—Georgia state high school basketball champion, which will be determined at Athens Saturday, will be extended an invitation to compete in the University of Chicago's national basketball interscholastic by Manager H. O. Crisler.

City Court Meet Gets Under Way

College Park's 28-to-27 victory over Central Presbyterian featured the first round of eight games played in the annual city basketball tournament Wednesday night on the Y. M. C. A. court. The schedule was started at 6:30 o'clock and ended a few minutes before midnight.

Tonight's games will start at 7 o'clock with College Park vs. Alpha Class. Georgia Power Company will play Druid Hills at 7:20 o'clock with the Peachtree Christian vs. Independent Blues game at 8:20 o'clock. The feature game on tonight's program will be at 8:40 o'clock when the Triple E class meets the Lutheran team, both members of the S. A. A. amateur league.

Gordon Street Presbyterian defeated Alpha Class 27 to 22 Wednesday night, but because of three ineligible prep basketball players the committee awarded the game to Alpha Class. It was played under a protest by the Alpha Class.

In other games College Park defeated Central Presbyterian of the S. S. A. A., 28 to 27; Georgia Power Company defeated Druid Hills Baptist, 18 to 15; Lutheran defeated Central Presbyterian, 28 to 13; Peachtree Christian defeated First National Bank, 22 to 19; Triple E. Class defeated Western Heights, 24 to 14; Druid Hills Presbyterian defeated Grant Park, 30 to 19, and Independent Blues defeated English Avenue, 28 to 3.

Civitans To Honor Gordon Basketball, Football Players

Civitans To Honor Gordon Teams

BARNESVILLE, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—The Barnesville Civitan Club, of which Dr. J. A. Corry is president, will honor the Gordon basketball and football teams at a turkey dinner Thursday at the clubhouse.

Dr. O. H. Willis, who for the past eight years has been chairman of athletics on the Gordon board of trustees, is in charge of the arrangements.

Colonel Sam Hewlett, of Atlanta, and Dr. G. P. Huguley, both former Gordon students and athletes, have accepted invitations to be present and celebrate with "the home town boys."

Preparations are being made for nearly 100, according to Mrs. L. C. Tyus and Mrs. J. D. Smith, chairmen of the banquet, which will be served by the Woman's Club, Mrs. L. A. Collier, president.

"Barnesville and the Civitans are proud of Gordon's athletes and we want to take this means to tell them and the world," said Dr. Willis, who is one of Barnesville's greatest athletic fans.

H. R. (Kid) Cecil is coach of the two teams, and the Civitans will honor him on this occasion. He is considered one of the foremost mentors in the G. I. A. A. and was recently elected Gordon's most popular professor by the student body. Hut Parks is captain of the football team and Ernest Godfry of the basketball team. Souvenirs will be given these 40 players at this meeting.

Captain Leads Davidson Scorers

DAVIDSON, N. C., March 5.—Frontis Johnston, of Jefferson, Ga., captain of the Davidson college Wildcat basketball team, led his teammates in scoring during the cage season which ended here this week. This player had a total of 147 points. Carl Pritchett, of Reidsville, captain of the five last year and who was paired with Johnston at forward, was second with 134 points. Together these two students accounted for almost half of the entire Davidson total for 19 games. Both finished their basketball careers at Davidson last Thursday night.

Dean Rusk, of Atlanta, Ga., center, ranked next in the column with 115 points, followed by the two guards, Goodson and Proctor, both of Lincolnton, N. C., with 99 and 25 tallies, respectively. During the season the Wildcats won 12 of their tilts and lost 7 of them, scoring a total of 597 points to their opponents' 488. Davidson averaged slightly over 31 points a game.

Skinny Pierce, center, of Spencer, captain of the Davidson freshman five, was high scorer among his teammates with 137 points, being followed by Allen Rogers, forward, of Raleigh, with 115. A. M. Manson, forward, of Jacksonville, Fla., was third with 58; Bruce Penbody, guard, of Charlotte, had 53, and J. M. Wagner, guard, of Statesville, had 23 tallies to his credit. The freshmen won 10 contests and lost 6, scoring a total of 449 points for their 16 encounters, compared with 378 for their opponents. Their average was 28 points a game.

Competitive Strain Tells on Champion

LONDON, March —(AP)—Miss Joyce Wethered, British women's golf champion, who recently announced her retirement from active competition, feels that the strain of playing up to the standard expected of her by the British public is too much.

Miss Wethered regained at St. Andrews last May the British title which she had relinquished four years previously. She had held the title five times. She is 28 years old.

U. S. Plans Young Davis Cup Squad

Names of Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter Are Missing From List of Candidates for Team.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UN)—Official plans for the United States 1930 Davis cup campaign were announced today by the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The program calls for international competition in this country and abroad from April 14 until July.

The Davis cup squad will be named within a month and continue play as a unit until completion of cup competition. Present plans call for the naming of John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J.; Wilmer Allison, of Texas, and George Lott, of Chicago, as the nucleus of the squad. These players and other possible candidates for the squad will play in southern tournaments.

DEPENDS ON STARS.

Selection of players for the American zone Davis cup matches will be based entirely upon the records made by players in the tournaments and training competition. Fitz-Eugene Dixon, captain of the 1930 team, will attend all tourneys to analyze work of the candidates.

The U. S. L. T. A. plans to enter a team of young players in the American zone matches and if it wins to send a team of comparatively young players to Europe for the inter-zone finals.

The squad will gather at Pinehurst for the north and south championships April 14. The players will compete in the Mason and Dixon matches at White Sulphur Springs the following week and then continue practice at Huntington Valley Country Club, Philadelphia.

FIRST CUP MATCHES.

The first American zone Davis cup match, with Canada, will be played at Philadelphia. The winners will be paired against the Cuba-Mexico winner in the American zone finals.

George Lott may be selected to do his training on the tournament courts of Europe. The United States has been invited to send an official representative to the Belgian and French championships, and Captain Dixon has suggested that Lott be selected. If Lott makes the trip he will sail early in May, joining the American Davis cup team in Europe later in the summer for the inter-zone finals and challenge round matches with France.

A Good Prospect.

Irving Jeffries, shortstop with the White Sox, is said to have a pair of hands as good as any player in the game. One of his particular boosters is Dave Bancroft, of the Giants.

Jacket Ball Squad Holds Practice Tilt

"That old chatter" long associated with baseball, rang out over the sward of Kid Clay's new Rose Bowl field at Georgia Tech Wednesday afternoon as the Whites and the Golds, with a couple of other fellows, went through their first workout of the week.

The Jacket squad is fast rounding into shape, and Coach Clay is pushing progress in his practices.

He split the crew yesterday afternoon and sent them through a regular game, with a number of combinations being tried in the drive to select the team which will take the field against the opposition in the campaign to come.

Paper at Mercer Honors Atlantan

MACON, Ga., March 5.—"Skeet" Howard, Atlanta, a junior in the school of commerce at Mercer University, was placed on the Mercer Cluster, all-fraternity basketball team at the close of the annual tournament. Howard, star forward for the Kappa Sigma fraternity and former Boys' High school star, scored 34 points during the tournament to come second in scoring honors.

Other men who placed in The Cluster's section are: Chaudoin Carlton, Cochran, forward, Pi Kappa Alpha; Lamar Plunkett, Unadilla, guard, Sigma Nu; Billy Story, Waverly Hall, guard, Pi Kappa Phi, and Emerson Bell, Macon, center, Pi Kappa Alpha. Pi Kappa Alpha won the tournament by defeating Kappa Sigma 28-17. Ten teams were entered in the tournament.

Veteran Returns.

Harry Lake, veteran catcher, has returned to the Baltimore club as coach of pitchers. He will be available for backstop duty if needed, but the Birds have two young men for that work.

25 Candidates Report for First Georgia Baseball Practice

WHITE PLEASED WITH OUTLOOK; BIG YEAR SEEN

Ten Letter Men, Well Scattered, Are in Early Crew.

By Buck Anderson.

ATHENS, Ga., March 5.—Spring was in the air here this afternoon as 25 frisky candidates reported to Coach Bill White for the initial practice of the year for the embryo University of Georgia baseball team.

Any joy was in the heart of the Georgia baseball coach as he watched his team go through their paces for the first time since they hung up their togs last summer.

This afternoon's practice session, postponed two days after the date originally set by Coach White due to weather conditions, was held just 23 days before the Georgia Bulldogs meet the Mercer University Bears in Athens in their initial game of the season. Mercer will play a two-game series here Friday and Saturday, March 28 and 29.

The number of men out this afternoon does not indicate the full strength represented in the candidates for the Georgia team. Ten regulars, men who last year shone on the team that was only eliminated from a chance at the conference championship in the last game of the season, were out on old Sanford field driving hard.

The veterans are not confined to one part of the diamond either. They include two pitchers and two catchers, making two complete batteries that have been in action together before; a complete infield, with four men who have played together for at least two years, and two outfielders that have been cavorting in the outer gardens of the Bulldog nine for three years.

The two pitchers are "Lefty" Murdock, who has struck out so many batters it's getting monotonous to count 'em, and Porter Frye, whose record last year was good to say the least.

Besides these two veterans, three members of last year's freshman team made such impressive records on the mound that Bill White is counting on them to give the veterans plenty of relief this spring. The three are Graham Simpson, "Speed" Reid, and Spurgeon Chandler.

Chandler has a speed ball that is hard to see, especially when it's headed straight for the plate.

Two veterans on the receiving end of the pitching staff are Captain Harry Gorman and Carter Tate. Both Captain Gorman and Tate have seen service aplenty behind the home plate.

The infield combination which Coach White is depending on includes Roy Day, who worked at third base last season; Alternate Captain Cliff McGaughey, at shortstop; Brick Davenport, at second, and Bennie Rothstein, football star of three years' standing and a regular diamonder for two seasons, at first.

Besides the four regulars, four exfreshman players will be contesting for berths. They are: Austie Downes, Tommy Moran, Bobby Rose, all three members of last year's gridiron team, and Tom Arnold.

The outfield is the only place that has anything resembling a hole. Joe Martin, Georgia's only three-letterman at present, and Pete Herndon, former Madison A. & M. star, are the two veterans in the outfield.

Four promising sophomores have turned up, however, and are contesting for berths. They are Hilburn, Culbertson, Ginn and Bird.

Jack Sheehan Digs Up Likely Young Hurler

By Ralph McGill.

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 5.—Those who might have pictured Jack Sheehan as an unwilling sort of young man because of his reported demands for larger figures on his salary check, did him a very grave injustice.

Not only will he play for the Crackers, but he came along bringing pitching aid. Sheehan reported at camp before daybreak this morning. His name was on the register along with that of a gentleman named John Rydzewski.

John is positively no relation whatever to Stanislaus Zbyszko, the wrestler, nor Ignace Paderewiski, the pianola player.

HERE'S HOW.

R for rassler.
Y for yodel.
D for dumpling.
Z for Zipp Newman.
E for epsom salts.
W for washday.
S for stew.
K for Kiwanis, and
I for I spy.

Yes, mam, Mr. Rydzewski speaking. He is just six feet three inches and 210 pounds of pitching beef. If this keeps up they can rename the Crackers and call them Giants. Jim Battle, Ed Brown and Dick Burrus are not pigmies. Not much.

John Rydzewski pitched for four or five semi-pro teams around Chicago last season. He burned them up around there, even folks used to all the shooting that went on around the loop up there used to shiver when his fast ball went by.

RIGHT-HANDER.

John Rydzewski is a right-hander with a lot of stuff. Jack Sheehan, who is sponsoring his debut with the Crackers, is putting out no excessive ballyhoo about him. He does say, however, that he believes the Polish gentleman will make the grade as a thrower for John Dobbs.

Johnny Dobbs took quite an interest in him. "Gosh, all hemlock," said John Dobbs, "but he is large enough, reminds me of the time when Dolly Stark and a club owner were down in a little Mississippi town scouting a pitcher. They ate a heavy noon-day dinner and were entertained lavishly by friends. At the ball park they fell asleep. Along about the seventh inning the ball club owner awoke and roused up his scout. 'Hey, hey,' he said, 'I brought you along to scout this pitcher.' 'Well,' said the scout, peering at the field uncertainly, 'you'd better buy him. He is a big so and so.'"

The new addition to the throwing staff went to work slowly but stayed out all afternoon. If some of the pitchers, who are just hanging on the ragged edge anyhow, could see John Rydzewski they would hustle on down to Douglas. Just standing around on the hoof he looks good. As an indication that he was well thought of it developed that Clarence (Pants) Rowland, of Nashville, had been after him in an effort to sign him as a Vol. And Jack Sheehan rescued him from that situation. Arrival of the Chicago sharpshooter brought the total number of players in camp to 19.

LIST.

The players here are Ed McGee, Dick Burrus, Jim Battle, Lonnie Cleveland and Jack Sheehan, infielders; Ed Lass, Jim Hammond, Ed Brown, Charles Hunt, Elton Langford, outfielders. Erskine Thompson, Ivy Wingo, catchers; Jim Seagraves, Red Oldham, Lefty Weirman, C. C. (Cascara) Nemitz, Bill Griffin, John Rydzewski and Lefty Cox, pitchers. Nemitz, who was with Atlanta and Macon last year, arrived after dinner tonight.

Cox, a frail young man from Blackshear, Ga., paid his own way to Douglas for a trial with the Crackers. He is even smaller than Art Nehf or Benny Frey, much smaller. He has a lot of stuff but will hardly make the grade in professional baseball because of his size. The little fellows with the spirit make up some of the major tragedies of sport. They bob up now and then in football possessed of a lot of spirit and courage but lacking in the size to go on. It is possible in Florida. It was hot here today. It is, of course, too early to speculate, but if everything goes satisfactorily this season it would not be surprising were the Crackers to train here for the next several seasons.

At the lunch hour today the boys found themselves with a lot of spare time on their hands. Two sandwiches do not occupy a hungry ball player very long.

Oh, no. You'd really be surprised how very little time it requires to eat two sandwiches.

The conversation swung around to the transportation problem of the future and the possibility that ball clubs might travel by airplane.

GROUND-MINDED.

It was surprising to find that the Crackers are all ground-minded. A propagandist to make the Crackers air-minded would be balked, thwarted and baffled. The Crackers do not want to travel by plane. They will stick to Pullmans.

"People are funny," philosophised Ivy Wingo, the catcher. "I remember one year I was with Cincinnati there was a fellow in town giving balancing exhibitions. He would sit in a chair balanced on the edge of a 15-story building and read a newspaper. After one of the exhibitions he came out to the park to see the game. He was down around the bench and saw me catching. 'Gosh,' this fellow says to me, 'I wouldn't catch a baseball game for $10,000. Why man, that's dangerous.'"

The Crackers will workout each day this week from 10 until 4 with an hour off for lunch. Trainer Mike O'Brien informed the players today that later on Dobbs would keep the club out until about dark. And dark down here doesn't come until about 7:30.

They won't be out that late, of course, but Dobbs is a worker. O'Brien says that he believed the Birmingham clubs of the last three years were the best conditioned clubs he ever saw.

Frank Walker Joins Crackers

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 5.—Frank Walker, outfielder purchased by the Crackers from Greenville, in the South Atlantic league, reported late tonight.

Pitchers Joe Kiefer and Nick Dumovich wired tonight that they would arrive Thursday. Milt Stock and Jimmy Johnston are also expected. Word of Johnny Dobbs growing impatient at their absence is thought to have speeded them up somewhat.

YOUNGSTER LOOKS GOOD

to dig up statistics to prove that the little man is just as good as the big ones but he isn't.

Johnny Dobbs' custom of beginning practice at 10 o'clock in the morning and continuing until 4 in the afternoon with an hour off for lunch at which time dinner is spread on the grounds, is bringing about a traffic congestion in Douglas.

CUSTOM.

At the lunch hour John Dobbs has two sandwiches sent out for each man along with a huge pot of coffee. The custom the ladies started of cutting the bread thin for the bridge luncheon sandwiches seems to have been accepted generally. By the time the two sandwiches have disappeared down the throat of a hungry ball player, there is left a rumbling of discontent: a still small voice of protest from his stomach.

The doors of the dining room at the Doucoff hotel open at 6 o'clock for dinner. And, my friends, those of you who think the traffic is bad on Peachtree street during the homegoing hours should be at the doors to the dining room and see the traffic there. Food at the Doucoff hotel is good. The waitresses have already worn two inches off their legs and bent their arms permanently out of shape hustling those trays up to the tables.

This will be the best conditioned ball club that has ever stepped on the field for Atlanta. John Dobbs will have them ready to go with the bell. The training hours are long and none of the time is spent in gazing around at the scenery.

Milt Stock is due tomorrow. He waited over to see the final night of the carnival at Mobile and will be along Thursday. The full squad is expected by Monday.

Two hundred youngsters will work out at the big farm of the Cardinal organization at Danville, Ill., this spring. The work will start early in April.

ATHLETICS SET TO WIN AGAIN, SAYS TRUMBULL

Macks Have Necessary Hitting, Fielding, Pitching; Not Overconfident

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 5.—The Athletics should win another American league flag.

Connie Mack's players have the hitting and fielding strength, and pitching and the club has the reserves. They also have the confidence which comes with a championship, while retaining their ambition. They have not won often enough to stale the taste of victory. Mickey Cochrane, for example, said to me:

"The players on this club are too intelligent to permit overconfidence to beat us. We know that we must get out there and play ball from the start. Games are harder to win after the teams get going than they are in the spring. The team which gets the jump has a big advantage.

LEAD.

"If it is possible, I'd like to see our club have a lead of 20 games by July 1. You can't get too far ahead. This coming with a rush at the finish is all right, but suppose you get bad breaks? Then you don't do much rushing."

At this time last year things looked less promising for the Mackmen than they do now. Bishop was a holdout and Boley had a bad arm. Grove was on first, Hale on second, Dykes at short and Foxx at third.

Connie could vary this by putting Foxx on first and Hale at third or Dykes on second and Borelli at short. None of these combinations was very satisfactory.

One of the remarkable things concerning the team just now is that every regular player is signed. Championship teams frequently have trouble signing their men for the following year, but it is doubtful whether Connie talked to any of the men 15 minutes before getting an autograph to a contract, if he talked to them at all.

CONFIDENT.

So confident are they of winning and so eager to get their cut of world's series money again that I believe the wise old leader could have signed any of them at a reduced figure. Needless to say he did not.

Indeed, I believe that not only the regulars, but the whole squad is signed, with the exception of John McGrew, a young pitcher, whom Mr. Mack appears to have nicknamed "What of It?" All the players barring McGrew are now in camp with the exception of Al Simmons and Max Bishop, who are still at Hot Springs. Neither is a holdout and both are expected here almost any day.

Bishop has been recovering from an encounter with poison ivy. Simmons has been taking treatments for his legs, which can't be very bad, as he is reported to be playing 18 holes of golf. I don't think Connie is in any hurry to have Simmons report. The Athletics have 21 exhibition games scheduled and Mack doesn't want his outfield star to use up in these contests any energy he will need after the season starts.

Barring accidents, the Athletics are practically sure to start the race with the same team which won the championship last season. They probably will carry nine pitchers. The regular four will doubtless be Grove, Walberg, Shores and Earnshaw, with Ehmke, Quinn and Rommell used as needed.

LIKELY.

Mahaffey and Mahon would appear to be the most likely candidates for the vacant places, although Alfred Jones, from the Martinsburg club, might beat one of them out.

Snider is only 18, although he pitched in nine games for Portland last year, and Liebhardt, who has a sprained ankle, is only 19, so it looks as if these youngsters might be sent somewhere for seasoning. Mahaffey is of the iron man type. He pitched 358 innings for Portland.

The three catchers to be carried undoubtedly will be Cochrane, the best receiver in baseball; Perkins, and the veteran Wallie Schang. Mattox is a good young prospect, but it would be better for him to be where he could get experience than with a club where he probably wouldn't get into half a dozen games.

Aside from Foxx, Bishop, Boley, Dykes and Eddie Collins, who works under a player contract, Connie probably will retain at least three young infielders. One of them is sure to be Donald Eric McNair, the 20-year-old Mississippian purchased from Memphis, which club had sent him on option to Knoxville. Connie is very sweet on this youngster, proclaiming him a great prospect.

Illinois Carnival Draws Best Stars

CHAMPION, Ill., March 5.—The Simpsons, the Berlingers, the Martins—the finest collection of athletes from almost every outstanding university, college and high school in the middle west—will march upon the University of Illinois March 15 for the thirteenth annual indoor relay carnival of the Illini. More than 800 contestants for 80 institutions will be entered.

Barney Berlinger, of Pennsylvania, last year's champion in the all-around, and Everett Utterback, of Pittsburgh, are a pair from the east who will compete in that event against the cream of the Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Little Nineteen, Midwest conferences and other squads.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lowel bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Jacobs' Drug Stores and druggists everywhere, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. Don't delay. Try HEM-ROID today.—(adv.)

ROOKIES SHOW MUCH PROMISE IN SPRING WORK

Joe McCarthy Likes Performances of 3 Young Pitchers.

By George Kirksey.

United News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UN)—Many promising youngsters are attracting the attention of major league managers in the spring training camps.

Three young pitchers have caught the eye of Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs, who thinks he has found excellent prospects in Lynn Nelson, who won 15 and lost 6 for the Kansas City American association club last season; Malcolm Moss, a southpaw from the Louisville American association club, and Louis Warneke, a 6-foot 1 1-2-inch right-hander from the Alexandria (La.) Cotton States league club.

The Philadelphia Athletics have a pair of outstanding recruits in Pitcher Leroy Mahaffey, who once had a trial with Pittsburgh, and Dibrell Williams, a 20-year-old unknown from the Little Rock Southern league club, who has distinguished himself around second base.

FAMILIAR.

A young star with a familiar name, Joe Vance, an outfielder from Devine, Texas, has made his appearance with the Brooklyn Robins at Clearwater. In a practice game against the regulars Vance made four hits off Johnny Morrison, Clise Dudley and Cy Moore.

With Dick Bartell a holdout, Pittsburgh is not worrying as long as Ben Sankey from the Selma Southeastern league club and Charley Engle from the Memphis Southern league club continue to scintillate around shortstop. Sankey looks like a real find. He is a ball hawk, has a sure pair of hands and a lightning-like throw.

Two of the New York Yankees' recruits, Allen (Dusty) Cooke and Ben Chapman, from the St. Paul American association club, promise to win regular berths. Manager Bob Shawkey already has selected Chapman to start the exhibition game schedule at third base, and Cooke continues to lead other candidates for the left field berth as a result of his hard hitting.

BEST-LOOKING.

The best-looking young player discovered by the Boston Red Sox is Frank Milliken, a Boston boy who was at Bates college when Bill Carrigan, former manager, discovered him. He is built along the lines of Eddie Cicotte, former White Sox star, and has a fast ball and change of pace.

BASEBALL NOTES

Two Reds Missing.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 5.—(UN) The arrival of Outfielder Bob Meusel and Catcher Johnny Gooch today left First Baseman George Kelly and Outfielder Earl Webb as the only missing players as the Cincinnati Reds went through their third day's practice. It has been too cold and the wind has been too high for the players to do any hard training.

Killefer Worried.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 5.—(UN)—Seven absentees from the St. Louis Browns' camp have Manager Bill Killefer a trifle worried. The missing players are Heinie Manush, Ralph Kress, Sam Gray, George Blaeholder, Earl McNeely, Eddie Grimes and Fred Bennett. Twenty-two players are in camp.

Brave Yans Win.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5.—(UN)—Crowded stands and bleachers saw the Boston Braves stage the first practice game of the season today, when the recruits, captained by George Sisler, beat the veterans, in charge of Hank Gowdy, in a seven-inning game, 9 to 4. Walter Berger and Sisler did the heaviest hitting.

Another practice game is booked tomorrow and from the result of this contest the team to face the Yankees on Saturday will be selected.

Red Rollings will displace Freddie McGuire at second temporarily and Berger, the California outfield star, will begin Saturday's game at third.

Dark Horse.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 5.—(UN)—Joel Hunt, a 24-year-old recruit, is regarded as a dark horse among the Cardinals' candidates for the third base job in spring training here.

Manager Gabby Street announced today he probably would give the youngster a chance to play against the Athletics at Miami Saturday or Sunday.

Hunt, purchased from the Houston club last fall, has been so impressive, Street switched Eddie Delker from third base to shortstop during the day's workout.

A's Split Up.

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 5.—(UN)—The Athletics were split into two squads today, the veterans practicing in the morning and the rookies in the afternoon. The recruits lined up with a flashy infield, Cramer on first; Williams, from Little Rock, on second; McNair, of Knoxville, at short, and Tarr, of Des Moines, on third. Mahaffey and Bill Dietrich looked to be best of rookie flingers.

Robin Hurlers in Camp.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 5.—(UN)—Ray Moss, Adolfo Luque, Jim Faulkner and Arthur McKay reported at the Robins training camp today, completing the team's hurling squad.

Moss has not signed his contract, but is expected to agree on terms in a day or two. The only members of the team missing now are Babe Herman and Eddie Moore.

In this afternoon's game between regulars and yanigans the regulars were defeated, 13 to 11. Fay Phelps, rookie righthander, pitched three hitless innings for the regulars. Mickey Finn, New York boy, drove in the winning tallies with a two-bagger.

Rained Out Again.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 5.—(UN)—For the third successive day rain halted a workout in the Pittsburgh Pirate training camp today. Roy Frazier, lefthanded hitting and throwing outfielder, who procured his release from Oakland, has been signed by the Bucs.

RUTH-RUPERT SALARY CONFAB SLATED TONIGHT

Swat King Bags Home Run in Practice With Yankees.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5.—(UN)—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow and a conference with Babe Ruth over his 1930 contract is expected to take place tomorrow night or Friday.

Ruth drove a long home run into right center in today's practice. Manager Bob Shawkey announced the following lineups for tomorrow's practice game:

NEW TONIC RESTORED GRAY HAIR TO YOUTHFUL BEAUTY

Hair Was Falling Out And Full Of Dandruff, Also Very Gray On Top Worried Her.

I'M REAL BOOSTER FOR LEA'S TONIC

"One of my friends more than a year and a half ago noticed the trouble I was having with my hair and started me using Lea's Hair Tonic, and I gladly send my photo and praise of Lea's, for it is no a dye, yet restores the hair to its natural youthful beauty," declares the lady whose picture is on the right, Mrs. Elizabeth Naineissy, 221 Grant St., Perth Amboy, N. J.

"When I started using Lea's my hair was constantly combing out in handfuls and full of dandruff. My hair on top of my head was all gray and did not match the rest at all. Today, thanks to Lea's, my hair is its natural color and was freed of all dandruff, and not only stopped falling out, but I constantly find new and vigorous hair growing, thicker and thicker," continued this delighted user in Perth Amboy.

Any woman with bobbed or long hair can as easily use Lea's Hair Tonic at home. Just a few drops massaged into the scalp with finger tips each night for a few weeks gets the blood tingling, scalp full of new vitality as it were, and then gradually, perhaps, as slowly day by day as it turned gray, you begin noticing it coming back, shade by shade, to one of the three thousand shades most becoming to your style and beauty. Once the hair is again its proper shade, as of old, it stays that way and only an occasional application each week or ten days seems necessary to keep nature up on her toes, growing thick, strong, lustrous hair, no matter how old one may be. Truly marvelous, maybe, but no bother, and you can defy experts to detect this home treatment. If druggist hasn't Lea's Hair Tonic yet and won't order from his jobber for you, just send dollar bill, check or money order to Lea Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md., and they pay postage. If dissatisfied after sixty days, money refunded without quibble or question.—(adv.)

PEERLESS TIRES

Built by the World's Largest Producer of Rubber and Guaranteed for Life!

Never before were so many non-skid miles built into a tire selling at these low prices. And never in our entire business career have we experienced such enthusiasm on the part of buyers over a tire in this price class.

First—The Peerless, despite its low price, is built of extra durable, Web Cord construction.

Second—It's built by the world's largest producer of rubber by exclusive strength-giving processes.

Third—Its extra-thick tread, sturdy side walls and narrow road grip afford greater driving ease, better all-round performance and handsomer appearance. If you are looking for the biggest tire value for your money, don't fail to see these Peerless Tires.

LOVING CUP IS GIVEN TO MRS. H. M. NICHOLES

A loving cup and the title of "A Good Soldier" were presented to Mrs. H. M. Nicholes, chairman of the forget-me-not drive in Atlanta for the past few years, by disabled ex-service men of the Betty Harrison Jones chapter at a banquet given by them in Taft hall of the auditorium Wednesday night.

The cup was presented by the members of the Disabled Veterans' organization in commemoration of ten years of service devoted to their interests by Mrs. Nicholes. There were 500 persons present Wednesday night. Among the speakers were Vivian D. Corbley, national adjutant; C. B. McCullar, of Milledgeville, state commander, and W. L. Shaddix, chairman of the membership drive. O'Glen Ray presided.

A loving cup also was presented to Howard Glenn in behalf of the post's bugle corps which made a fine showing at the national convention in Detroit last June.

The objective of the meeting was to start a membership drive, and 66 new members were enrolled. A decision was made at Wednesday's gathering to sponsor ex-service men of the disabled class for official positions in state and county, and especially Fulton county.

'Yankee' Is Classic Of Literary Humor

In "A Connecticut Yankee," by Mark Twain, this week's attraction at the Erlanger theater, where it will be shown nightly at 8:30, with matinee Saturday at 2:30, there is offered a great literary classic, adapted and furnished with musical comedy trimmings by Fields, Rodgers and Hart.

Mark Twain never wrote anything funnier than "A Connecticut Yankee," or anything more representative of the spirit of America. It is the challenge of the new world to the old. The ungentle laws and customs touched upon in this tale are historical and the episodes which are used to illustrate them are historical. It was presented at the Vanderbilt theater, New York, in November, 1927, for the first time, under the direction of Lew Fields and Lyle D. Andrews, and ran uninterruptedly in that theater to capacity audiences for a solid year.

The title role is interpreted by Richard Lane, one of America's foremost musical comedy entertainers, and Mary Adams is the leading lady. Assisting them in the presentation are Nana Bryant, Paul Everton, George E. Mack, Starke Patterson, Helen Gates, Francelia Waterbury, Gordon Burby, Bert Saunders, and a large singing and dancing chorus. Seats for the remaining performances of the week may be had at the Erlanger box office and at Phillips & Crew Piano Company.

'Western' Thriller Revived in Fox Film

Stuttering six shooters, drawn flashily fom the hip, and bounding bronchos have staged a comeback as "the reason for doing it" on the screen.

Which may or may not draw you to the Fox theater next week to see "The Lone Star Ranger." As a western, however, the "Ranger" is one of the best. Virile (a favorite word in this connection) men battle across the ranges; Sue Carroll supplies beauty as—believe it or not—a mure young city girl out to see the sights; the scenery of the canyon country is at its best, and the story is by Zane Grey, a master of the lore of the last frontier.

George O'Brien, a handsome young Adonis if there be such a man among those who cavort for the cinecmra, looks and acts like a hero. His father, shot in the back by a cheap gambler, George out-draws the killer, shots him to death, and takes to the hills, an outlaw.

Sweet Sue Carroll, on her way to her uncle's ranch, is an interested party in a stage coach holdup. George dashes madly to the rescue, drives off the bandits, and the story is under way.

At the end, of course, George receives the hero's reward.

Warren Hymer, the "Bowery Kid," takes a good share of the honors with a fine portrayal of an outlaw gunman.

—HERB CLARK.

Two Meetings Held In Commission Race

Candidates for the Fulton county commission Wednesday night appealed for votes at a rally held at the English Avenue school, in the fifth ward, and at Puckett Hall, Howell Mill road.

All six of those seeking nomination or renomination in the primary to be held March 19 were present or were represented at the English avenue meeting.

Those in the race are Walter C. Hendrix, Dr. W. L. Gilbert and Paul Etheridge, incumbents, and Dr. Dan Griffith, Nelson Spratt and Alex Whittle, composing an anti-administration ticket.

The Howell Mill road gathering was in the interest of incumbents.

All candidates have been invited to speak at a gathering of the Adair Park Civic Association at 7:45 o'clock tonight, while anti-administration candidates will appear at a meeting in their behalf at Slaton school, Grant street and Georgia avenue, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Sale To Open Today For Erlanger Plays

The sale of seats, both for single performances and for the season of the Erlanger Theater Players, will start this morning at the Erlanger theater box office and at Phillips & Crew Piano Company. Rehearsals of the sterling company of players, who will make their initial bow to local theatergoers on Monday night next, are progressing rapidly, and to the entire satisfaction of Director Harry E. McKee, who promises an exceptionally delightful performance of that most successful and merry of comedies, "Let Us Be Gay." The list of artists on the roster of the Erlanger Players, in addition to Helen Louise Lewis, leading lady, and Butler Hixon, leading man, includes such well-known performers as Carolina West, Roy Elkins, Arthur Jacobson, Herbert DeGuerre, Marjorie King, Melba Palmer, Frank Joyner and Robert M. Hicks. Scenically, a production is promised of the very highest order.

"Let Us Be Gay" will be followed the second week with that hilarious farce, "Little Accident." "Bachelor Father" and the sensational success, "Brothers," have also been secured.

Child Badly Burned Dressing for School

Katherine McGinnis, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McGinnis, of 34 DeFoor avenue, was seriously burned about the legs and body Wednesday morning when her nightgown ignited from an open grate as she was dressing for school.

Life of the child probably was saved by the prompt action of her mother in smothering the blaze with a heavy blanket. Mrs. McGinnis suffered burns on one hand in extinguishing the fire.

FULTON INDU

THE SON OF TARZAN No: 88

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

From the shadows of a tent Meriem and Baynes each gave a gasp of horror. They had come at the very moment the elephant rescued Korak. Quickly it had all happened and now bedlam reigned throughout the village. Men, women and children ran helter skelter for safety. Curs fled, yelping. The horses, camels and donkeys, terrorized at the trumpeting of the pachyderm, kicked and pulled at their tethers. A dozen or more broke loose.

The galloping horses gave Meriem an idea. Motioning Baynes to follow she led him to the far end of the village. Here she knew were kept always ready for use a few of the camp's fleetest steeds. Luck was with them, for they flung themselves into the saddles without hindrance. The shortest path to freedom led straight through the center of the village and this Meriem took, Baynes close behind her, their horses running at full speed.

So sudden and impetuous was their dash for escape that it carried them half-way across the village before the surprised inhabitants were aware of what was happening. Then an Arab recognized them and with a cry of alarm, fired his rifle. The shot was a signal for a volley. Amid the rattle of musketry Meriem and Baynes leaped their flying mounts through the breach in the palisade and were gone up the well-worn trail toward the north...

And Korak! Tantor carried him deep into the jungle. When no sound came from the distant village the elephant lead his burden gently down. Korak struggled to free himself from his bonds, but even his giant strength was unable to move the strands of hard-knotted cord. While he lay there, working and resting by turns, the elephant stood guard above him. Dawn came and still Korak was no nearer freedom than before. Was he to die of thirst and hunger?

Leading Texans Here To Attend Coca-Cola Meet

"Nothing too good can be said about this state and we feel sure that we are speaking for all others attending the National Coca-Cola Bottlers' business conference here," said Henry McGrede, president of the Texas Bottling Works Association, and Charles F. Ashcroft, when seen at the Biltmore hotel Wednesday night.

Mr. Ashcroft is a Texas capitalist and president of the Sulphur Springs state bank, while Mr. McGrede, in addition to heading the bottling association, is mayor of Sulphur Springs. They are two of the fourteen hundred men attending the conference here, and they reflect the feelings of the others at the reception given them.

The conference opened with a business meeting at Yaarab Temple Wednesday morning, a trip through the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Company during the afternoon, and a theater party at the Erlanger Wednesday night. Both Mr. Ashcroft and Mr. McGrede were high in their praise of the local plant.

Harrison Jones will be the principal speaker this afternoon at the regular session followed by a special meeting of the "Six-box." Tonight the annual party and dinner will be held at the Piedmont Driving Club by courtesy of the Atlanta Coca-Cola Company. The conference will be brought to a close Friday afternoon after a talk by Charles V. Rainwater.

Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Sir:
I am thoroughly satisfied with my Farmall. It does well, everything you claim for it, and I consider it thoroughly capable of taking the place of the horsepower on the farm.
I have had absolutely no use for my horses in my crop this year and will dispose of what I have another year.
I have been running my Farmall about a year with no expense for repairs and intend to buy another one next year to cultivate my entire place.
Yours very truly,

BUSINESS IN SOUTH SOUND, SAYS ECKER

Frederick H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, believes that the south is fundamentally sound and that steady improvement has been noted in an industrial and agricultural way, he stated at the Atlanta Biltmore Wednesday.

He said that from the viewpoint of an insurance company, which is a barometer of business, that there is a decided flow of capital into the south, especially along the lines of hydro-electric and railroad projects. He believes that the south is a safe field for mortgage and other investments, and stated that he had rather invest money here than in any other section of the country.

Assisted by several other Metropolitan officials, Mr. Ecker conducted a conference at the Atlanta Biltmore Wednesday which was attended by nearly 400 managers and agents from all sections of Georgia. He is making a tour of agencies and is accompanied by LeRoy Lincoln, vice president and general manager; E. F. S. Fisk, second vice president, and Reginald R. Lawrence, superintendent of agencies.

Anti-'Loan Shark' Body Flays Atlanta City Clerk

Work Has Been Hampered by "Carelessness" of Walter Taylor, Says Committee.

Specific charges that the city clerk of Atlanta has been so "careless and indifferent" in complying with ordinances requiring complete records and bonds for all "salary buyers" as to make it impossible to obtain accurate information regarding these concerns are contained in the report of the Legal Aid and Anti-Loan Shark committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce made public here Wednesday.

Listing the difficulties under which the "loan shark fight" has been carried on here is pointed out that the laws of Georgia and city ordinances require the city clerk to maintain records of addresses, ownership, stockholders and other information regarding salary buyers, together with adequate bonds to secure compliance with the various regulations.

"We find that only a few companies are complying with this law," the report states, "that a great many of them are not bonded and such bonds as have been tendered in a few instances are generally worthless and signed by irresponsible persons engaged themselves in the business of buying salaries."

Court Fight Planned.

Relief from the "official inaction" is to be sought by asking the courts for a writ of mandamus "as personal appeals seem to have been fruitless," the report sets out. "Until this condition is remedied, we cannot know just who it is that is backing both the legitimate and the illegitimate business of discounting wage accounts and the amount of capital invested," it states.

The fight of the Atlanta Junior Chamber against the so-called "loan sharks" in Atlanta, said to be national headquarters for all loan shark business, has been carried on for the past five years and at the last national junior chamber convention was responsible for the award to the Atlanta organization of the cup for the most outstanding civic service.

During this five-year period, the report states, the local "loan shark" business has been reduced from 100 offices to about 35 offices; the outstanding accounts reduced from 60,000 in number to approximately 10,000, and the amount of loans outstanding from more than $1,000,000 to $300,000, which amount, it is estimated, is now outstanding at 240 per cent a year.

The commitee considers that it has been successful in practically eliminating the "endorser type" and now intends to direct its attention to the second class, the "salary buyer," who is not operating in a legal manner.

500 Clients Represented.

More than 500 clients are being represented in nearly 370 cases by the office of Major J. R. L. Boyd, attorney for the committee and chairman of the national Junior Chamber committee on this subject. R. J. Reynolds, Jr., is chairman of the local committee.

In continuing their fight for the coming year, it is planned to enlist the co-operation of the larger firms in the city whose employes have been victimized in the past and are still being "bled," as well as the assistance of legitimate small loan companies who have been thrown under a cloud by the operations of illegal concerns.

As an example of one "loan shark" victim, Mr. Reynolds cited the instance of a negro railroad employe who in the course of 15 years had paid out nearly $3,000 in interest and renewals without being able to reduce his loans, totaling $85, by one penny.

Aviation Body To Discuss Airport Fire Hazard Today

Proposal To Buy Chemical Equipment To Be Kept on Field Is Made; Blevins To Rebuild.

A move to supply Candler field with fire-fighting equipment, a need which became more apparent following the blaze of Tuesday night in which $140,000 in equipment, including a hangar and airplanes, was destroyed, will be instituted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at a meeting of the aviation committee of city council, it was announced Wednesday night by Chairman T. M. Smith.

A proposal that the city purchase chemical apparatus and mount it on a truck, making it immediately available in case of fire at the airport, will be discussed at the meeting of the committee today, Chairman Smith stating Wednesday that he heartily indorsed the plan.

"Atlanta should provide adequate facilities to prevent a recurrence of Tuesday's conflagration," Mr. Smith declared. "As things are now, there is absolutely no protection at the airport against fire. This city has fought for the south's greatest and best equipped field and it is nearing that goal rapidly, but this matter of fire protection has never before been brought to the attention of the aviation committee with such force.

"Not only is it unfair to leaseholders at the field to fail to furnish protection in this respect, but it places in jeopardy many hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of equipment. It is dangerous to life as well as property.

"I shall ask the committee to move to provide these facilities and feel sure that every member of that body will support the proposal as far as is humanly possible."

Equipment Inexpensive.

It was learned Wednesday night that fire-fighting equipment which would prevent the recurrence of Tuesday night's disastrous blaze could be secured by the city for a comparatively small sum of money.

Chief John Terrell, of the Atlanta fire department, stated that he believed the city could buy the necessary tanks of chemicals for approximately $400 or $500 and that these could be mounted on a small truck and kept constantly in readiness for any emergency which might arise. "Two sixty-gallon or 100-gallon tanks should prevent damaging fires at the airport, if those who stay at the field at night remain constantly on the alert and get the equipment to the blaze soon after it begins," Chief Terrell said.

Lack of water makes the fire hazard but little greater, it was pointed out Wednesday, inasmuch as water is practically useless when used against gasoline fires. The field is served only by one two-inch pipe, running from College Park.

Rebuilding Planned.

In the meantime, while workmen at the field were busy Wednesday clearing away the remains of 21 airplanes and the Blevins big hangar which were reduced to a blackened mass of wreckage by the fire of Tuesday night, plans were set afoot by Mr. Blevins and his associates to replace the hangar and equipment as quickly as possible.

The fire Tuesday, considered to be the most disastrous in aviation history in this section of the country, proved to be a spectacular display of pyrotechnics to hundreds of nearby residents attracted to the flying field by the brilliant flares that lit the night sky. Due to the assemblage of high inflammable materials made up of the airplane structures themselves and the supplies of oil and gasoline the fire raged forth with a fury that could not be checked by efforts of any of the Candler field workers or the hundreds of spectators.

The blaze was discovered by W. H. Scott and J. W. Thompson, night watchman of the Southern Air Transport hangar, and Kermitt Alverson, mail dispatcher for Eastern Air Transport, whose early efforts to rescue some of the property had to be abandoned due to the quick spread of the flames.

Machinery was put in motion Wednesday for an investigation of the disastrous blaze by the United States Department of Commerce, bureau of aeronautics, and the city of Atlanta, operators of the municipal airport.

Officers Ready To Prevent Red Parade in City

On the eve of the proposed march today by communists of Atlanta from their meeting place at 158 1-2 Auburn avenue to the city hall to present a list of grievances, Chief of Police James L. Beavers stated Wednesday that no such parade would be permitted unless a permit was granted.

At the office of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, it was stated that no permission had been granted for the proposed demonstration today. Officers have been instructed to inform the communists of this fact and if they insist on parading to disperse them.

Patrolmen of Decatur street reported to headquarters that what they believed was a meeting of communists had been held Wednesday night at 422 Decatur street, on the first floor. It was attended by negroes and whites, the majority of the latter apparently foreigners. What occurred at the meeting was not learned.

Captain A. J. Holcombe and Lieutenant Orville Jones investigated a meeting at 158 1-2 Auburn avenue, where the communists had been meeting, but learned from two of those present that the plasterers' union had been in session Wednesday instead of communists.

One of them stated that he was on the way to the police station with a resolution adopted by the plasterers and cement finishers at their meeting in Rucker's hall. This resolution was to be presented to the chief and to the mayor.

In the resolution it was stated that the union deplored the fact that communists had been using the hall to meet in, and said that the plasterers wanted to go on record as stating that they had no connection with the communistic movement in any way and that they were heartily against all red principles. The plasterers do not own the hall but merely rent for their weekly meetings, it was pointed out.
